LIGHTNING SETS BAY OIL FIELD ABLAZE

Bolt Hits Oakland City Hall

PASSENGERS ESCAPE AS CARS STRUCK

Here are the outstanding features of the electrical storm which swept over this section early today:

Two oil tanks at San Pablo Tank Farm of Standard Oil Company struck and set afire. They are still burning and the loss is estimated at about $500,000.

Two street cars struck in Oakland, one at Eighth and Broadway and one at Thirty-eighth and San Pablo.

Oakland city hall struck by lightning and fuses blown out of motors in basement and on fifteenth floor.

County Registrar of Voters Jo Wagner, and Michael Foley, proprietor of a billiard parlor, enveloped by a sheet of flame when lightning struck a power pole at Twenty-eighth and San Pablo.

Several houses set afire and Battalion Fire Chief C. J. Thaler narrowly escaped injury in an auto accident while responding to one of the many alarms that were turned in.

One residence in Alameda set on fire.

A bolt struck near the Campanile on the U. C. campus. The police signal system in Berkeley was temporarily put out of commission when a pole was struck at McKee and Addison streets. Telephone and telegraph wires were also torn down and there were several fires. Total damage in Berkeley is estimated at about $20,000.

At Richmond the P. G. & E. substation was considerably damaged by fire.

Congregational church and one residence at Benicia were struck, as was a residence in Vallejo.

Chemical fire engine and one residence struck at San Anselmo.

Granifields near Woodland damaged by fire.

Oakland and the rest of the Bay district were subjected to an electrical bombardment that was suggestive of an attack by a flotilla of bombing planes. This freak storm, which threw the people of this section into a flurry of excitement because the condition is so unusual for this region, came in the face of weather forecast promising fair conditions for the day.

High tension wires were thrown down, several houses set afire, two street cars were struck and the populace was drenched by a sudden downpour of rain.

The thunderbolt barrage followed a similar, though milder, electrical storm early yesterday, the first thunderstorm that had occurred here in August in many years.

No one was reported injured today, although several persons narrowly escaped death.

LIGHTNING BOLT RUNS THROUGH CITY HALL.

The Oakland City Hall was struck, the bolt hitting the top of the flag pole and passing through the steel structure of the building into the engine room in the basement, burning out the fuses of three motors. The fuse was also blown out of the motor on the fifteenth floor that operates the fan used for ventilating the prison. The electricity passed down the prison elevator shaft struck an insulator and went straight into the ground. Several telephones at the City Hall and in other parts of the city were reported out of order.

A one-man street car operated by C. A. Keller, 4748 Telegraph avenue, was struck at Eighth and Broadway. Keller reported that a lightning bolt seemed to strike the street and the car at the same time, passing into the car, burning out the controller box and otherwise damaging the car. Keller was not injured.

Another bolt, which struck a house at Thirty-eighth and San Pablo, struck a Richmond car at the same time, tore loose the trolley pole and burnt out the fuses. The car was full of passengers on their way to Oakland. R. G. Huestis was motorman on the car and E. C. Moore was the conductor.

Shingles were hurled into the street from the roof of the damaged house.

BERKELEY'S LOSS FIXED AT $20,000

Poles and Wires Down, Police Signal System Cut Off; Many Escapes.

BERKELEY, Aug. 28.—Lightning caused more than $20,000 damage here today, during a storm which left telephone piles and wires down in all parts of the city, put temporarily out of commission the police department's signal system and threatened several casualties.

Street car traffic was demoralized for a while after the storm as a result of the blowing out of transformers, and of fuses on the cars as a result of the thunder storm.

Two linemen—R. R. Brown, 890 Isabella street, Oakland, and O. M. Olsen, 340 Twenty-ninth street, Oakland—narrolwly escaped death when lightning struck a telephone pole on which they had been working only a few minutes earlier. The men were standing near the pole at the time, but were uninjured. The near-accident occurred at Grove and Center streets.

The Southern Pacific company's loop service was suspended for a considerable time this morning as a result of the striking of its wires at University avenue and Ninth street.

The fire department was called out by Mrs. E. E. Moore, manager of the Fuschia apartments at 2520 Le Conte street, in the belief that lightning had struck the apartments. It was found that high tension wires in the vicinity had been struck instead.

A bolt of lightning which struck a pole at McKee and Addison streets put the police signal system in all parts of the city out of commission until the damage could be repaired.

Golf Champion of West Loses Title

CHICAGO, Aug. 28 (By The Associated Press).—Mrs. Dave Gaut of Memphis, Tenn., defending champion, lost her match today in the first round of the women's western golf championship at Exmoor country club, finishing 2 down and 1 to play to Virginia Wilson of the Inwentsia club, Chicago, a hitherto undefeated player.

Florence Halloran of Salt Lake City defeated Mrs. C. C. Russell of Milwaukee, two up.

Mrs. John Worley of Los Angeles, defeated Ernestine Pearce, Chicago, 3 and 2.

Mrs. S. L. Renhardt, of Dallas, defeated Mrs. Eleanor Harwood, Chicago, 5 and 4.

100 TANKS PERILED BY FIERCE FIRE

Two large tanks of crude naptha in the Standard Oil company's San Pablo tank farm, between San Pablo and Pinole, were struck by lightning today and are still in flames, while nearly a thousand men are working frantically in intense heat to build an embankment build an embankment that will check the expected overflow of burning oil. The damage is estimated at half a million dollars.

There are in all 100 tanks in the farm. Each contains from 55,000 to 65,000 barrels of oil.

The first bolt of lightning struck at 9:23 a. m., and the second at 9:45. The roofs of both tanks were torn off by the force of the bolts, and this prevented a gas explosion.

FIELD HOSPITAL ON GROUND FOR EMERGENCIES.

Employees of the Giant Powder works were thefirst to see the fire and started throwing a high embankment of earth around the tanks to prevent the flaming oil from spreading.

A field hospital has been established and preparations have been made to handle whatever emergency may arise. Experience with similar fires in the past has shown that the oil burns fiercely for about eight hours after which it begins to boil over the edge of the tank. The workmen hope to have a high enough embankment completed by evening so the flaming oil will be prevented from spreading to the other thanks.

One of the burning tanks contained 65,000 barrels of oil and the other 55,000 barrels.

P. G. E. SUBSTATION AT RICHMOND DAMAGED.

RICHMOND, Aug. 28.—A local substation belonging to the Pacific Gas and Electric company was considerably damaged by fire today during the heavy electrical storm, which seemed to center here. A high-power line was struck by lightning putting the station temporarily out of commission. The power lines were tied up for about four hours. The exact extent of the damage to the station has not been determined.

WIDESPREAD DAMAGE CAUSED IN BENICIA.

BENICIA, Aug. 28.—Lightning caused damage in three widely separated parts of this town during the violent thunder storm that raged throughout the greater part of last night and until late this morning. About 1:30 this morning the Congregational church was struck and the steeple shattered, but without collapsing. Fire was started in the church but it was extinguished by the rain.

Shortly afterwards lightning struck the home of Walter Wassman, five or six blocks from the church. Here also fire was started and resulted in calling out the fire department when it was soon brought under control.

Still later lightning struck the building of the Kulman-Salz Tannery company and disabled the transformer, putting the plant out of commission temporarily.

CHICAGO, Aug. 28.—(International News Service.)—Ten men held up three guards in the Waken and McLaughlin bonded warehouse early today and escaped with forty-five barrels of whisky valued at $150,000.

The bandits piloted two motor trucks, into which they loaded their loot. Several cases of liquor, as well as the barrel goods, were taken. Seven barrels which were rolled down from the second floor were abandoned in front of the entrance, as there was no room for them aboard the trucks.

The ten raiders leveled guns at two private watchmen and a government agent with the threat to kill them if they spread an alarm.

FOUR WORLD AIR RECORDS BROKEN

Smith and Richter Expect to Keep Up Non-stop Flight Until 6:30.

SAN DIEGO, Cal., Aug. 28.—(By United Press.)—Every record for speed up to and including 4000 kilometers had been shattered today by Captain Lowell H. Smith and Lieutenant John P. Richter as the airmen entered the 83rd lap at 10 a. m.

Indication of the sweeping victory of the airmen was shown in the record they made for 4000 kilometers. They covered the distance in 28 hours, 6 minutes and 48 seconds, clipping seven hours off the best previous record.

Every distance speed record from now on will be a new world's record, and at 5:09 this afternoon, if the aviators are still in the air, they will break the Kelly and MacReady endurance record of 36 hours, 5 minutes and 30 seconds, established in the Dayton, Ohio, San Diego non-stop flight this summer.

In answer to a message from Major Henry H. Arnold, commander of Rockwell Field, asking if the fliers intended to remain in the air all night tonight, Captain Smith replied:

"'Rick' and I are going to land about 6:30 p. m. if we can stay up that long. Will have broken records then (Kelly-MacReady distance and duration marks). The motor has worried us lots. Don't send us much food."

SAN DIEGO, Aug. 28.—With the mechanism of their airplane apparently functioning perfectly and with three world records for speed having already been shattered, Captain Lowell H. Smith and Lieutenant John P. Richter, U. S. A. airmen, gave today every indication of hanging up several more marks before the end of the epoch making flight begun early yesterday. The 2500 kilometers record was the first to be broken, beating the former record by more than one hour. It was just 10:37 o'clock last night when Smith and Richter completed their fiftieth lap for a total distance of 2500 kilometers.

At 2:15 o'clock this morning the second world record was smashed. This was for 3,000 kilometers, the time record for this distance being 21 hours and 11 minutes. The former speed record for this distance was held by Lieutenants Oakley Kelly and John A. MacReady and was 26 hours, 1 minute and 32 seconds.

Soon after daylight this morning Smith and Richter set up a new world record for 3500 kilometers, which they covered in 24 hours, 37 minutes and 8 seconds. This mark was reached at 5:41 o'clock this morning.

SPEED MORE THAN 88 MILES AN HOUR.

At 8 o'clock this morning flight officials announced that Smith and Richter had completed their seventy-sixth lap, and had maintained an average speed since 5:04 o'clock yesterday of slightly more than 88 miles an hour.

Refueling of the record-making airplane was successfully done shortly before 5:30 this morning when Lieutenants Virgil Hines and Frank Seifert, flying above the Smith-Richter plane, lowered nearly 100 gallons of gasoline and a fresh supply of oil. Breakfast was served the record-breaking aviators promptly at 7 o'clock this

JEALOUSY LEADS TO 2 KILLINGS

DENVER, Aug. 28.—Mrs. Roy McGlone, shot to death late yesterday with her chum, Miss Emma Vascovic, in the McGlone apartment, lived in constant fear of her life and two attempts recently had been made to kill her, her husband, Roy McGlone, a Denver athletic instructor, declared today on his return from a mountain resort he was visiting when the two women were slain.

BY ASSOCIATED PRESS
LEASED WIRE TO TRIBUNE.

DENVER, Colo., Aug. 28.—Police combed the Italian section of Denver today, in search of a man named "Joe" Briendisse, alias Brindisi, in the belief that he could throw light on the slaying of Mrs. Roy McGlone, 28, wife of a Denver athletic instructor, and Miss Emma Vascovic, 19, a hotel employee, who were found shot to death—each with a bullet in her right temple—early last night. The bodies were discovered in the bedroom of Mrs. McGlone's apartment. Brindisi is reported to have been friendly with Mrs. McGlone before her marriage.

The object of the search, according to police, was not to be found in his usual haunts.

Efforts to find an open motive for the double slyang were as fruitless as the search for "Joe."

The bodies of the two women were fund on the floor of the bedroom by neighbors, Mrs. Henry T. Burtscher and Mrs. Laura Jones, who notified the police. A 32-caliber automatic pistol lay between the bodies when police arrived, and two empty cartridges were found within a few inches of the weapon.

A blood stained note, scrawled in an unsteady, masculine hand and found on a dressing table in the death chamber, caused police to discount the first theory of murder and suicide.

The note, almost untintelligible, read:

"I kill him because I thought too much of him. I want him to go me where I go. Good by I am happing now.

"She not to. "L."

On another dressing table was found a glass half-filled with a brown fluid. An analysis of the fluid is being made.

DOWNTOWN SITE HITS HIGH MARK

Northeast Corner of Fifteenth and Clay Streets Sold for $275,000.

Another high mark in downtown property values was reached today in the announcement of the sale of the northeast corner of Fifteenth and Clay streets for $275,000 or approximately $2750 a front foot. Mrs. Lena Shafrans and the estate of S. Livingston were the owners. The United Retail Stores corporation, a branch of the United Cigar Stores company, is the purchaser.

The deal was consummated through S. A. Weinstock, brother of Mrs. Strafran, and local broker, who has been responsible for several important deals recently in the business district.

The sale is declared to be one of the largest recent realty deals in Oakland.

The new owners are contemplating the erection of a substantial building. Wrecking of the present structure, which is occupied by Strafran's Cloak and Suit House, will mark the passing of still another of the early landmarks in the heart of the city.

The property involved has a frontage of 103 feet, 9 inches on Clay street, with a depth of 60 feet on Fifteenth street. It is pointed out that, with the opening of Pedestrian way connecting Broadway, San Pablo avenue and Clay street, new avenues of approach are opened up in this neighborhood.

Beauty Attends at Sickbed

YAMAMOTO MADE JAPAN'S PREMIER

Admiral Who Headed Cabinet in 1913 Again Selected By Genro.

By CLARENCE DUBOSE.
United Press Staff Correspondent.

TOKYO, Aug. 28.—Count Gombei Yamamoto has been selected premier of Japan succeeding Baron Kato, according to an official announcement.

The selection of ex-Premier Yamamoto came as a surprise, for it had seemed certain that Viscount Uchida, minister of foreign affairs in the Kato cabinet, would be the choice of the group. Admiral Saito, governor of Korea, also had been talked of for the post.

The announcement that Yamamoto had been chosen came as something of a bombshell to the backers of Uchida, who is believed by his adherents to have been deliberately ditched by the genro.

Yamamoto became premier in 1913, forming a government succeeding the third Katsura ministry. The naval scandal of that year involved his cabinet, however, and it fell in 1914. Since that time a more or less private position in Japanese affairs has been his portion.

Yamamoto has held an important position in Japanese naval affairs and served as minister of that department in the Japanese cabinet from 1898 to 1906. He visited the United States and England in the suite of Prince Fushimi in 1907. He was created a full admiral in 1904 but now is retired.

An impressive funeral service early this afternoon marked the passing of Baron Tomosaburo Kato, the deceased premier, who was buried with full naval honors. There was no public procession.

ACTOR KIRKWOOD PASSES CRISIS

Victim of Accident Will Live, Doctors Decide After Consultation.

LOS ANGELES, Aug. 28.—(International News Service.)—After a conference lasting most of the night, physicians attending James Kirkwood, film actor, who was rendered unconscious Saturday when he was thrown fro ma horse, stated today the actor would live, as the crisis has apparently passed, though it will be some time before his full recovery.

Kirkwood was conscious at momentary periods today and this, his doctors said, was promising. However, they stated he was too ill to be removed from his apartment at the Beverly Hills hotel to a hospital.

The actor is suffering from an orbital fracture of the skull and concussion of the brain.

Lila Lee, film actress, to whom Kirkwood was recently married, has given up her studio work for the time being and is constantly at the bedside of her husband. Kirkwood recently returned from Jacksonville, Fla., where he had been "on location" in making a picture.

Cosgrave, Cabinet Members Elected

DUBLIN, Aug. 28.—(By The Associated Press.)—President William T. Cosgrave has been elected on the first preference vote from Kilkenny. The president's brother, Philip, was elected from South Dublin and General Richard Mulcahy, minister for defense, and Kevin E. O'Higgins, minister for home affairs, both of the present cabinet, were also returned from Dublin. C. N. Byrne, government candidate from Wicklow, also was elected.

REPARATIONS HELD JUST BY BELGIUM

BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.
LEASED WIRE TO TRIBUNE.

PARIS, Aug. 28.—The Belgian government in its reply to the last British reparations note stands with France on the principal points of contention, maintaining that the legality of the Ruhr occupation has been established by the previous action of the allies, including Great Britain, and that evacuation of the Ruhr valley is impossible on simple promise of Germany.

The reply, given out at the Belgian embassy here this morning, dwells particularly upon the justice of Belgium's claim to priority in reparations payments. It points out that thus far Belgium has received only two million gold marks more than Great Britain.

REPARATION ISSUES BOUND TOGETHER.

Foreign Minister Jaspar asserts that "the whole problem of reparations and the question of interallied debts are definitely bound together," and he proposes a new method of procedure in the negotiations, suggesting conversations among the allies, "without reverting to the old system of conferences."

M. Jaspar remarks that if a reduction in Germany's debt is necessary the balance she is obliged to pay ought to apply to material damages only. This might be understood as menacing the elimination of pensions from the allied claims on Germany, thus reducing the British share to an infinitesimal percentage.

REVISED PERCENTAGES SUGGESTED BY JASPAR.

M. Jaspar lays down the principle that if the German debt is reduced the percentages of the allied shares must be revised. He contends that the balance due from Germany must apply only to material damage done by her during the war, that is, the destruction of property in Belgium and France, shipping losses at sea and damages from air raids in England.

The note agrees that the negotiations thus far show that Germany's debt can be considerably reduced.

In conclusion, the Belgian foreign minister declares that so long as the securities of the countries which suffered from invasion is not assured, there can be neither a real and endurable peace nor a reduction in armament.

The Ruhr regime, the note says, is what the Germans have required it to be by their violence and resistance. It was intended to be an economic operation and a simple seizure of the pledges which the allies had a right to take under the treaty of Versailles. If the military feature of the occupation has been necessarily extended, the note continues, the Germans alone are responsible. The occupation will be modified whenever the German people abandon their present attitude.

FRENCH TAKE OVER GERMAN COAL MINE.

PORTMUND, Aug. 28.—(By Associated Press.)—The occupation authorities today began to mine coal themselves for the first time since the occupation began last January.

French forces took over the five shafts of the Victor mine, near this city, yesterday and delivered the ultimatum to the miners that either they continue at work for the occupiers or the mine would be completely taken over by the French for exploitation.

The ultimatum expired at noon today when the bulk of the German personnel decided not to continue, and 200 French miners took over all the emergency work.

BOLT HITS CITY HALL, CARS AND SEVERAL HOMES

short distance away. Both houses were set afire.

SEVERAL ELECTRIC LIGHT POLES SET ON FIRE.

Several electric light poles were set on fire. One of these was at Thirty-sixth and Telegraph and the other at Twenty-second and San Pablo.

Jo Wagner, county registrar of voters, and Michael Foley, proprietor of a billiard parlor near Twenty-second and and San Pablo, narrowly escaped death when the pole at Twenty-second and San Pablo was struck.

Wagner and Foley have been in the habit of meeting at the base of this pole every morning for a talk while Wagner waited for his car. This morning they moved across the sidewalk and were standing in the shelter of the building when the bolt struck. The lightning travelled down the pole and across the sidewalk, enveloping the two men in flames. The bolt passed between Wagner's feet. The two men's lives were saved through the fact that the pole was thoroughly grounded.

FIRE CHIEF'S CAR IN CRASH ON WAY TO FIRE.

While responding to a fire alarm, an automobile occupied by Battalion Fire Chief C. J. Thayer and driven by George Authensen, skidded on the wet pavement at Thirtieth and Broadway and crashed into another machine while going at a rate of 30 miles an hour. A fender of the fire department machine was crumpled up by the impact, but the car sped on to the fire. The name of the occupant of the other car was not learned.

A house at Fourteenth and Grove and another in Alameda were struck and caught fire.

At Second and Jefferson streets several transformers were struck and fell to the sidewalk.

High power electric light wires at Second and Castro were thrown down.

A cypress tree 90 feet tall, standing on East Twenty-ninth street between Twenty-first and Twenty-second avenues, Oakland, was struck and split from top to base. Splinters of wood and pieces of branches and bark were scattered around in the street for a considerabel radius.

ALAMEDA HOUSE FIRED AS BOLT HITS RADIO.

The Alameda fire brigade was called dout to the residence of Mr. and Mrs. J. C. Green, 1115 Pacific avenue. Here the lightning had struck a wireless apparatus, had run to the back of the house, where it smashed eight windows and scorched the wall. However, no serious damage was done. Mrs. Green was alone in the house when the lightning struck.

Freak occurrences, in which lightning played its part, were reported from various other points in Alameda. A "ball of fire" was noticed overhead one of the street cars, and the passengers got out until the electricity had dispersed. High voltage wires were also temporarily put out of condition.

RICHMOND HAS WORST STORM IN HISTORY.

Reports from Richmond stated that the heaviest storm in the history of that place occurred last night. There were intermittent flashes of lightning all night long. At no time was there a longer interval than 15 minutes between the flashes, which illuminated the whole sky.

People at the Municipal Wharf and along the bay shore reported that the Golden Gate was like a mass of fire.

Arrivals in Richmond from San Anselmo reported that the first bolt that struck that town hit the San Anselmo fire engine and that another one struck in a grove of redwoods surrounding one of the residences.

Word was received from Vallejo that lightning struck the home of Claire A. Hunter at 1038 Capitol avenue.

A small aperture was made in the roof of the Hunter home and the occupants of the house were startled, but escaped injury.

Lightning Cures Miner of Smoking

MIAMI, Ariz., Aug. 28 (United Press).—A stroke of lightning cured George Knox, a miner, of the tobacco habit. The bolt scarred his right side and tore off his right shoe. Though a confirmed smoker for 35 years, he told friends upon his release from hispital today that he now has no taste for tobacco.

Pinchot Given Mines' Maximum In Conference

Governor Confers at Length With Operators in Effort to Avert Strike.

NEW YORK, Aug. 28.—(By Associated Press.)—Governors and governors' representatives of the Anthracite consuming states, conferring here today, adopted a resolution submitted by Governor Cox of Massachusetts pledging fullest co-operation with Federal Fuel Administrator Wadleigh in his efforts to supply the country with fuel in the event of the threatened suspension of Anthracite coal mining September 1.

By PAUL R. MALLON,
United Press Staff Crresphdent.

HARRISBURG, Pa., Aug. 28. — Anthracite coal operators today gave Governor Pinchot, peacemaker in the strike prevention negotiations, a statement of the maximum they would concede in a new working contract with the miners.

The operators placed their entire case before the governor in a three-hour conference in the executive chamber at the capitol.

As evidence that matters were nearing the point of direct bargaining, Pinchot announced after the meeting that he would meet both parties in brief separate conferences this afternoon.

AIR RECORDS ARE SHATTERED ON NON-STOP FLIGHT

morning, when Captain Robert G. Irvin and G. C. McNeil went aloft with a basket of hot food which they lowered to Smith and Richter by a long rope. At 7:49:20 the official timers clocked the plane of Smith and Richter as it passed their stations. According to unofficial figures the fliers have traveled 2305 miles over the fifty kilometer course. The distance covered by Kelly and MacReady at Dayton, Ohio, last April was 2541.04 miles in 36:04:40 for an approximate speed average of 50 miles an hour.

FUEL TAKEN ON IN NICK OF TIME.

At 7 o'clock more gas was given them. The flight was almost ended when the gravity tank of the receiving plane emptied before the gas from the plane overhead had started to flow and the engine began to sputter. The plane, with motor missing, started toward the landing field, and when the altitude had been decreased to 100 feet and the flight evidently almost ended, the precious liquid rached its destination and began flowing to the powerful Liberty engine, which at once began to purr as though satisfied.

The plane, after re-fueling, soared to an altitude of 500 feet and headed south. The time taken for the last lap totaled the distance at 3800 kilometers and gave an average speed for the entire flight (at this time) of 88 miles an hour. Later Smith and Richter dropped a note on Rockwell field stating that at the time Ilines and Seifert passed them the gasoline they were practically out of fuel, and were on their way to the field for the purpose of making a landing.

The 90 gallons passed to them shortly before 7:40, they said, was sufficient to last them until 11 a. m. The engine of the plane was performing perfectly, according to the note dropped by Smith and Richter.

Child Is Killed, Second Injured, Result of Falls

Bessie Markle, 6, Takes Fatal Plunge While Attempting Acrobatic Act.

BERKELEY, Aug. 28.—One child is dead and another is in a serious condition at the Berkeley General hospital as the result of falls last night and this morning from second story windows.

Bessie Markle, 6 years old, residing with her grandmother, Mrs. Minnie Markle, 2003 Vine street, attempted to show her playmates in the yard below her how to do an acrobatic stunt shortly before 7 o'clock last night. She perched on a window box. Losing her balance, she plunged to the pavement. The child was rushed to the Berkeley General hospital, where she died from a basal fracture of the skull.

Leaning from the window of his home at 2015 Bancroft Way, this morning to get a better view of the electrical storm which was raging, Douglas Walker, 5 years old, fell 30 feet. Neighbors rushed him to the Berkeley General hospital, where he was found to be suffering from concussion of the brain and a possible fractured skull.

Harry A. Markle, father of the victim of last night's accident, arrived this morning from Colfax, where he has been serving as superintendent of highway construction. The girl's mother is dead and she had been making her home in Berkeley with her grandmother.

MARY BAKER'S JILTED SUITOR GETS ENGAGED

Allister McCormick to Wed London Girl Is Paris Announcement.

BY ASSOCIATED PRESS LEASED WIRE TO TRIBUNE.

CHICAGO, Aug. 28.—Allister McCormick, whose engagement to Miss Joan Stevens of London was reported in Paris today, is expected to sail for home tomorrow with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. L. Hamilton McCormick, according to a recent cablegram received at the McCormick home, it was learned here today. There is nothing known here regarding the Paris report.

Allister, whose engagement and expected marriage to Miss Mary Landon Baker, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Alfred L. Baker of Chicago, ended at the Fourth Presbyterian church nearly two years ago with the wedding guests assembled, has been abroad for more than a year. Miss Baker was reported ill on the day set for the wedding and failed to go to the church, producing a sensation without parallel in Chicago in many years.

The marriage was postponed several times and eventually both McCormick and Miss Baker took extended trips abroad. Upon her return from Europe last winter she said she was no longer engaged to McCormick.

Miss Baker, at her father's Lake Forest estate today, declared she never had heard of Miss Stevens, and intimated that she had no wish to meet her or to congratulate her former fiancee.

"I never heard of Miss Stevens," said Miss Baker.

The reports that McCormick had tired of waiting for Miss Baker to change her mind again and that he had become engaged to the English girl were dismissed by Miss Baker with the remark: "Whatever he says is all right."

Officer Shoots at Fleeing Bootlegger

One shot was fired last night by Policeman E. F. Murphy at a bootlegger, who ran out of a soft drink parlor at 1534 Campbell street and broke a bottle of jackass whisky in the street. The dry squad" had raided the place and arrested Jake Firpo on a charge of violating the dry law. While the officers were searching behind the bar a man ran out the front door with a bottle in his hand. He broke the bottle on the streets. Murphy ran out the door and fired one shot in the air.

Woman Asks $39,550 For Broken Neck

That Mrs. Elsie Wickman received a broken neck which she is still unable to move and that her husband, F. Wickman sustained numerous injuries in an automobile collision at Eleventh and Oak streets on May 20, last, is claimed by them in a suit for $39,550 damages filed against Harry H. Young and Carl E. Wilding, occupants of the other machine.

Mrs. Wickman claims she had her neck in a cast for ten weeks and that now she is unable to move it and suffers excruciating pain. Wickman asks $1500 for injuries he sustained; $1800 for his automobile which was wrecked, he claims; $200 for a fur coat that was ruined, and $950 for medical and hospital fees. The defendants are held responsible for the accident.

NEW CLAIMANT FOR BELL MONEY COMES ON SCENE

S. F. Woman, Saying She Is Repudiated Daughter, Goes Into Court.

SAN FRANCISCO, Aug. 28.—Declaring herself to be another of the repudiated children of the eccentric Mrs. Theresa Bell, now deceased, Miss Viola Smith, 1341 Ellis street, today joined the ranks of claimants for the Bell millions.

Miss Smith, who is also known as Miss Bell, is a music teacher. She has been crippled since childhood.

Miss Smith is the fifth person to attempt to break the will of the late Mrs. Bell, on the ground that she is a child of the woman who, in her will, declared that she had no children.

The four others have all had their claims allowed by the court. They are Mrs. Muriel Bell Hoster Mrs. Robina Bell Hessell, Thomas Frederick Bell and Reginald Bell.

The Bell estate is estimated at $2,000,000.

Miss Smith has filed petition in the Superior court, through her attorney, Leo J. McEnerney, for partial distribution of the estate.

Mutual Health Law Conference Called

At the request of city health authorities, Commissioner Frank Colbourn is calling a meeting of the health and food inspection officials of the bay cities to be held on Thursday or Friday for the discussion of mutual health laws, including the subjects of food handlers and communicable diseases and the ultimate framing of a uniform law for the cities involved.

Representatives of women's clubs, restaurant associations and labor unions may be invited, it is said.

Food Inspector Harry Smith asserts that his department is still working on the proposed ordinance for the inspection of restaurants to eliminate workers who have communicable diseases, but it is admitted that such a law must be carefully framed and only after many discussions with food officials and workmen.

Leigh Hunt, dead more than 60 years, has a poem in the London Mercury that its editor says is published for the first time.

COLLEGE SHEIK FLED WITH COIN, SAYS BRIDE-TO-BE

LOS ANGELES, Aug. 28.—How Mark H. Davis, the "college sheik" arrested in Oakland, left her while she was waiting at a hotel here to be married and disappeared after obtaining $2700 of her money, was related by Miss Mary Probst, high school teacher, to Deputy District Attorneys Ryan and Jordan.

"We had already obtained the license and were to be married at noon," said Miss Probst. "He had painted a glowing picture of the wedding and of our future. I waited, but he did not appear, neither did his sisters, nor the minister."

Miss Probst said she decided after careful consideration to telll the district attorney her story.

"I have known Mr. Davis since we were children," she related, "and while he was at Harvard and I was at the University of Oklahoma we corresponded. After graduation I took up teaching and during the past five years managed to save the $2700 which I gave him.

"We ceased corresponding for a time and then I received the letter from him in which he declared that no matter where I was he would come to me. When he arrived last June he told me of the eventful life he had led in Mexico, Central and South America and on the battlefields in Europe. I was greatly thrilled by his eventful life. Then he proposed and later borrowed the money from me on the assertion that he had to pay it to blackmailers."

When traced to Oakland and arrested, Davis admitted borrowing sums from Miss Probst which totaled about $3000, but denied any intention to disappear, claiming he had gone there to look up business opportunities.

GERMANS WORRY OVER HOP CROP

WURZBRUG, Germany, Aug. 28.—(By the United Press).—Beer drinkers are watching the German hop crop anxiously. If the production this year is not great the price of beer probably will sail even higher than has been predicted by the brewers. An increase of 350 per cent in paper mark prices is scheduled for the near future, and still more may be expected, as the efforts of the government to peg the exchange rate of the mark do not seem to be meeting with any permanent success.

Prospects are excellent now for a good hop crop in the Franconian district, but rain during the harvesting season may injure the hops this year, as it did last, when the output was discolored and impaired in quality.

New Shows Need of Law For Air Routes

WASHINGTON, Aug. 28.—Postmaster General New has authorized Carl Egge, general superintendent of the air mail service, to take up with the American Bar association, during its annual meeting in Minneapolis this week, the necessity for the adoption of a basic law for the control of air routes.

The postmaster general explained that, although he had no specific recommendation, he wished to call attention to the immediate need for laws prescribing the qualifications of pilots, the condition of ships and rules for aerial navigation and perhaps the protection of aerial routes.

Fraud Charged By U. S. in Complaints

KANSAS CITY, Mo., Aug. 28.—With the arrest here yesterday of W. R. Skipper, head of the Oklahoma Engineering Company, government agents revealed a program for terminating what they allege to be a land fraud scheme involving nearly $1,000,000. Persons in all parts of the United States have been defrauded, according to postal authorities, by the Oklahoma company's contract, which they characterized as misleading.

Besides Skipper, four agents of the company were named in a complaint. J. W. Gillespie, H. C. McNabb, A. H. Champlin, P. B. Camp and H. C. Evans were the agents named.

In the complaint filed in district court, Skipper and the agents are charged with using the mails to defraud. The complaint alleges that agents of the company represented to prospective purchasers that the land which the agents wished to sell was sought by large oil interests.

I. W. W.'s Will Strike For Chicken Feasts

ASTORIA, Ore., Aug. 28.—It was learned here today that September 5 has been set for the date for the next loggers' strike to be staged in camps of Clatsop county by the I. W. W. Little alarm is felt by operators, as they say the loggers are paying little heed to the agitators. The demand now being urged includes the "release of all war prisoners" and that chicken dinners be served at least twice each week at all camp mess houses.

The present agitation for limiting college enrollment is caused by the college revenues not keeping pace with the increase of students.

Rain Brings Brush Fire Under Control

HEALDSBURG, Aug. 28.—A brush and timber fire which began Friday yesterday swept over an area half a mile wide up Black Mountain, in the Mill Creek section west of here, after having burned over 3000 acres, mostly in the brush. Rain yesterday aided fire fighters who had been combatting the blaze since Saturday night, and it is now reported to be fairly under control. Ranchers of the section believe the fire to be of incendiary origin.

Invalid Sues Wife For Maintenance

LOS ANGELES, August 28.—Charles Scranton, alleging he is an invalid, has brought suit against his wife, Mary F. Scranton, asking separate maintenance. He asserts she has a position at a good salary in a bank and therefore is able to support him. He states they were married March 17, 1920, and lived together until May 19, last, when, he charges, she induced him to transfer to her his interest in community property which yields $50 a month and "drove him out of their home," telling him she was weary of having him around and of supporting him. He went home to his parents, who have been supporting him since, he adds.

RICHMOND'S FIRE CHIEF UP BEFORE COUNCIL TONIGHT

Lemoin's Conduct of Office Said to Be Slated For Thorough Probing.

RICHMOND, Aug. 28.—The administration of Fire Chief Roy Lemoin is slated for investigation at a special meeting of the city council tonight when a petition asking that he be removed is to be considered, according to several city officials, who have participated in three lively rounds in previous meetings.

The petition that has been circulated against Lemoin is based on the alleged effort of Lemoin to have Howard Yater, his assistant, removed, and an assistant that will work in conjunction with him appointed.

At the meeting of August 6, a motion was made to withdraw Chief Lemoin while the charges were pending, but the motion was not seconded, and was not put to vote. Its introduction was the center of a bitter storm, in which Will Robensen, attorney for the petitioners against Lemoin urged the council to unseat the chief until his hearing.

T. H. DeLap, deputy district attorney, represents Chief Lemoin. The hearing tonight will be held at city hall and the doors will be open to the public. Chief Lemoin has refused to resign, and says that he is willing to stand upon his record. He has demanded a public hearing, being unwilling to have his case considered behind closed doors.

Bergdoll Certain Money Found in Maryland Was His

WASHINGTON, Aug. 28.—The "Bergdoll gold," unearthed near Hagerstown, Md., will be claimed by the United States government, which on May 27, 1921, seized all the property of the Philadelphia draft evader, it was learned today at the office of the alien property custodian.

EBERBACH, Aug. 28.—(By International News Service.)—"I am certain that the gold discovered in the hills near Hagerstown, Md., is part of the money I buried there before leaving the United States," said Grover Cleveland Bergdoll, wealthy American draft dodger, today. He continued:

"I could not describe just where I secreted my money but I could go to the place. It was in the mountainous region around Hagerstown. I planted more than $1000 there."

HAGERSTOWN, Md., Aug. 28.—Circumstances surrounding the reported finding last week by Lee Houser, a laborer, of a tin box containing, according to Houser, $10,000 in gold and about $100000 in bills, has become enveloped in a cloud of mystery.

Saturday, for the first time in his life, it was said, Houser was away from home a full 24 hours. Today he was not on his job and could not be located.

Members of the man's family today denied absolutely that any money had been found by him, and Miss Esther Houser, a sister of Lee, declared the whole story a hoax framed by her brother, a practical joker.

Legion Head Visits French President

RAMBOUILLET, Aug. 28 (By the Associated Press).—The American Legion delegation, headed by Colonel Alvin M. Owsley, national commander, left here late yesterday, after being received by President and Mme. Millerand, and resumed their pilgrimage to Brussels, where they will attend the conference of the Inter-allied Veterans' Federation.

The conversation between President Millerand and Colonel Owsley turned to the visit the Legionnaires are to pay to the Ruhr under the auspices of the French government. This was the only near-political subject discussed.

Say you saw it in The TRIBUNE.

ST. LOUIS, Mo., Aug. 28.—Word that eight or ten of the postoffice department's airplanes and pilots would be entered in a special race for mail pilots at the international air races here, October 1 to 3, was received last night by the St. Louis air board in a telegram from J. W. Sutherin, acting general superintendent of the air mail division of the postoffice department.

PERALTA DONS INITIATE THEIR LARGEST CLASS

Sacramento "Whiskerinos" Are Guests of Honor at Ceremonies.

An edge of the lid of Obapsela blew off last night and some of the wild west activities of Los Peones spilled out of the municipal auditorium into the streets of the cities. The auditorium arena had been chartered for the initiation of the Dons of Peralta, but it proved to be too small to contain both Los Peones and the Sacramento "Whiskerinos," who were guests of honor, so the festivities continued out in the open.

Los Peones centered their activities about Fourteenth street and Broadway and, aside from an open and overt demonstration of gun and knife play, created no great disturbance. But when the "Whiskerinos," following in the wake of Los Peones, gave vent to their "whisker yell" Los Peones broke and ran back to the auditorium and behaved themselves for the rest of the evening.

BIG CLASS INITIATED.

Between the visitors from Sacramento and Martinez, and the candidates from the seven cities of Obapesla, the largest class ever initiated by the Dons took the oath of allegiance of the Prince Regent, Dr. George C. Pardee, at the services.

The Sacramento delegation was headed by Joe Herspring, "Chief Whimskerino," and the Martinez business men were under the direction of C. A. Ricks.

Talks for the good of Obapesla and the coming festival were made by Don Max Horwinski, president of the order, Herspring, Ricks and George Cummings, who has charge of the arrangements for La Fiesta de la Laguna.

A demonstration was staged by the 100 Per Cent club of Oakland in celebration of the club's 100 per cent membership in the Dons of Peralta.

In connection with the celebration to be held during the week of September 24 a number of male voices are needed to complete the chorus of 1000 voices, according to Miss Zannette Potter, choragus.

REHEARSALS TO BE HELD.

Any singer in the Eastbay cities who desires to belong to the chorus which is to open the week of celebration with a concert in the Auditorium theater, are requested to telephone Miss Potter at Lakeside 6700, or to attend the chorus rehearsals which are held in the various cities every week. Following is a schedule of rehearsals:

OAKLAND—Y. M. C. A. auditorium, Monday nights, 8:30 o'clock, Walter Bundy director; 1741 Broadway, upstairs, Monday nights, 7:30 o'clock, Miss Zannette W. Potter, director; Chabot hall, Thursday afternoons, 4 o'clock, Glenn H. Woods, director.

ALAMEDA—John Porter school, Tuesday nights, 8 o'clock, Roy C. Brown, director.

BERKELEY — 2168 Shattuck avenue, Thursday nights, 8 o'clock, Edgar Thorpe, director.

MELROSE—High Street Presbyterian church, 8:30 o'clock, Mrs. Minna Carter, director.

SAN LEANDRO—Lincoln school, Friday nights, 8:30 o'clock, Herbert P. Mee, director.

Whiskerinos Visit Dons

FARMERS CAUGHT BETWEEN TRUSTS, OFFICIAL STATES

Must Buy or Sell at Prices Maintained by Combines, Strobridge Says.

Farmers are a hard-working class, who have to contend with combinations every time they buy or sell, but receive knocks from every side if they attempt to combine, declared Edward K. Strobridge, Alameda county sealer of weights and measures, in address-financial condition, declaring they only worked three months a year and relied upon one crop.

"That statement is a gross libel upon the farmers," declared Strobridge. "As a rancher, I am in a position to know, and say that they work twelve months a year and work hard. The old homestead is usually mortgaged, not because the farmer is too lazy to work, but because every time he wants to buy he has to pay prices maintained by a combine, and every time he wants to sell his crops he has to accept prices offered by another combine. But if the farmer tries to combine so as to receive adequate compensation for his labor, there is a terrible cry of profiteering goes up all over the country."

"If the California Development Association is carrying on an advertising campaign to promote the interests of the state," continued Strobridge, "let them persuade the public to consume more fresh and dried fruits. The per capita consumption of fruit in California is only 2 per cent. Less than one can of pears and three cans of apricotes per capita per year is consumed in the United States. People would be healthier and the farmers more prosperous if more fruit was eaten."

A Don of Peralta who fails to eat Spanish onions is as good as dead, according to the idea of a humorous stunt that was put on by Group 5 of the club of which C. C. Griffin is chairman. The skit was entitled "The one-five thousandth Don." This Don was considered good as dead because his wife had refused to let him eat panish onions. In a humorous parady on Hamlet's soliliquay, this Don decides to eat Spanish onions and be a real Don of Peralta in spite of wifely wrath.

FAMOUS ACTRESS WILL SPEAK AT PRESS LUNCHEON

Ethel Barrymore First to Appear on Club's Thursday Programs.

Ethel Barrymore, world famous stage figure, known as "the first lady of the theater," will deliver an address before the Press Club of Oakland at the luncheon on Thursday, it was announced today.

This marks the opening of an interesting series of luncheon meetings by the Press Club, which will hear talks and entertainment by the leading men and women who visit the bay cities. The luncheons will be held on Thursday of each week.

Miss Barrymore, who is appearing at the Oakland Orpheum this week in "The Twelve Pound Look," will make an impromptu talk, the nature of which she has not divulged. This will be her only public appearance in Oakland outside of her Orpheum engagement.

The great actress will talk following the luncheon, and, before her address, the club members will be entertained by another Orpheum player, Duci De Kerekjarto, who has proved one of the big hits of the Orpheum bill this week with his violin playing.

The luncheon will be for the benefit of all members of the club, both active and associate, and the same policy will apply to future Thursday gatherings. The club serves a daily luncheon as well as dinner at the club headquarters at Seventeenth and Broadway, but the Thursday luncheons are designed to provide entertainment and a message of interest. It is the aim, according to the board of governors, to have at these Thursday meetings some of the most interesting men and women of the country and the world who happen to be visiting in the bay cities. Journalists of world fame, travelers, publicists, actors and actresses, artists and others who have achieved distinction in their own line of work will be guests of the club. Special plans are under way for a series of evening entertainments as well.

ASSASSINATION BROUGHT SHORT SKIRTS TO SOFIA

SOFIA (By mail to the United Press).—"Stambouliski's dead, now let's get some real shoes," was what Bulgarian society women said in effect when the peasant premier met an untimely end.

The connection between a peasant statesman and high heels may not be apparent, but Bulgarian women had long groaned under Stambouliski's dress regulations. The sturdy old peasant could see no excuse for high heels, and among other things, he ordained that women must wear shoes with flat heels. Dresses were also ordered to be worn long, and the police were authorized to check dress lengths by actual measurement if necessary.

The women raged, solo and chorus, but Stambouliski's orders had to be obeyed. Immediately on the news of his overthrow and death, fashionable Sofia rushed the stores and indulged in an orgy of Louis Quinze heels, short skirts and similar frivolities. So great was the demand that Sofia storekeepers were unable to meet it.

The new revolutionary government has not yet ventured to interfere with the height of heels or length of dresses.

Frick School Work Ordered By Board

The board of education last night authorized the business manager to take steps toward repairing the sidewalks in front of Frick school, which the Foothill Community Development association alleged were in deplorable condition.

Director Fred Campbell said he is not against school children parading at the Dons of Peralta celebration September 26, but questioned the advisability of the date, and moved that it be referred to a committee. He asserted that his stand had been misconstrued by the Dons of Peralta.

PHOENIX, Ariz., Aug. 28.—Governor George W. P. County Proposes New Health Body

RICHMOND, Aug. 28.—Contra Costa county may have a modern health department, following the outlines of the new law establishing them, where the county can afford a minimum of $20,000 annually, as the outcome of a conference yesterday held between County Supervisor Zebb Knott and Dr. C. R. Blake, county health officer.

Supervisor Knott called Dr. Blake's attention to the new law, and informed the doctor that the subject is to be threshed out at the coming meeting of the League of Municipalities, and that if it is practicable it may be installed for Contra Costa county.

BRUTAL MURDER OF CHILD WIFE IS INSIDE JOB, CLAIM

Letters Signed "Jack" May Give Clews in Killing of Young Woman.

COLORADO SPRINGS, Colo., Aug. 28.—Reading of four of the five letters signed "Jack," which were found under a pillow in the bedroom of Mrs. Elsie Suttle, found slain here Thursday morning, and the startling declaration of Mrs. Minnie Jorgenson, mother of the dead girl, that the crime was "an inside job," featured the coroner's inquest yesterday.

Mrs. Suttle, child-wife of R. H. Suttle, Jr., was found dying on her bed Thursday morning. Her head had been beaten with a blunt instrument, the nightdress in which she was attired was torn and there were finger marks on her neck.

Police and officers from the district attorney's office in their search for the author of the "Jack" letters, arrested Jacinto Fernandez of Denver. No one was able to identify him as ever having been seen around the Suttle home, and he has been released.

The coroner's jury found that Mrs. Suttle had come to her death through wounds inflicted on her head "with felonious intent by a heavy object in the hands of person or persons unknown to this jury."

"That girl was killed on the inside of that house," Elsie's mother exclaimed dramatically, when testifying at the inquest. "I am going to tell the whole jury that it was an inside job." Then she sank back, near collapse, and murmured: "Oh, the brute!"

Poorly written, ungrammatical and scrawled on rough paper, the four "Jack" letters are said by officials of the district attorney's office to narrow considerably the scope of inquiry as to the identity of the sender.

Daylight Movies Explained to Club

The scientific principles and manufacture of a new electric light which gives the effect of daylight to moving pictures, was explained to members of the Electric Club at luncheon yesterday by Claude Baker, Sr., who is connected with a local lamp company. Baker said experiments had shown that a 10-foot candle power lamp was strong enough for all moving picture purposes and that a stronger light only caused a strain upon the eyes of spectators.

The needy children of Oakland will receive the benefit next Christmas of a $25 fund which originally was to be spent in giving a banquet to the group headed by Ben Hill, which won the membership drive. It was decided at the luncheon to place the $25 in the Christmas fund.

Bodies of Drowned Brothers Recovered

COTTAGE GROVE, Ore., Aug. 28.—The fact that their automobile had been left parked in the woods near what is known as the Elks' swimming hole, two miles east of here, led to the finding last night of the bodies of Cash and Clarence Willis, aged 21 and 19 years, sons of C. O. Willis. They left for the swimming hole Saturday evening.

Both bodies were found in about five feet of water and within six feet of each other. It is presumed that one of the boys was taken with cramps and that the other went to his assistance and was dragged down.

Women Prepare To Welcome Mrs. Winter

By EDNA B. KINARD.

When Mrs. Thomas G. Winter, president of the General Federation of Women's Clubs, comes to California late this year she will find an enthusiastic welcome awaiting her. Because California is planning the biennial convention next summer which will bring representatives of 2,000,000 clubwomen to Los Angeles, Mrs. Winter has found it expedient to come to the coast to confer on the plans for the important gathering, to meet those who will be responsible for entertaining the women of the world, and incidentally to make a survey of activities of the movement which she represents in this far west. She has already made announcement that she will visit in each district in California Federation of Women's Clubs during her sojourn on the coast.

Mrs. John C. Urquhart, of Los Angeles, state president, will be the official hostess to Mrs. Winter. With Mrs. Robert J. Burdette, a director of the General Federation and chairman of program for the biennial convention of 1924, she will meet the general president in San Francisco upon her arrival.

Friday, November 9, has been designated for the official visit of Mrs. Winter to Alameda district. Mrs. Elon L. Warner, president, is already launching plans for the notable occasion which will assemble federated clubwomen from Alameda, Contra Costa, San Joaquin, Calaveras and Tuolumne counties in Oakland. While definite arrangements for the day may not yet be announced, it has been outlined that a university meeting will be held in Berkeley, addressed by the woman of more than national reputation, followed by a luncheon at Hotel Oakland, at which Mrs. Winter will be the principal speaker.

The leadership of Mrs. Winter has been acknowledged because of her ability to think straight, her fearlessness and her justice. Bay cities clubwomen had an opportunity to meet her when she first launched her administration as head of the federated clubwomen of America at a luncheon in San Francisco. General satisfaction is being expressed that an entire day will be set apart for the Eastbay on the occasion of her present visit to the coast.

Lapham; girls' auxiliary, Mrs. A. A. Black; courtesy, Mrs. E. M. Tainton; luncheon reservation, Mrs. Charles E. Beane; telephone, Mrs. J. C. McQuilken; emblems, Mrs. E. R. Vincent; name plates, Mrs. E. A. Palmer; cradle roll, Mrs. W. K. Hicks; conservation, Mrs. J. L. Bane; hospitality, Mrs. F. J. Randolph.

"Rush" Party At Lodi for U. C. Freshmen

The Phi Delta Thetas of U. C. staged a "rush" party on Saturday night at the Lodi home of Walter Lindell, a loyal brother who at the critical time of the life of fraternities when desirables are being angled for, turns over his place for a dance. And it is conceded quite generally that the argument is good. It is said to work, particularly as the girls, recruited from about Stockton and Lodi, are bears for pulchritude and charm.

And none of the grads living in the villages is on the invitation list. "Hard on the graybeards, but a great stimulus for the frat," say the hosts.

MISS ELIZABETH PRESTON, a junior at University of California, who has been a frequent hostess during the holiday interregnum. She is a Gamma Phi.

Miss Alma Spreckels won a very distinct place for herself last week at the Stockton Horse Show, entering the most popular classifications.

And though but a school girl, she walked off with a second prize on Domino in a major entry, and with her mount Cloe won honors in representative company.

She is riding again this week with equal success.

Mr. and Mrs. A. B. Spreckels, Dorothy and Adolph went up to see Miss Alma go through her paces. She is a fearless horsewoman, having learned to ride before she was as tall as a table on her father's farm at Napa. Here some of the finest race horses America has produced have been bred—Morvich, for example.

The Robert Bowles Jr. went up last week with the William P. Roths and the Philip E. Bowles.

The strings of horses will go on to the State Fair at Sacramento during the first week in September, when the Horse Show promises to assemble a brilliant audience. About the same entries will be made as at Stockton, plus others whose identity is not being discussed.

Therefore surprises are apt to be sprung.

Returning To Bay Country

Mme. Marguerite Morbio de Mailly is returning to California after a two-year stay in the south of Europe where she was the guest of kinsfolk of her own and of her young son. He will inherit the title borne by his father, the Count Challon de Mailly, a distinguished Frenchman.

She is making her plans to return in October.

The young woman — granddaughter of Adolph Sutro, millionaire civicist and collector of historic manuscripts concerning California—found an outlet for her nervous energy before going abroad by going into the real estate game. Combining social and business life is an accomplished fact by college girls in the last ten years.

Delta Gamma To Return East

Miss Dorothy Brown, house-guest of Mrs. Robert Davies of Piedmont, will return to her university—Nebraska—on the first, to be on hand when college opens.

This visitor has been a frequent guest at the Delta Gamma house in Berkeley, that was like all other chapter houses, geared in high for rush week.

Miss Brown returns next year to finish out part II of her vacation in the West.

"Marionettes" will entertain Adelphian Club women at the inaugural union program of the season on Thursday, September 6, in the Alameda clubhouse. "The singing Master," translated from the Old French and "Dr. Faustus," a comedy will be produced by the manikins under the clever direction of G. Fletcher Clark.

Mrs. John H. Merrill, the newly elected president, will be hostess of the day.

The annual meeting of the Adelphian Building Company has been called for Monday, September 24.

Organization of a research committee will be undertaken at a meting the Public Welfare League which is called for tomorrow at 2 p. m. in the Young Women's Christian Association building. HEARST TO HOUSE POST-ENQUIRER IN NEW HOME

Purchase of Former Telephone Building on Franklin Street Announced.

Charles S. Young, publisher of the Post-Enquirer, announced today, on behalf of William Randolph Hearst, the purchase of the building formerly occupied by the Pacific Telephone and Telegraph Company, at 1751 Franklin street, for the permanent home of that newspaper.

The new home of the Post-Enquirer is a commodious three-story brick structure situated between Seventeenth and Nineteenth streets. It is 50 by 100 feet and located on a lot which is 70 by 150 feet. A 10-foot driveway will be allowed on either side, leaving a space of 50 by 70 feet in the rear. On this parcel of ground will be built an addition, which will accommodate the presses. Foundations will be laid for a three-story structure, according to the announcement. The present plans, however, call only for the erection of a basement and one floor.

Necessary alterations and renovating to make the building ready for occupancy by the Post-Enquirer will be begun at once. New fixtures will be installed. Walls will be tinted throughout. Required wiring and piping for gas, electricity and water connections will be undertaken immediately.

Removal of the advertising, circulating and accounting bureaus fom the present location at Sixteenth street and San Pablo avenue, will be accomplished within the coming six weeks, it is expected. These offices will be located on the ground floor.

Executive offices will be established on the second floor. Editorial rooms, library and files, engraving plant, photographers' quarters, composing rooms and stereotyping quarters will find accommodations on the second and third floors.

An additional press to supplement the present octuple press will be installed in the annex upon its completion.

Henrich E. Ey, 436 Sixtieth street, is pictured as a shiek who is 71 years of age by Mrs. Gisella Ey who today filed suit for divorce after less than five months of married life. WOMAN ACCUSED OF GIVING CHILD POISONED CAKES

Mrs. Laura W. Gamble, Wife of Doctor, Faces Examination As to Her Sanity.

Charged with attempting to poison an 11-year-old boy, Mrs. Laura W. Gamble, wife of Dr. A. W. Gamble, 2248 Thirty-eighth avenue, will be examined as to her sanity by Superior Judge E. C. Robinson tomorow morning.

Mrs. Gamble was taken into custody late last night on a warrant sworn to by Policeman J. M. McCarthy, who charged her with having given his 11-year-old son, J. M. McCarthy Jr., cookies containing strychnine.

Dr. Gamble, husband of the accused woman, is now in the Napa insane asylum, where he was committed in October, 1919.

Policeman McCarthy told Captain of Inspectors Richard V. McSorley that Mrs. Gamble had been suspected of an insane desire to administer poison, and that all the children of the neighborhood had been warned not to accept food from her. On August 16 Mrs. Gamble gave his son a box of cookies, and the boy, following his father's instructions, turned the cookies over to him without eating them. McCarthy gave the cookies to Dr. E. L. Barbera, city chemist, for analysis, and Dr. Barbera reported that they contained a large amount of strychnine.

McCarthy charged Mrs. Gamble with having poisoned a large number of dogs and cats in the neighborhood, including a dog of his own, which was valued at $200.

Following her arrest, Mrs. Gamble was placed in an insane ward of the emergency hospital, pending her hearing tomorrow morning.

Winters Gathering Large Almond Crop

WOODLAND, Aug. 28. — Four hundred tons of almonds, nearly double the crop of last year, will be harvested from the Winters and northern Solano county districts this season, according to R. L. Nelmann of the Winters Dried Fruit company. The crop is not normal for the acreage, but is away ahead of last season when half the crop was destroyed by frost. Shipments will begin before the close of the week. The Esparto district, principal almond section in the Sacramento valley, has not as yet estimated its crop. Much of it is being handled in Winters packing houses this year.

LEGION ENJOYS DAY IN FOREST AMONG REDWOODS

Delegates to Convention at Eureka Entertained By Lumber Men.

EUREKA, Aug. 28 (International News Service).—The second day of the fifth State annual convention of the American Legion here was given over today to entertainment of the Legionnaires, of whom there are approximately 700 in attendance.

The veterans assembled beneath the giant redwoods at Dyreville Flats, on the Eel river, where they are being entertained by the Eureka Chamber of Commerce and the lumber interests of that region. The program includes band concerts and high jinks in one of the world's most famous redwood groves. The day's festivities will be concluded by a barbecue. In the evening, the entertainment consists of boxing and wrestling contests under the direction of the Eureka post of the Legion, followed by a dance and reception of the Legionnaires by the ladies' auxiliary.

Tomorrow morning's program will include reports from the chairmen of various committees, including that of the rehabilitation committee by Chairman A. E. Graupner; James K. Fisk, on "Americanization"; John H. Brennan, on "Legislation"; Captain H. J. Nichols, on "California Veterans' Welfare Board" and Louis T. Grant, on the "United States Veterans' Board of the Twelfth District."

On Wednesday afternoon there will be a championship baseball game and the grand parade of the "Forty and Eight," playground organization of the Legion. United States Senator Samuel Shortridge, speaking at the initial session of the convention, pledged his support for an adjusted compensation bill for former service men. Child labor problems and immigration were also subjects taken up by the Senator. An address of welcome was made by Mayor O. D. Lord of Eureka.

During yesterday's session, the entire membership stood in silence for one minute in tribute to their fallen comrades.

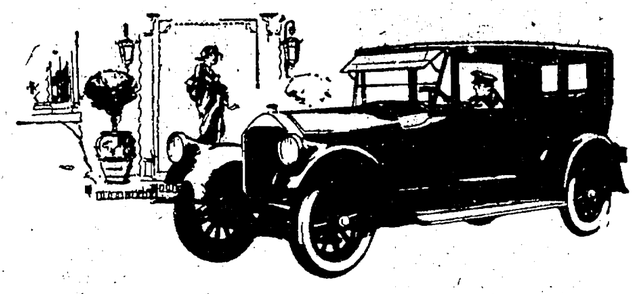
PIERCE



The Pierce-Arrow Enclosed Drive Limousine is undoubtedly the most usable type of car ever created. In no other way can we account for its widespread acceptance during the last two years.

It is a correctly-appointed Limousine, and yet the turn of a handle converts it into a companionable owner-driven seven-passenger Sedan. The full-width glass partition disappears completely so that the rear and front compartments become one.

The six-cylinder engine has far more power than its rating and is flexible almost beyond belief—because of dual valve and dual ignition, exclusive Pierce-Arrow developments.

We are glad to demonstrate this or any other of the twelve beautiful Pierce-Arrow models. A request will bring a courteous driver to your door.

It contains 166 acres of redwoods and other timber on Prairie highway leading from Orick to Crescent City. The grove is about nine miles north of Orick, or about 300 miles north of San Francisco.

ST. LOUIS OWNS RARE ORCHIDS

ST. LOUIS, Aug. 28 (By the Associated Press). — With 5200 plants recently added to its orchid collection, the Missouri Botanical Garden here is said to have the largest collection in America, if not in the world.

G. H. Pring, horticulturist at the garden, who collected the 5200 plants in Colombia and Panama, says that the collection includes a number of Panamanian orchids hitherto unknown to the United States, and a rare albino specimen said to be one of only two plants of its kind known to exist. It is a whitish mauve orchid, and Mr. Pring obtained it in Panama.

The Panama collection is made up of 300 plants, representing 106 varieties, said to be the largest and most diverse number of Panamanian orchids that ever has reached the United States. About seventy-five of the varieties never have been displayed in this country, Mr. Pring asserts.

Fan Tan Gamblers Arrested in Yolo

WOODLAND, Aug. 28.—Sheriff J. W. Monroe and Constable Henry Buckingham made a raid Saturday afternoon on four fan tan gambling joints in the town of Broderick, arresting ten Mongolian game keepers and scattering in all directions between fifty and sixty Mexican, negro and American players and patrons of the dens.

The raid came following a protest from 122 residents of Broderick to District Attorney George T. Kern and Sheriff Monroe. It was claimed that Mongolian gamblers forced out of Sacramento by Chief of Police Barney McShane sought refuge in the Yolo county river town. Monroe found four games running full blast. The places were wrecked, the most of the game keepers arrested and several hundred dollars in coin and complete domino and fan-tan outfits were seized. Monroe stated that he would raid again the minute gaming started anew.

Avoid Motor Oils

containing paraffin, asphalt or any other non-lubricating substance. Aristo Oil is refined by the most advanced processes, designed to remove everything in the crude which has no lubricating value.

Not Flint-like "Carbon"

—which you must chisel out of motors

ALL motor oils deposit some carbonaceous residue, known as "carbon." No oil does otherwise.

But there are two kinds of "carbon." That from some oils attaches to piston heads, spark plugs, and valves. It becomes hard and flint-like. And it stays.

Chisels are required to remove it or acetylene torches to burn it off. It is hard enough to score cylinder walls.

Causes Four Motor Troubles

This hard "carbon" acts as an abrasive, wearing cylinder walls, piston rings, bearings, etc.

Parts of it often become incandescent, causing "knocking" due to pre-ignition.

Other particles become attached to the spark plugs, short-circuiting the spark, so your motor misses.

Still others work up under valves, causing bad seating and loss of compression, which means loss of power.

And this hard "carbon" forms more quickly than another kind about which you should know.

The Other is Soft and Fluffy

The residue that Aristo Motor Oil deposits is of another kind.

It is soft and fluffy so that most of it blows out with the exhaust.

It is softer than your cylinders, pistons and bearings, so cannot scratch or wear them.

Cars run thousands of miles farther without having valves ground or cylinders, pistons and spark plugs cleaned. Your motor retains full compression. It doesn't "knock."

With Aristo Oil motors get efficient lubrication without developing these troubles. They last longer, run more smoothly and give more power.

Aristo is made by lubrication specialists equipped with every known facility for the production of a perfect motor oil. Used by famous drivers in the most gruelling tests.

Try Aristo Oil for three months. Test it under all conditions. Note the improvement in the operation of your motor.

ADVERTISING IS FORCE FOR GOOD, SAYS GALBRAITH

Expert Tells Soroptimists World Better For System of Publicity.

The world today could not exist without advertising and the medium offered in the newspapers, Lew Galbraith, president of the Ad Club, of Oakland, told the women of the Soroptimist Club assembled at the regular weekly luncheon at Hotel Oakland yesterday. Advertising has reached the point today where it is absolutely essential in business, the speaker declared.

"Present day advertising is a tremendous force for good," Galbraith said. "As buyers we believe in newspaper advertising because we have confidence that we will find the quality of goods at the prices which are offered.

"Advertising is twentieth century salesmanship. It involves a knowledge of men and women, what they want and what they need; how to get facts before the public so that the right material reaches the right people."

Galbraith traced the history of advertising from the first attempt more than a thousand years ago to the present day. He showed how manufacturers had followed the example of the retailers in placing their goods before the public through the medium of advertising. The speaker outlined the program of the Better Business Bureau in connection with the National Vigilance Committee, the purpose of which is to promote truth in advertising, to encourage the passage of right laws and to see that they are applied.

An advertising roll call of members preceded the address. Mrs. Helena Gamble directed the unique feature.

A Soroptimist Club song was sung in chorus.

GIRLS FIND EASY WAY TO WAVE HAIR

Use New Liquid Which Gives Straight Hair a Beautiful 7-Day Curl

Many Oakland girls now know that to have beautiful wavy hair is one of the easiest things in the world. All they need do is apply to their hair a few drops of a wonderful new liquid—a liquid which makes even the stubbornest hair fall in soft, silky curls and charmingly natural waves.

Best of all—just one application of this new liquid will give the hair a beautiful, permanent wave effect, keeping it wavy and in curl from 7 to 10 days—often longer. Thus, when a girl uses this new liquid she can forget all about her hair for more than a week. No need to bother curling it every night or every other night.

This new liquid is called Domino Curlette, and those who have used it say that it is simply wonderful. Use the good old-fashioned kid curlers, but before doing so, just moisten the hair with a few drops of Domino Curlette. Not only you, but your friends will be amazed at the wonderful improvement in your appearance.

Get Domino Curlette to-day for just a small price. Money back if you say so. Sold at good druggists and department stores everywhere including the Owl Drug Co.

Women Victors In Fight to Oust Asphalt Nuisance

PITTSBURGH, Aug. 28.—(United Press.)—Most cities are accustomed to offering bonuses and other inducements for factories and the like, but not so with McKeesport, a hustling community near here. McKeesport has just won a long fight, mainly carried on by women, to rid the city of an asphalt plant, which the women claimed blackened their homes, spoiled washings, curtains and carpets and was likely to kill the babies.

The women living in the neighborhood of the asphalt plant appeared befort the McKeesport city council and angrily demanded action, holding in their arms blackened faces of their babies and soiled pieces of washing and household goods.

The city council said "Wait." But the women refused to wait and that night tore up a gas line running into the asphalt plant. The plant got its gas some other way and continued to pour clouds of evil smelling smoke over the city.

Then the city of McKeesport obtained an injunction but the president of the asphalt company could not be found. The city sued employees of the firm and still work continued. Finally the president of the asphalt plant got tired eluding detectives and entered into an agreement whereby the plant is to be moved to a distance some miles from the city's homes.

To make sure, however, the city of McKeesport at the instance of the women placed a guard at the plant and demanded a bond of $2,000.

Killing of Radical Leader Attempted

CHICAGO, Aug. 28.—An attempt to assassinate William Z. Foster, radical leader, and a near panic that resulted among 3000 men and women, were blamed on labor war gunmen by police today.

Three men entered Carmen's Hall, where Foster was addressing a meeting called to protest expulsion of seven members of the Women's Garment Makers' Union, and fired three shots at him. They then escaped down a fire escape.

Mexico Recognition Is Believed Near

WASHINGTON, Aug. 28 (United Press).—Recognition probably will be accorded the Mexican government within a few days, it was learned today on highest authority here.

Reports from Mexico City that an American note had been received there, according recognition was said by the State department to be the result of a "misunderstanding of the situation." Recognition has not yet taken place, it was stated.

COOLIDGE TELLS VALUE OF PRESS AS NATION'S AID

President Says Constructive Criticism Prevents Decay in Institutions.

NEW ORLEANS, Aug. 28.—Undivided allegiance to the constitution and unhesitating obedience to legislative action were urged upon the press of the nation by President Coolidge in a letter to A. D. Newmyer, president of the Southern Newspaper Publishers' Association, made public here today.

The President's letter was in reply to one written by Newmyer, who asked the executive to send him a terse, exclusive message for the southern publishers, broadly answering the question as to how the newspaper could best serve the federal government at this time, as he was personally anxious to have the membership of the association co-operate with the administration in every manner consistent with their individual policies.

The letter to Newmyer, who also is an official of the New Orleans Item, follows:

"My Dear Mr. Newmyer: Your very kind message and the general assurances which it contains of support on the part of the newspapers of your association, has been received. Every newspaper can be very helpful in its support of the government, whether it be state or national. Fundamentally this means always making the authority of the law supreme. It means undivided allegiance to the constitution and unhesitating obedience to legislative action made in accordance with its provisions. Constructive criticism is always helpful. It keeps institutions from becoming fossilized and falling into decay. But constructive criticism does not accomplish its purpose merely by pointing out what is evil. It must not fail to direct attention with more emphasis to what is good. Our institutions, our social organization, our economic condition are all of equality and quantity which are worthy of our highest admiration. I believe that it will be exceedingly helpful to public sentiment if these principles and ideals can be reiterated from time to time, joined with a reverence for religion and an aspiration for better things.

"Very truly yours,
"CALVIN COOLIDGE."

S. F. Woman Scares Burglar From Home

SAN FRANCISCO, Aug. 28.—Hearing a mysterious noise in the middle of the night, Mrs. Frank Giunini, 1560 Greenwich street, went to her front door in time to see a man admitting himself with a pass key. "I beg your pardon," he said, as Mrs. Giunini cried out in surprise. "I must be in the wrong house."

The startled housewife probably would have believed the intruder's explanation had it not been for an electric torch which he carried in his hand. Florist Gives Credit to Veronica

Cincinnati, Ohio. — Scientists have discovered that one of the greatest as well as one of the most painful discomforts—rheumatism—is caused by poisons which arise from foreign matter allowed to accumulate in the system. These poisons seep through to the blood and are carried to various parts of the body. By removing the cause with Veronica Water it has been found that rheumatism is often relieved in a few weeks' time. Some of the most obstinate cases have responded amazingly to the Veronica treatment. Here is a typical case of a man who suffered for twenty years.

"I have suffered with rheumatism for twenty years and have used various remedies without obtaining any relief. Have used Veronica Water with the result that I feel entirely cured. Its action on the general system is something wonderful and I would recommend it to all suffering with this complaint."—D. Knott, Florist, 623 Rockdale Avenue, Avondale, Cincinnati, Ohio.

Veronica Water is bottled exactly as it comes from the springs, and it has been impossible for chemical experts to reproduce artificially this marvelous water, provided by nature.

Thousands of users of Veronica have found relief from chronic constipation, indigestion, rheumatism, kidney and bladder troubles and other stomach disorders. You, too, may find that Veronica is "The Water Way to Health." A big, generous 1¼-quart bottle at your druggists, only 75c.

$150,000 BLAZE DESTROYS PLANT AT PLACERVILLE

Old Chinatown of Hangtown Days Wiped Out With Beach Box Factory.

PLACERVILLE, Aug. 28.—Placerville's old Chinatown of Hangtown days was wiped out Sunday by a fire that swept clear two blocks of the city, destroying the Beach box factory and lumber yards and the L. T. Butts residence, a two-story frame house. The loss totals $150,000, and the insurance amounts to about $27,000.

The entire box factory and engine room at the Beach plant were ablaze before the fire was discovered, and although the fire department and half the able-bodied citizens of the town were on the scene within a few minutes, the place was a roaring furnace and it was impossible to do any more than attempt to confine the flames. For hours afterwards the immense piles of lumber were still afire, with several streams of water playing on their outer edges.

The loss at the Beach factory alone is estimated at $140,000, with $25,000 of insurance. The destruction at the plant was complete, as there is nothing left to salvage. New trucks and machinery had been added this summer and the plant was running at full capacity. A carload of lumber, in the car on the side track, was burned. There is no way of knowing how the fire started.

Seth G. Beach, owner of the factory and lumber yard and one of the old settlers of El Dorado county, where he has reared a family, says he will probably rebuild.

Grape Shortage Is Forecast By Grower

WOODLAND, Aug. 28.—E. Clem Lowe, who with his father, T. R. Lowe of this city, is one of the largest wine and raisin grape growers in the Sacramento valley, just home from a survey of the vineyards of the central and northern valleys as well as those in Sonoma and Napa counties, declares that the crop this year is more than 25 per cent short and will run closer to 40 per cent short.

"There was a 25 per cent loss from mildew, agreed by experts and growers," declares Lowe in summing up the situation for the growers here, "but there is also a loss from under-production due to over-production last year. Nature provides for the care of her vines and does not overwork them. Last year there was a bumper crop. As a result there is a decrease in grapes this year. I estimate it from 10 to 15 per cent."

MRS. BUTLER'S TERRIBLE PAINS

Vanished After Using Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound

W. Philadelphia, Pa. — "When I cleaned house last April I must have overlifted, for after that I had pains and achesall the time and was so discouraged I could hardly do my own housework, and I could not carry a basket of groceries from the store nor walk even four or five squares without getting terrible pains in my back and abdomen and lower limbs. I went to visit a friend in Mt. Holly, N. J., and she said, 'Mrs. Butler, why don't you take Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound?' My husband said that if it did her so much good for the same trouble, I should try it. So I have taken it and it is doing me good. Whenever I feel heavy or bad, it puts me right on my feet again. I am able to do my work with pleasure and am getting strong and stout."—Mrs. CHARLES BUTLER, 1233 S. Hanson St., W. Philadelphia, Pa.

NEWS FROM THE HEART of the GOLDEN STATE

SAN JOSE TAKES STEPS TO OBTAIN IMPROVEMENTS

Council Resolution Provides For Bond Issue On New Bridges and Sewers.

SAN JOSE, Aug. 28.—A resolution calling for an election for bonds for two new bridges, an outfall sewer system and a viaduct beneath The Alameda for the Southern Pacific passed its first reading last evening by the city council.

The action of the city council came as a surprise and is being enthusiastically discussed here today.

The bridges will fill a vital need. Several of the city's most important bridges bear signs saying that they are unsafe for loads of over five tons. A few years ago a bridge similar to several of those now in use collapsed, several being killed, and the city put to heavy expense for damages. The council's action regarding two new bridges is taken as evidence that at last these long needed structures may be built.

The outfall sewer system would almost certainly obviate a lawsuit by people living in the region of Milpitas. These people repeatedly have complained to the state health department regarding the condition of the sewer, which for two mills has caved in, the old wooden structure having rotted away. The growth of the city has far overtaxed the capacity of the present sewer system.

The viaduct beneath The Alameda would mean, if the Southern Pacific carried out its promises, that a beautiful new depot would be built at West San Jose and that rail facilities would be concentrated there the tracks being removed from Fourth street, thus permitting business to occupy that street and causing property values, long held down by the presence of the railroad, to ascend rapidly.

The amount of the bonds to be voted upon was not set last evening, but will be stipulated at a later date. That they will be overwhelmingly passed by the city is said to be practically certain.

San Franciscan Is Victim of Robbers

SAN JOSE, Aug. 28.—Beaten, robbed, stripped of his clothing and thrown into the Guadalupe creek, J. R. Jameson, of San Francisco, was found wandering in the fashionable Alameda boulevard residence district by Harlow Ayer and Joshua Benning of Santa Clara, and was taken to the Santa Clara county jail. He was clad only in an old pair of shoes and a ragged pair of trousers and seemed dazed.

Jameson told the officers, who cared for him and gave him clothing, that he had come from San Francisco to see friends and, being unable to locate the parties sought, had set out for the bus station when he was set upon and struck over the head.

He said that when he came to his clothing had been removed and stolen, together with about $10 in money and some jewelry. He found himself lying in the water of the Guadalupe creek with a gash in his head. Santa Clara officers clothed him and sent him to San Francisco.

The excursionists will travel by special train, visiting Salinas and Watsonville Wednesday, spending the night at Santa Cruz and returning to Oakland via Gilroy and Hollister on Thursday.

Plans are being made by the Santa Cruz Chamber of Commerce for a smoker-banquet Wednesday evening in honor of the visiting Oaklanders, to be held in the beautiful sun-room of the Casino Grill, overlooking the ocean. A program of musical numbers and other entertainment features will be contributed by local talent and by the visitors to add to the interest of the occasion. A troop from the uniform ranks of the Dons of Peralta and musical organizations accompanying the visiting excursionists will do their full part in enlivening the program.

At the special request of those who arranged the excursion, no special entertainment is planned for Thursday morning, but the visitors will have the opportunity for either a dip in the ocean, a launch ride on the bay or a trip to the Big Trees, as their desire dictates.

Fred M. Garrison, vice-president of the local chamber, will officiate as toastmaster, and the local speakers will talk on the advantages of Santa Cruz as an "all the year" resort and residence town, in keeping with the new program adopted by the Santa Cruz chamber of commerce to divorce from the public mind generally that the city is only a "summer resort."

The drive will conclude at the city plaza where introductions all around and an informal ceremony of greeting will be staged.

The party, which will include a delegation of the Dons of Peralta, will go from here to Santa Cruz, where it is scheduled to arrive at 5:30 and will remain over night.

FEW POULTRYMEN KNOW BUSINESS, ASSERTS EXPERT

Correct Breeding Practice Is Not Generally Understood, Says F. C. Steiner.

HAYWARD, Aug. 28. — That about one poultryman in every thousand has a thorough and comprehensive understanding and knowledge of correct poultry breeding, is the statement of F. C. Steiner, of Hayward, president of the Alameda County Farm Bureau Poultry Breeders' Association, and admittedly a successful producer of high grade stock. Breeding for egg production is a phase of the industry that few really understand, avers Steiner, and still fewer take the time to master.

An over-abundance of cross-breeding is declared by Steiner to be one of the principal faults, the real breeding of any fowl, or animal, accomplished by the man who thoroughly understands the exact procedure and keeps the "family" line pure and of the same blood. It requires abundant study and hard work and can be ultimately accomplished only by liberal usage of the trapnest, declared Steiner.

"The breeders of today are divided into two classes," stated Steiner, "those who rely on trapnest records only and those who select their breeders by observing physical characteristics. It is folly for anyone to mate records, figuratively speaking instead of mating their birds for best possible results after they have gone to the trouble and expense of trapnesting their flock. Only those birds holding excellent records, laying uniform, well shelled eggs and filled with unmistakable vigor and life should be introduced into the breeding pens."

Steiner, with the officials and members of the association, and with the assistance of the University of California extension service here, is putting into practical usage the theories and practical advantages propounded by him, with the result, he declares, that this country is indisputably rapidly forging to the fore in the industry. The aim of the association, it is mentioned, is to produce a maximum of eggs from each hen without any harmful effects or evidences of rushing; eggs that will be of a shell and interior texture and quality that will prove desirable from every standpoint. Only careful, scientific breeding can accomplish that aim, Steiner advances.

The meeting was honored by the attendance of Mrs. Alta M. Orr, past grand president of the Rebekah assembly of California.

A pleasant feature of the lodge meeting was the presentation on behalf of the lodge to the junior past noble grand, Mrs. Leola G. Beazell, of a pretty past noble grand's jewel. The presentation address was by Mrs. Helen Volck and Mrs. Beazell responded feelingly expressing appreciation for the gift.

Funeral Held For Pioneer Dairyman

SAN JOSE, Aug. 28.—Jonas Ruff, pioneer dairyman, will be buried tomorrow from his late residence, 1000 Spring street, here. A number of fraternal orders in which he was prominent, will take part in the funeral.

Fruitmen Warned to Maintain Standards

WATSONVILLE, Aug. 28. — In an address before the Commonwealth club here Congressman Arthur M. Free of San Jose said California's commercial future was a dangerous one and he sounded a note of warning to Pajaro valley apple growers against any laxity in maintaining the highest quality in their packs to go out of the state.

Only by holding their products up to the most exacting standards, Free said, could the growers meet the competition of other parts of the world which now is the keenest ever known.

Removal of Tinning's offices from the court house will permit of a needed rearrangement of offices and will give other officials more room.

HAYWARD

HAYWARD, Aug. 28.—Hayward ushered in the tomato season this week. First evidence of a busy year is a report by the Farm Products Sales' Company that two full carloads left for eastern points today, and that regular daily shipments of similar volume will be made for various points in the United States for at least a month. The excellent prices and the heavy demands originating from the eastern cities makes it probable that a large portion of the locally grown tomatoes will be shipped there.

Local canneries will begin on the tomatoes this week and within the next ten days will be running full force. About $15 a ton is being offered the growers, while the higher grade market tomato is bringing in between 75 cents and $1 per box. Prices obtained in the East, it is stated, are even better and more satisfactory than those received hereabouts, although there is a slight risk attached.

SAFETY FIRST DRIVER FINED FOR SPEEDING

HAYWARD, Aug. 28.—Wouldn't it make you mad if you had just bought a new automobile and you were just learning to drive and because you played "safety first" and stayed in the middle of the road to be sure you wouldn't go into the ditch—and then you got arrested for reckless driving? That's what happened to Tony Gambino of Oakland.

Tony came out on the highway in his new auto on Sunday afternoon and took no chances of getting off the road. Unfortunately he drove right in front of Constable Al LaCunha and Policeman Louis Silva who were chasing a speeder. They tooted their horn and squaked their siren and then leaned out and yelled at him, but Tony played safe and stuck to the middle of the road until the speeder became but a faint cloud of dust far down the highway. Then the officers of the law arrested him for reckless driving, that being the worst they could think of at the time.

Today in police court Tony explained, but because he had offended the law he had to be punished and so he was allowed to plead guilty to "speeding" and fined $10. "Speeding!" said Tony. "Huh! I was going so slow the front wheels couldn't keep ahead of the back wheels. Next time I bet you I show them."

Funeral Is Held For Leroy Pratt

HAYWARD, Aug. 28.—Last rites for Leroy Pratt, who died late last week, were conducted at Native Sons' Hall yesterday afternoon. The funeral services were conducted under the auspices of the Hayward Masons, of which he was past master. Rev. H. J. Winsor, pastor of the Methodist Episcopal church, and Rev. Josiah Daniel of the Presbyterian church, conducted the services. Burial was at Mount View cemetery, Oakland.

A number of local stores and business houses were closed for several hours yesterday to allow friends of Pratt to attend the funeral services.

Members of the Hayward Rotary Club dispensed with the usual entertainment at their weekly luncheon yesterday in respectful memory to Pratt. Rev. Josiah Daniel, pastor of the local Presbyterian church and a club member, delivered a short eulogy, the club later attending the funeral services.

Mark Lee Ends His Hayward Activities

HAYWARD, Aug. 28.—Mark Lee, former secretary of the Hayward Chamber of Commerce, will wind up his duties tonight and will leave for Santa Rosa in the morning to take a similar position with the business men's organization there. He will return, however, on September 5 and will remain for three days to assist in getting affairs in readiness for his successor and complete any transactions or duties that may have arisen in the meantime.

HAYWARD, Aug. 28.—Following a two weeks' stay in Portland with his wife and father, Alonzo Bradford, Harry Bradford, Hayward postmaster, returned to his official duties today.

A. A. de Mello, cashier at the State Bank here, has returned from a two weeks' vacation, spent with his wife and children in the southern part of the state.

Plumber's Truck in Flames on Street

HAYWARD, Aug. 28.—Presumably ignited by defective wiring, a plumber's truck burst into flames at C street, between Second and Third streets, early last evening, calling out the local fire apparatus. The flames had been almost extinguished on the arrival of the firemen, the finishing touches being administered by them with chemicals. The damage was slight.

Prune Growers Are Frightened By Rain

SAN JOSE, Aug. 28.—Prune growers of Santa Clara valley, who have millions of dollars' worth of prunes in orchards and dry yards, where a half an inch of rain would mean ruin, were thrown into a panic yesterday by the storm threats of black clouds and gusty showers.

While the weather bureau here has steadfastly predicted no rain damage, prune men scurried into fields and orchards to work with insane energy as .01 inch of rain fell during the morning hours.

A quick come-back by Old Sol relieved them somewhat, but many growers and their families spent most of today stacking trays and preparing for all emergencies.

According to the weather bureau and officials of the California Prune and Apricot Growers' Association no damage was done by the small flurry of rain which fell yesterday.

TRAFFIC COPS' ERROR MAY SET SPEEDERS FREE

HAYWARD, Aug. 28.—If a speeder is cited to appear in court on a certain day, and does appear but finds court is not in session, is he absolved from the charge against him or must he appear the next day or must the traffic officer who arrested him hunt him up and hale him into court on a day when there is a sitting? These are questions which are to be put to District Attorney Ezra Decoto by County Traffic Officers Louis Elke and "Duffy" Lewis, and a score or more of speeders and other offenders against the traffic law will anxiously await the answer.

The necessity of answering the questions arose over an error made by the two speed officers in citing their arrests to appear before Judge Jacob Harder on September 10. September 9 is Admission Day, but a proclamation by the governor has made September 10 a legal holiday in order that Californians may commemorate the admission of this state into the Union. So because Elke and Lewis have told speeders to appear before the court when court is not in session they must have a ruling.

TO SEEK MEMBERS.

HAYWARD, Aug. 28.—A drive through all of the community to add considerably to the present membership and to increase the interest and enthusiasm in the organization is being arranged for by the Hayward Merchant Boosters' Club, plans expected to be perfected at a meeting this week, it has been announced by the president, F. C. Leach.

LOST WILL MADE ACTION BASIS IN $85,000 ESTATE

Attorney and Stenographer Put On Stand to Testify That It Was Written.

SAN JOSE, Aug. 28.—A lost will covering property valued at $85,000 is the center of contention today in a suit filed in the Superior court by James Marco Gorman seeking to have what he alleges is an accurate copy of the will of Mrs. Bertie Ross made official.

According to the testimony of Gorman, Attorney Leo Archer several years ago drew up and executed for Mrs. Ross a will which provided that $42,967 be left Gorman, who is a nephew; $5500 be left Mrs. Ella Taylor, a sister; $22,007 be left Peter Bennett, a friend, and $6922 left John Butterfield, a brother.

Gorman yesterday had Archer placed upon the stand and also a stenographer, whose notebook was introduced and purported to show the details of the will above mentioned.

Mrs. Taylor is fighting Gorman's suit and asks letters testamentary for herself as executrix.

What become of the original will is a mystery, as no will was found when Mrs. Ross' effects were searched, following her death.

San Mateo Unions Fight American Plan

SAN JOSE, Aug. 28.—Joseph Cambiano, former secretary of the Santa Clara County Building Trades Council, is today in the employ of the San Mateo County Building Trades Council in an attempt to aid them in their fight against the American plan.

Cambiano, while secretary here, engineered a campaign of securing building materials for contractors who would stay "union," bringing a number of shiploads of cement from Belgium to supply such contractors and providing other building materials from other places. He says that he will work similarly for the San Mateo unions.

LOOKING FOR A GOAT.

Light talk from statesmen in France and England concerning the debts owed to America is of a kind to make this country wonder and speculate. Great Britain has signed an agreement for the eventual liquidation of her debt and France has announced that a commission will soon visit this country to make similar arrangements. It was but the other day that Premier Poincare declared emphatically that France intended to pay the United States and had no intention to evade the smallest part of the obligation.

How then is the American to regard the statements of prominent public men in both of these European countries, and the schemes which appear to have as their main object the cancellation of the claims held by this country? Under the reparations plans now being discussed in London and Paris there is one predominant feature, that the United States and Germany must pay. We are expected to forget about an item of eight and a half billions and the cry is raised that the salvation of Europe depends upon us.

The injection of the United States into the reparations discussions is entirely beside the point. War claims should be based on the Treaty of Versailles, upon the damage done and ability to pay. Instead, in every public document and in almost every public utterance on the subject the question of debts owed to this country by France and England is given the prominence. From some of these speeches it is even evident that an attempt is being made to put this country in the position of keeping Europe in a state of misery in order that we may not lose some money.

The governments of France and England recognize that there is no logic in such a claim, that the money loaned by this country came in a time to save Europe and that the terms of payment have been exceedingly lenient. It is unfortunate that public men in both countries should seek to make a goat out of a nation that was in reality a benefactor.

UNFAVORABLE BALANCE?

When imports and exports both show a gain there is no such thing as a "favorable or "unfavorable balance. These terms, coined in the younger days of the country, have been responsible for some uneasiness whenever the imports have exceeded the exports. They have been responsible for an unfortunate line of reasoning which would even contemplate with satisfaction a slackening of import business whenever that division threatened to take precedence over the exports.

This year has shown a gain in both departments, but a stronger increase of imports. For the first time in twenty years trade statistics show that the imports lead the exports. It is, according to Secretary Hoover, a cause for congratulation, for it is evidence that the United States has reached a position where it is no longer dependent on foreign capital.

The fact that our commodity imports exceed exports is explained by the fact that our "invisible" exports exceed our "invisible" imports. These "invisible" exports consist of such things as interest on American investments abroad, the earnings of the merchant marine in foreign trade, and commissions and profits of our merchants and bankers. In general they include services and claims as distinguished from visible or material goods.

The terms "favorable" and "unfavorable" were applied to the balance of trade at a time when it was thought by philosophers and statesmen that the real wealth of a country consisted of gold, and that an excess of exports of merchandise was a sure way to obtain gold. With most of the world's gold in this country we have learned that its flow depends upon many other factors than the balance of trade in commodity; we have learned to appraise imports for what they are worth.

The United States no longer has to ship large amounts abroad each year to pay the interest charges on foreign capital invested in this country. The young country, attempting to establish industry, must borrow capital abroad. This nation has gone through its industrial youth. It expects that it's exporting business will continue to increase but it knows that the importing division will also grow larger and, in many years, will exceed the other.

In the years to come Europe will be paying the United States for the use of her capital and the situation of the younger America will be reversed. There is not anything unfavorable in such a situation.

TO END WAR.

The letter which President Harding wrote in June asking newspapermen and others to stimulate thought toward an end to war and to ascertain the sentiment of the country on the world court idea will quicken the interest in several notable movements in that direction. The Bok Peace Award is being received the country over in a way which demonstrates that there is a genuine response to the peace suggestion, an earnest desire for a practical plan which will result in bringing an end to warfare so much the nearer.

"With this plan to set the American people to thinking more strongly and clearly and expressing their conclusions concerning the interational duty of our republic," the Harding letter says, "I am in full sympathy. It is an admirable, useful work and I hope you will carry it to all of the readers in the land. I believe that in this great task of making the world safe for humanity no political party should seek selfish advantage; that here should apply our old and most wholesome tradition that party rivalries stop at the edge of the high seas."

The Bok plan purposely stresses the necessity for "practicability" in any plan submitted. With President Harding's view as expressed in this letter written but a few weeks before he died, it does not seek to deal with visions or ideals except those which can find a workable way to fulfillment. It is possible, as Robert Lansing wrote the other day in a letter, that "universal peace has been discredited by high-minded impractical thinkers, until the majority of mankind conceives it a chimera which can never be attained."

If the Bok offer can bring out, directly or indirectly, a practical plan based on the lessons of history and a just appreciation of human nature it will have served a noble purpose.

PEACE AND RUSSIA.

The results of the Conference of the Woman's International League for Peace and Freedom show that the organization's main purpose and main endeavor is to secure American recognition of the Soviet Republic. So long as their methods are orderly they have every right to the program and so far it has not been shown that they have transgressed.

The report does show that the League urges every member to "write letters and urge others to write letters to Congressmen and other offiials and men and women in high position and to work in every other way possible in complete accord with the Woman's Committee for the Recognition of Russia."

Writing letters to legislators is not against the law no matter how much certain public servants might wish this were the case. The only significance in the action of the Woman's League of International Peace and Freedom is that it is adding its efforts toward the growth of the "bloc" system of influencing legislation and that its main purpose is not revealed in its name. It is primarily an organization devoted to an attempt to secure the recognition of Russia and is not to be confused with any other "Peace" league or society.

Another crop that is too large for the general good is the tar and feather crop of Texas.

JUST TALK—OR ACTION?

We are hearing a great deal of the advisability of a proper balance between scholastic endeavor and the attention paid to other activities on the campus. Faculty and student leaders alike periodically sound words of warning against devoting too much time and energy to either phase of college life. But, with all the words of caution, nothing has been done in the way of prevention and we still find students allowing their scholastic ratings to drop, while they apply themselves with greatest intensity to their chosen occupations on the campus.

There is a growing sentiment of disapproval of such a disproportionate arrangement of the student's program. Each year it is becoming more widely recognized that the man does not truly serve his university, who allows her reputation as an educational institution to suffer a fall, even though he may be spending all of his time in discharge of other campus duties.

The attitude is not puritanical, nor is it freakish. The authorities in charge of intercollegiate athletics have long recognized the necessity of maintaining scholastic requirements which the athlete must meet in order to keep his eligibility. Furthermore, our own football coach points with just pride to the scholastic standing of California's triumphant team. This proves that the system can succeed.

The welfare council advocates a step farther, and the application of similar regulations to other activities, students failing to meet the set standards to be barred from participation. It is to be hoped that the suggestion will lead to action. The principle is a good one, but it will require a great deal of investigation before a successful scale can be worked out for adaptation to all campus enterprises.

A proper move would be the creation of a semi-permanent committee—much like the constitutional revision committee—to work on this question alone for the remainder of the semester. An adequate hearing could thus be accorded to all wishing to express views on the subject.

If the change is bound to take place—and we think that it is—it will be for the best of all concerned that the students bring it about themselves.—Daily (U. C.) Californian.

The empire of M. Antonius stretched from soup to nuts . . . from Hashish to Haggis. On the eastern boundary the tortoise of the Euphrates lay in the hot, wet send and ripened for the caldron of the Oriental epicure, and on the northwestern outposts the Roman legionaries could hear the red-legged Celt, fulfilled of usequebaugh, playing the bagpipes to the wild rams that lept upon the hills of Scotland.

All sorts and conditions of men went to the making of this state; and they gave the Emperor trouble; some were full of hell and some were full of hassenpfeffer; there were Africans who ate leguminous food and became restless; there were Christians who insisted on getting themselves martyred; there were barbarians who kept trying to butt in and form soviets; there was corruption in high places and eruption everywhere; ther was pestilence and there were Germans. It took some imperial humdinger to administer that empire . . . and some imperial humdinger was Marcus Aurelius, take it from the Muse of History, whose name we have for the moment mislaid.

Every day was wash day with M. Antonius. But in the midst of it all that gallant old party preserved his high serenity, kept in tune with the infinite, boasted an excellent digestion, communed with the Cosmis. All every night before he went to bed, kept his solar plexus free from fat, faced the future as unwinkingly as the statue of Zeno and found time to lay down the constitution and bylaws for the Young Men's Pagan Association of Rome, Italy. He chewed his food thirty-two times before he swallowed it, disliked minor poets and was an Advanced Thinker. Listen to one thing that he jotted down one afternoon in his well known Diary of a Roman Emperor:

From my brother Severus . . . I received the idea of a polity in which there is the same law for all, a polity administered with regard to equal rights and equal freedom of speech and the idea of a kingly government which respects most of all the freedom of the goverd.

These ideas of the ancient world have ben spouted so vociferously by so many modern statesmen that the erroneous popular notion has arisen that they are modern ideas.

But, disregarding the question of their origin, the great problem is the problem of their application. Under what system are these things most likely to be obtained? Everything has been tried, from absolute monarchy to dissolute anarchy, and no system has proved to be what the persons who write advertisements would call "100 per cent efficient."

No system of government, whether its chief is hereditary or elective, can put into practice the local polity of Marcus Aurelius unless the general average of the population, intellectually and spiritually, is on a level with the ideals themselves.

Friends, Romans and countrymen, the only way for good government to come into existence is for the right sort of population to come into existence first . . . every member of the ideal democracy must be, intellectually and spiritually, an aristocrat.

"No man need starve in America" . . . but some persist in doing it, perhaps from a morbid idea of amusement.

"Silence is golden" . . . but if you hold four of a kind make an intelligent noise back of them.

DON MARQUIS.

SUCH CARELESSNESS!

The newly elected president of a banking institution was being introduced to the employees. He singled out one of the men in the cashier's cage, questioned him in detail about his work, etc.

"I have been here 40 years," said the cashier's assistant, with conscious pride, "and in all that time I only made one slight mistake."

"Good," replied the president. "Let me congratulate you. But hereafter be more careful."—Wall Street Journal.

STRATEGY.

Mrs. Jinks jumped up in bed.

She switched to the light and shook her husband's shoulder.

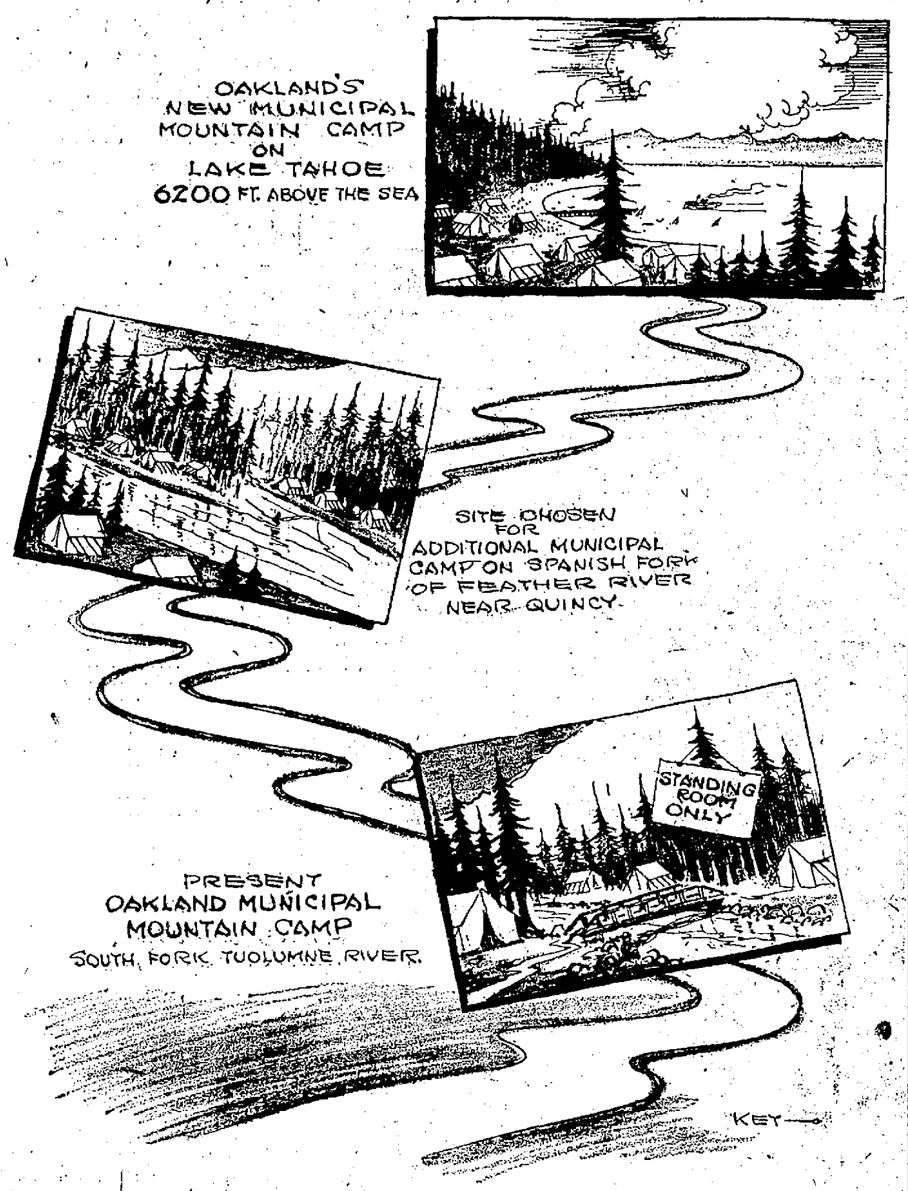
"Sh!" she warned. "I hear someone downstairs. A burglar!"

Jinks jumped from the bed. "I'll soon deal with him," he said. And his voice sounded courageous.

"Oh, don't put those heavy shoes on; he'll hear you."

"I intend that he should! Do you think I have any desire to meet the gentleman?"—Judge.

WHEN OAKLAND GOES VACATIONING NEXT YEAR



EXCERPTS from the NATIONAL PRESS

Detroit Free Press: "Samuel Gompers is quoted as saying in a speech delivered in Chicago that 'when an injunction is granted which encroaches on the personal liberty guaranteed by the constitution of the United tates it should be disregarded.' He also said that the courts have gone injunction mad and that it is time the people put a stop to judicial invasion of their rights. Wiser counsel from Mr. Gompers would have been to the effect that when an injunction invades the constitutional rights of any man he had better appeal the case."

New York World: "The Berlin Judge who refused to hold some prisoners accused of shooting craps because he could not understand that it was a game of chance, should have consulted the German Hoyle. Under the title 'Hasardspiele' he would have discovered the principles of the game, for craps, although it seems to have been regarded in France and Germany as an American invention when General Pershings' young gentlemen indulged in this rolling of two dice, is the simple child of the ancient English game of hazard."

Philadelphia Ledger: "President Coolidge has accepted the honorary presidency of the Boy Scouts, traditionally invested in his office, with a note that is a thoughtful and just appraisal of the great worth of this organization to the future of the country. The intensive campaign that has added 100,000 members, bringing the total to more than 600,000, was energy well spent. The growth of the Boy Scout movement is reassuring."

New York Evening Post: "A new American women's lawn tennis champion is hailed without abatement of enthusiasm for her predecessor. Miss Helen Wills of California, who defeated Mrs. Molla Bjursted Mallory on Saturday, has already given clear indication of such remarkable ability that few doubted she would some day occupy the distinguished position which is now her own. The only surprise is that she achieves the championship earlier than many had expected. While she is not yet eighteen years of age, it will be remembered that Miss May Sutton, also of California, was not quite eighteen when she won the same honor."

Kansas City Times: "A remarkable sale of purebred cattle at Mansfield, O., a few days ago was of more than local or state significance. A herd of shorthorns brought $131,155, average of $741 for forty-eight bulls, exclusive of the famous Rodney, for which $7500 was paid, and an average of $410 for 234 females. The entire herd of the Maxwalton farms was sold, and it is reported that many more could have been sold if additional stock had been offered."

SPIRIT of the STATE PRESS

California should cope with the grade crossing menace while the fervor is on. AMERICA

In the heat and the strife of the war I was asked once to give my definition of America, and I said to the men: "To me America is infinitely more than an aggregation of 110,000,000 men; to me America is all that the submerged races of the world wish to be and cannot; to me America is the concrete realization of what the ages have hoped for and labored for." That was my definition I gave them.

"It is a definition. It is a creed. It is a challenge. God built a continent of glory and filled it with treasures untold. He carpeted it with soft rolling praries and pillared it with thundering mountains. He studded it with soft flowing fountains and traced it with deep shadowed forests and filled them with song.

"Then he called unto a thousand peoples and summoned the bravest among them. They came from the ends of the earth, each bearing a gift and a hope. The glow of adventure was in their eyes and the glory of hope within their souls. And out of the labor of men and the bounty of earth, out of the prayers of men and the hopes of the world, God fashioned a nation in love, blessed it with a purpose sublime and called it America!"—Rabbi Abba Silver of New York.

PARENTS MAY AID IN SQUELCHING SHEIKS

Editor of The Tribune:

Your editorial on the Sheik gangster in your August 25 issue is very timely, and should be recognized by all departments of the city.

Also parents of all homes should recognize the danger of loose responsibility of their sons and daughters.

For when the heads of homes grow careless of knowing where their children spend their spare time it is then that they lose control, and boys and girls of today are very keen to notice any neglect and take advantage of same.

Another thing that will help check the growth of these meddlesome Sheiks is for the city officials to pass an ordiance requiring all public places of amusement to provide an officer or officers alternately to check all suche pretenses on the part of the ruffians who make it a business to frequent these places bent on this kind of evil.

Another thing that will help check such a growth of sheikism is for citizens who love life and good government to let themselves be heard whenever they discover these meddlesome sheiks molesing any girls or womankind.

A personal illustration will serve the purpose.

I was working in one of California's hotel resorts, and the head baker, by the way a married man, was manufacturing liquor for foodstuff. Now I did not care so much for that provided he consumed it himself. But I caught him inducing young girls under age to get intoxicated. At this I took it up with the manager of the resort and the manufacturing ceased.

Prevent the growth of alarming evils and destructive things and you save untold expenditures of money, time, and lives.

VACATION TYPHOID.

Most of the typhoid fever nowadays is imported from summer resorts. The vacationist brings the infection back with him and comes down with the fever a few days or perhaps two weeks after his return home.

Formerly the old oaken bucket that hangs in the well was suspected in these early cases. But there are mighty few oaken buckets to be found about wells in the country now; you drink out of your hat or in an old tomato can or take your life in your hands and approach the back door and the watch dog.

Probably the real source of infection in these cases of vacation typhoid is a carrier nine times out of ten. Flies swarm about the country cottage, and flies convey germs on their feet from their favorite resorts to the food. But at that, human carriers are even more prolific sources of infection.

A man recovers from a long, siege of typhoid fever, or maybe it is called "gastric" or "bilious", or "malaria" or 'rheumatic," but anyway he finally gets about, feels the need of country air, takes a trip to the country and strikes a job in the most lively place, a summer resort, where help has to be hired as it comes. The man milks cows, or makes ice cream, or waits on table, or otherwise handles food. He is a carrier of typhoid germs and does not know it. His hands convey the germs to food. Most of those who eat the food are unharmed. Either they get too small a dose of germs to seriously weaken their defenses, or else they possess natural or acquired immunity. But a certain number of the boarders will come down with the fever in from 10 days to three weeks after infection.

Acquired immunity to typhoid fever is cheap. Any traveler who has to eat here and there and everywhere, especially in the summer months, ought to protect himself by being immunized by his doctor. Immunization is rather easier and less disturbing than vaccination against smallpox. It consists of a series of three painless hypodermic injections administered once a week. The very worst effect noted is a slight headache and general malaise for a day after the first injection in about one out of each five individuals immunized. The immunity thus acquired is effective over a period of at least three years. It is not absolute, but sufficient. It enables one to resist any dose of typhoid germs likely to be encountered, but undoubtedly if one were exposed to enormous infection—massive doses of typhoid germs over a period of many days, the resistance would finally be overcome and a mild attack of fever developed. But when typhoid infection does occur in an immunized person the attack is always mild.

If the drinking water at a camp is doubtful, the addition of pure chlorinated lime, as much as you can take up on a dime, to each five gallons, does not injure the taste but disposes of any typhoid germs there may be present.

OF COURSE.

Newlywed was on his honeymoon, and as he had married a very pretty girl he lost no chance of telling everybody with whom he came in contact that he was a married man.

"I want rooms," he announced, as he approached the hotel reception clerk, trying to appear as nonchalant as possible.

"Certainly, sir," said the clerk. "For how many?"

"For myself and wife," replied Newlywed.

"Yes, sir," said the clerk. "Suite, sir?"

"Sweet?" cried Newlywed. "Of course she is?"—Tid-Bits.

Evelyn Davis, 15, Sought by Mather Since Sunday, Is Reported Bride of J. E. Hubbard; Wed at Napa

Word that Evelyn Davis, the 15-year-old daughter of Mrs. D. A. Davis of 8101 East Fourteenth street, Oakland, who was reported mysteriously missing, was married yesterday at Napa to J. E. Hubbard of Yountville, was received today by Captain of Detectives Richard McSorley from Sheriff Joseph Harris of Napa.

The information was obtained as the result of a state-wide search instituted by the police since the girl disappeared from home last Sunday night at 10 o'clock. Several circumstances pointed to the likelihood that she had been abducted.

According to the mother, she and her daughter had been out driving last Sunday night. On returning home, Mrs. Davis entered the house, leaving her daughter to puf the car in the garage. When her daughter did not enter the house, the mother went to look for her. She found the car in the garage but could find no trace of the girl. As the hour grew alter the poice were notified.

Coupled with the disappearance of the girl, a little later came the report from Policeman Walter Welden that he had heard a girl scream and that he saw an aptomobile speed up East Fourteenth street at the time Evelyn Davis disappeared. This increased the mystery, making the girl's relatives believe that she had been kidnaped.

The young bride was a student at Fremont High school.

Minister in Bible Play

RABBI RUDOLPH I. COFFEE of Oakland in costume of the king, Jehoiakin, in which role he will be seen in Biblical drama.

Score of Ministers to Act In 'Jeremiah' Production

BERKELEY, Aug. 28.—With a score of ministers of the bay region cast for leading roles, rehearsals are being held for "Jeremiah," Mrs. John Pratt Whitman's Biblical play to be presented at the Greek Theater on September 7.

Many men prominent in the pulpits of the bay region will be seen in roles of Thespians for the first time. Dr. James S. West, San Francisco Baptist clergyman who read President Harding's funeral service across the bay, will be seen as Shaphan, the custodian of the temple of Solomon. Canon Hayes of Grace Pro-Cathedral of San Francisco, players the part of one of the prophets, while Dr. Elijah J. Hanley will interpret the role of Nebuchadnezzar. Rabbi Rudolph I. Coffee of Oakland has been accorded the role of the king, Jehoiakin.

Ministers who will take part in this spectacular Biblical drama include the following:

Rabbi R. I. Coffee of Oakland; the Rev. H. L. Rowley of Richmond District Congregational church; the Rev. L. B. Hillis, Presbyterian student pastor of Berkeley; the Rev. Fred B. Fisher, Oakland Congregation church; the Rev. Miles Fisher, Berkeley Congregational church; the Rev. Godfrey Matthews, Congregational church; the Rev. C. C. McCowan, Methodist church; the Rev. William Frederick Blade, noted Biblical scholar; the Rev. James C. Reed, Presbyterian church; the Rev. W. A. Phillips, Presbyterian church, San Francisco; the Rev. J. N. R. Score, Methodist church, Berkeley; the Rev. Gordon Kent, Unitarian church, Alameda; the Rev. Davidson of the Berkeley Methodist church, and the Rev. A. E. Patterson of Oakland Congregational church.

Mrs. Whitman was once a Quaker minister herself. She carries the leading feminine role in "Jeremiah."

URGE BRIDGE OVER 10TH. ST.

Plans for immediate action on the proposed extension of Tenth street are to form the keynote of the mass meeting of business and civic organizations to be held under the auspices of the Merchants' Exchange this evening.

Thirty improvement clubs and business bodies have promised to send representatives to the meeting, which is to be held in the exchange at 412 Thirteenth street.

"There is nothing of more importance to the business interests of Oakland and the welfare of the people east of the lake than the immediate construction of a bridge across the estuary at Tenth street," said President I. T. Spiro of the Exchange today.

"Sixty-five per cent of the population of the city lies east of Lake Merritt, and the Twelfth street dam is the principal outlet into the city of Oakland. The congestion at the present time is such that the business interests are suffering, as East Oaklanders declare they can shop in San Francisco with less inconvenience than in Oakland.

"The opening of Tenth street back of the corporation yards, and the construction of a bridge across the estuary at that point, is imperative, and the Merchants' Exchange asks for immediate action."

ALIBIS FREE 2 SUSPECTS

Two men arrested on suspicion that they were members of the gang of five bandits that shot and killed W. Myron Kemp at Mohawk, Plumas county, Sunday morning, were released from the Alameda county jail today when they established alibis.

The two men, Fred Moore and Frank Johnson, both 18, were seen by Mrs. Kemp to leave the train at Sunol on which Kemp's body was today brought to this city for burial. Mrs. Kemp thought she recognized the two as having been among those who murdered her husband.

A posse headed by Deputy Sheriff Joe Soares and Constable Locke of Sunol searched in the vicinity of that town this morning, and succeeded in locating the two youths.

When Mrs. Kemp was summoned to the jail she declared that she had been mistaken, and that the arrested youths were not those she had seen in the band that killed her husband.

The two youths were released.

Prune Growers Hear Of Martinez Plan

SAN JOSE, Aug. 28.—A view of the co-operative movement among Texas cotton growers was given today by W. B. Lanham, rural economist and professor at the University of Texas. Prof. Lanham is here to visit the California Prune and Apricot Growers association with the idea of getting pointers for the cotton organization.

"Co-operative marketing," he said, "still has its problems down with us. However, I think it has come to stay. Prices last year were better for those who came into the marketing organization than for others outside the association."

Prof. Lanham said that at first the farmers did not take kindly to advice such as his university is seeking to spread among the rural districts but that now they have come to realize the valueofcollege information and often send for the university experts.

SUZANNE LENGLEN TIRED OF COURT GAME AND WOULD LIKE TO SEE MISS WILLS VICTOR

Miss Lenglen Wants Helen To Win Title

Tired of Winning, French Star Hopes Miss Wills Will Take Her Crown.

NEW YORK, Aug. 28. — All Sports Weekly, London, publishes the following from Suzanne Lenglen:

"Mon Dieu, I am so tired of winning. Would that I could teach this little American champion, Helen Wills, how to defeat me for the world's tennis championship and retire for all time. If she will beat me I shall be pleased. Je suis fatigue."

Tempermental Suzanne sends the above greeting to Berkeley's "wonder girl" through the English publication.

SUZANNE IS TIRED.

The French net prima donna is pictured as "tired and bored to death" on account of many recquet triumphs.

All Europe possesses no player capable of even extending the fair Suzanne.

"They tell me there is a junior in America (Helen Wills) from whom much is expected and perhaps she is the one I seek. If I could be satisfied that she might be trained to beat me I would be glad to help myself with her training and teach her all I could," writes Suzanne.

NOTHING IS CERTAIN.

"But you must always remember not to expect the certainty even from that, because some have the ability to win and others through better players have not, as in all games. However, I should know what the troubles and the trials are, who to do and what not to do and the weaknesses of all the players who are now winning and their strength. It is impossible to write these things.

"If this paper or anyone else can discover a lady in whose future I can believe I shall do my best. But not if she is going to be an advertisement. That would never do. Fancy playing at Wimbledon like somebody's face powder."

ALL FOR HELEN WILLS.

All-Sports Weekly, London, then comments:

"We suggest that Lenglen be taken at her word. Let her have the chance she craves to develop a youngster who can finally succeed to her throne. Personally we think that Helen Wills meets all the required conditions. Certainly the girl with the poker face' has the sparkle of genius that Suzanne speaks of. Undeniably the youngster has promise. Nor is there any danger that Miss Wills might be used as a walking advertisement, though her appearance here may suggest the sunkissed fruits of her native State.

"But suppose Helen could beat Suzanne 'as is' without any so-called training?' Ah, that's the rub. Suppose, indeed, our little schoolgirl were capable of giving even the world's champion a few pointers about 'lejeue de tennis.' What then? Would teacher submit to turn pupil with any kind of grace? We won't attempt to answer that one but we do want a reserved seat in the first row of the Forest Mills Stadium or London's Wimbledon when Suzanne Lenglen gives Helen Wills her first lesson."

Diablo Boy to Run in Tribune Marathon Race

ONE interesting entry received yesterday, from the eleven letters opened by the Marathon Editor, was one from a Mt. Diablo union high school boy.

"I have been climbing Mt. Diablo and running every night over the foothills," he writes.

"I will feel like a bird when I race on the level around Lake Merritt."

Other runners express just as much confidence.

Entries close on Saturday night, September 1.

Runners should not delay in sending in their entries.

Many of the Marathon athletes are running around Lake Merritt nightly. Others are working in Marin, Alameda and Contra Costa county trails. It will be a notable gathering of runners on Monday morning, September 10.

Will the city boys be able to beat the country boys. This is one question.

Is foothill training better than running around Lake Merritt?

This is another question.

GOLF

By W. D. McNICOLL.

Sixty-three golfers participated in a two ball sweepstake Tombstone tournament at Claremont over the week end. The contest was at handicap, each player being allotted his regular medal handicap plus the par of the course, which happens to be 67 at present. Fourteen of the seventeen prize winners finished at or beyond the 18th hole, which is a remarkable record, the three other participants in the generous distribution of golf balls finished close to the cup on the 18th. Dr. T. E. Moore, who reached the greatest distance, having no less than six strokes left when he holed out at the 18th and finally finished 32 feet from the 20th hole. Dr. Moore played steady golf throughout the entire game and received two dozen golf balls as first prize winner. N. L. McLaren had four strokes left when he left the home green and just failed to hole out on the 19th, his ball being one foot from the cup.

J. J. East was third, 12 feet from the 19th, while E. L. Mossley, who had only two strokes left when he reached the 19th tee, reached to within 24 feet of the pin with his second. C. P. Henderson was not quite so accurate with his approach, which was 32 feet away with two strokes played from the 19th tee. Oscar Morgan had only a drive left but it was a good one, and reached to within 134 feet of the 19th green. George Wadham Bruce Heathcote died 200 feet from the 19th, with Hugh Goodfellow 55 feet away, these were the only players to go beyond the home green. The others were all in or around the cup on the 18th.

The detailed results were as follows:

Dr. T. E. Moore, 32 feet from the 20th.
N. L. McLaren, 1 foot from the 19th.
J. J. East, 12 feet from the 19th.
E. L. Mossley, 24 feet from the 19th.
C. P. Henderson, 33 feet from the 19th.
O. R. Morgan, 134 feet from the 19th.
George Wadham Bruce Heathcote, 200 feet from 19th.
Hugh Goodfellow, 255 feet from 19th.
B. W. Carlisle, holed out at 18th.
Arthur Finley, holed out at 18th.
F. H. Dalley, holed out at 18th.
T. D. McLaughlin, holed out at 18th.
Walter T. Wood, holed out at 18th.
H. A. Mosher, holed out at 18th.
W. A. Baker, 4 feet from 18th.
J. E. Hostetter, 8 feet from 18th.
C. C. Hillis, 10 feet from 18th.

Coffroth to Start On East Trip Today

SAN DIEGO, Aug. 28.—James W. Coffroth, president of the Tia Juana Jockey Club, will leave here today for New York intent upon signing Jack Dempsey and Harry Wills for a 20-round championship bout to be staged at Tijuana on December 1.

He will also confer with heads of racing stables in the east preparatory to the winter meeting at the border track which opens November 29, for 100 or more days of racing.

Portland Men Will Coach Cambridge

CAMBRIDGE, Mass., Aug. 28.—Subject to the formal approval of the Harvard Athletic committee, Edward A. Stevens of Portland, Ore., will coach the Harvard varsity crew next year. This was announced today in a joint statement by John Richardson, chairman of the Harvard advisory rowing committee, and B. M. Henry, captain of the varsity crew. Stevens will be assisted by Samuel Shaw, also of Portland, Ore.

Salvadore to Box Benjamin Tonight

LOS ANGELES, Aug. 28.—Phil Salvadore and Joe Benjamin, lightweights, were to box four rounds in the main event at the opening of the new Vernon fight club tonight.

Midget Smith of New York and Young Farrell were booked for the semi-windup.

Phillies Recall Young State Leaguer

GRAND ISLAND, Neb., Aug. 27. —Leonard Metz, stellar shortstop on the Grand Island (Nebraska) State League team, received orders here today to report to the Philadelphia Nationals at the end of the state league season, September 3.

Coach Smith Keeps a Close Eye on Talent

Young Gridders at U. C. Will Play First Game on September 8th.

BERKELEY, Aug. 28.—Soaring footballs announced the opening of the 1923 season at the University of California yesterday. Varsity practice will not start until September 15, but approximately a hundred and seventy-five candidates for the four interclass teams appeared on California field.

The majority of the pigskin chasers were freshmen. The remaining three classes were represented about equally.

Head Coach "Andy" Smith slipped on to the field early in the afternoon and remained perched unobtrusively in the farthest end of the bleachers until the last man had vanished.

Coaches for the four teams have been recruited from the ranks of last year's Varsity and Freshmen teams. "Babe" Horrell and "Dick" Dunn are in charge of the freshmen. "Jimmy" Dixon will attempt to lead the sophomores to victory. "Spud" Spalding is presiding over the juniors, and "Jack" Whitter will put the seniors through their paces.

BLEWETT IS OUT.

The first game of the series will be September 8. The freshmen will clash with the sophomores, while the juniors will attempt to take the senior scalp.

Dick Blewett will have to hustle to uphold the football traditions of the family. He is from Santa Ana and will try for guard. Another man from Santa Ana is Bell, who is considered a good lineman. He is also a member of a family that has distinguished itself in football, his brother, "Bill" Bell, being a former member of the Varsity.

BERKELEY HIGH BOYS.

Peterson, from Fresno, is a southern star, as is Chaffee, from Visalia. Four men from Berkeley High — Green, center; Clymer, quarter; Mills halfback, and Perry, guard, are out to give the men from other parts of the State a hard fight.

Andy Smith's system will no doubt bring out stars from among those who come out for practice, as well as polish the game of those who have had high school experience.

Outstanding high school stars from all over the State who signed up as candidates for football honors are: Connolly, fullback, Ukiah; De Voto, backfield, Santa Rosa; Kelly, halfback, Hanford; Lewis, guard, Tulare; Mauser, halfback, Reedley; McGoey, center, Santa Ana; Mibeceal, center, Fresno; Poole, end, Napa; Phillips, end, Salinas; Sherwood, guard, Salinas.

Miss Spreckels' Horse Wins Purse At Stockton Fair

STOCKTON, Aug. 28.—Attendance continues to increase at the San Joaquin county fair, today being Lodi and Luncheon Club Day. Last night's horse show was witnessed by a record crowd which saw first prize in a $1000 stake class for hunters and jumpers won by Domino, owned by Miss Alma Spreckels of San Francisco.

Second place went to The Persian, owned by Revel Lindsay English, of Chino; third, Content, Phil O'Connell, Stockton; fourth, Flash of Grey Steel, Miss Billy Wilson, Los Angeles; fifth, Grey Leg, Margaret Ellen Douty, Portland, Oregon; sixth, Pannes, Miss J. Callighan, Van Nuys; seventh, The Bounder, Revel Lindsay English; eighth, Playmate, Earl Sandusky, Los Angeles; ninth, Midnight, Lieutenant Lars Lithander, Regiment of Dragoons, Sweden.

Thousand-dollar stake classes tonight and Wednesday night will bring out what horsemen declare to be the most valuable aggregation of show horses ever assembled in the United States.

This afternoon will be featured by a free-for-all pace and a free-for-all trot. In the latter event there will be eight starters, according to Frank Liegener, secretary of the racing circuit committee, Western Fair Association. He says this is a record number for a free-for-all trot in California.

Fast quarter mile times were made in harness races. Verna Dillon came into the lead from second place in the third quarter of the 2:12 class pace which was timed at 30½ seconds, while Little Bill trotted the same quarter in the fast time of 31¾ seconds. Billie H., owned by A. A. Heater of San Francisco, won the pacing event, and F. S. Montgomery, owned and driven by William Stuart, took first money in the trot. The summary:

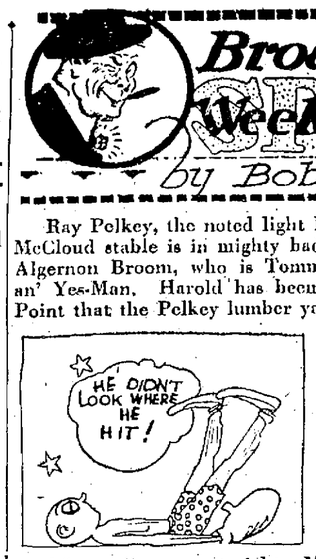
Broadway Billy's Weekly Review

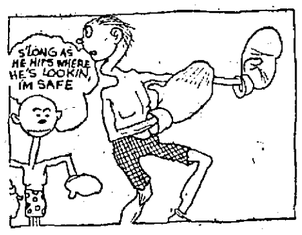
by Bob Shand



Ray Pelkey, the noted light heavyweight fighter of the Bert McCloud stable is in mighty bad shape if you lissen to Harold Algernon Broom, who is Tommy Simpson's favorite secretary an' Yes-Man. Harold has been tellin' the boys down to the Point that the Pelkey lumber yard is all shot to pieces an' that a telescopic examination has disclosed the remerkable fact that Ray's Sacramento Lilliac glands has slipped.

It seems that Ray was trainin' for a fight with Frank Farmer last week an' at the end of a round he looks one way and walks the other. His head had a half turn and he told Manager McCloud that he couldn't get his noodle to set straight. McCloud thought he was kiddin' and tried to yank the dome back where it belonged but Pelkey protested claimin' that Bert might break his neck or his ears or something. McCloud didn't care nothin' about the neck but he was takin' no chances of the ears blowing up an' wreckin' the buildin'.

The manager takes the fighter down to the chiropractors and tells them to get busy an' do their best for the stricken fighter. After an examination they tip the manager off that the fighter won't be able to go on Wednesday an' McCloud asks for a written report on the matter to be presented to Promoter Simpson to show that Pelkey ain't stallin'.



Secretary Broom received the written report. His version and the original will be found below ridin' side by side:

THE ORIGINAL.

Mr. Simpson,

Dear Sir: Upon examination of Mr. Ray Pelkey we wish to state that we find that in his training yesterday he received an injury which shows to be a sublaxation of the fifth lumbar vertebra; also a slight sacra-iliac slip. This was verified by fluoroscopic examination.

BROOM'S VERSION.

Dear Tommy:

Upon explanation of Mr. Ray Pelkey fish will state that we find that in his trainin' yesterday he deceived an inquiry which shows to be a slight Sacramento somethin' or other an' this was also very —— ——. Say this guy is usin' the same letters twicc. How he expects me to read it!

Too Many Camera Men, So Dempsey Leaves His Camp

SARATOGA SPRINGS, N. Y., Aug. 28.—Jack Dempsey, world's heavyweight champion, left today on a fishing trip to a small lake in the Adirondacks. He will resume the training grind Thursday.

Because of the crowds continually hanging over the fence surrounding his four-room cottage on the shores of Saratoga Lake, Dempsey has found it necessary to remain indoors.

Whenever the champion comes out of his cottage crowds of amateur photographers immediately surround him, pleading for a picture. Dempsey good naturedly obliges, but he does not care to pose for pictures all day long.

This enforced confinement has become irritating to Dempsey, who is recovering from a slight cold. Jack Kearns, his manager, suggested a layoff because he thought it would improve Dempsey's mental attitude and help him to shake off the effects of the cold.

Dempsey started his three-day layoff yesterday by trying to pick winners at the race track, with a party of friends. He placed a modest bet on every race, but declined to reveal his winnings or losses. While seated in the clubhouse, Dempsey was introduced to Lord Birkenhead, former chancellor of England, and posed for a picture with him.

Governor to Hurl Shoes at State Fair

SACRAMENTO, Aug. 28.—Horseshoe pitching contests for the state championship which had been declared off were restored as a feature of the California State fair, according to announcement by Secretary C. W. Paine. The popularity of the sport and the general state-wide interest in it are evidenced by the demand from many parts of the state that the contests be carried out as at first planned, Paine said.

Governor Friend W. Richardson, summering at Long Beach, telegraphed Paine he will try conclusions with H. A. Jastro, president of the state agricultural board, and will be ready to meet all comers. A set of horseshoes was presented to the governor by the Long Beach Pitchers' association for use in the contest at the fair.

The contests will be pitched on Rotary day, Saturday, September 8, in front of the grandstand.

Angel Firpo Is Training Hard For the Champ

ATLANTIC CITY, N. J., Aug. 28.—Luis Angel Firpo continued today the training program for his heavyweight title match with Jack Dempsey in New York September 14. Under the direction of Horatio Lavelle, his countryman, who it is said, is prompted daily via cable by Felix Bunge, his Buenos Aires compatriot, the South American champion is doing his bit of morning road work, his quarter hour heavy punching at the sand bag in the garage of his home in Chelsea, and six rounds or so of sparring with four heavyweights in the afternoon.

The Argentine's workouts have grown monotonous but he carries on with enthusiasm. Lavalle and Bunge declare they know what they are doing, and are confident that when the time for the fight arrives Firpo will be at his very best.

Firpo practices with his left and is gradually working away from the wild swinging of his right.

There has been talk in the camp of adding several lightweights and perhaps a bantam to the sparring corps, to develop the speed Firpo will need against Dempsey, but the sparring outfit continues an all-heavyweight aggregation.

Tub Spencer Quits Stockton Ball Club

STOCKTON, Aug. 28.—"Tub" Spencer, catcher, announced tonight he had severed his connections with the Stockton club of the Valley League and would leave tomorrow for his home in Pennsylvania. Following the release of Martin Sunday, this leaves Stockton without a battery for next Sunday's contest with Fresno. Ralph Stroud was signed tonight to pitch against Dinuba Monday and Leonard refused to accept an offer from the Stockton club to work Sunday.

Houser to Compete In National Meet

LOS ANGELES, Aug. 28.—Bud Houser, stellar weight man of the University of Southern California, was to leave here today for Chicago to compete in the national A. A. U. track championships. He plans to enter the shot put and discus events.

Champion Is Favorite With Wall St. Fans

Rickard Says That Jack Dempsey Is Taking Bout Real Serious.

By HENRY L. FARRELL
United Press Staff Correspondent.

NEW YORK, Aug. 28.—Betting at two and a half to one has opened here that Jack Dempsey beats Luis Firpo when they meet Sept. 14 for the world's heavyweight championship. One bet of $5000 to $2000 has been placed in Wall street. Another wager of $3000 to $9000 has been offered by backers of the Argentine giant. Another one of $5000 to $2500 on Dempsey has not been placed.

Considering the fact that practically all of the experts look rather lightly upon the chances of the South American, the odds in the opening offers are considered rather short. Expert opinion, however, has gone wrong so many times on big fights that it may be that the public thinks Dempsey is not a sure winner because the experts say he is.

While it is to his interest to predict a close fight, Tex Rickard has maintained since he started directing the destinies of Firpo that the South American is a great fighter and that he has a good chance to win the championship.

"Dempsey is expected by everyone to win," Rickard said today. "The champion, of course, always is the favorite, but in this case the advance sale of tickets points to interest in the contest almost as great as it was in the Dempsey-Carpentier fight. It indicates that the public knows it is to be a fight even if there should be some doubt that Firpo has a big chance to win the title.

"Firpo is a big strong fellow, with a terrific punch and there are examples in the past where a rugged fighter of the type of Firpo did not have a handicap by the lack of boxing skill. Firpo reminds me more and more of Jim Jeffries when he came east. They called him a big truckhorse and said he would be cut to pieces by a clever man, but he was not."

Rickard said he had watched Dempsey in his work and he knew that the champion was not being fooled into the belief that he had an easy fight.

"He is working just as seriously as he did at Toledo and I believe that he will never be the victim of overconfidence," Rickard said.

TOMMY SIMPSON WILL STAGE ALL-STAR CARD

Tommy Simpson, Oakland boxing promoter, returned yesterday from Los Angeles, where he went last Saturday with the hope of signing Floyd Johnson to meet Willie Meehan in one of the bouts of this all-main event card to be staged next Monday afternoon at the Oakland ball park. Simpson failed to find Johnson in the south and learned that he is in the Northwest. He sent a wire to Johnson, offering him the bout with Meehan. If he does not land Johnson, the chances are that Meehan will meet R. Stragnalia, the heavyweight who gave Jack Dempsey such a tough time in his training quarters, previous to the Gibbons bout.

Two bouts already assured for Monday are Bobby Harper vs. Jimmy Duffy and Bert Colima vs. Jimmy O'Hagen.

WITH his pistol drawn the weary man walked through the woods, eyes and ears alert. There was nothing of the furtive about him; rather a determination, the fixed purpose of the hunter. Frank Waller, sheriff, was looking for his man.

He had figured it out that the man who robbed the stage so many times had his hiding place back in this tangle of brush and rocks. Giving it out in town that he was to ride with the stage as guard, he had slipped away to test his theory. Now he was tired and knew the task was difficult.

No one had knowingly looked upon the face of the stage robber, and the descriptions given by frightened drivers and passengers were widely different.

In a small clearing the sheriff saw a battered cabin, door swinging open in the breeze. He looked in the window, saw that the single room was empty, and entered. There was little in the place to indicate a home, and yet a man had been there. In the corner was a ladder to a room above. Waller climbed up. Here was a mirror and some hairpins and a single cot. The sheriff was tired and the cot was inviting. Resolved that he would not fall asleep, he stretched out.

A sharp noise awakened him and he sat up in the dark. Someone had struck a match! Now the lamp was lighted. Waller put his eye to a crack in the floor and caught his breath. The Ives girl, Mildred Ives, strange, shy creature he had seen occasionally purchasing supplies in town, was there with her father, the half-wit men called "Pizen Ivy."

"You're going with me this time," The father's voice was low and steady, quite unlike the hesitating drawl that was his in town. "You won't have to take part, but you'll have to be near. I'm not going to risk your tipping it off."

Sheriff Waller edged toward the ladder. This "Pizen Ivy" was the stage robber. Wonder he had not thought of this before. The man was a consummate actor. The voice rose again.

"Yes, and it's because that smart sheriff is along that I'm afraid you'll tell. This time I get the money and the sheriff." He turned to her, threatening. "Now go on upstairs, put on your men's togs and tie on your handkerchief. Hurry, I'll be waiting outside."

The girl climbed up and paused white-faced and terrified as she looked into the face of Waller.

"Hurry, come on," he whispered.

A little later the figure of a man descended the stairs, a handkerchief about his face. Old Ives waited outside, turned at the sight of the other's form and, with a motion to follow, struck off. In silence they walked down the slope toward the road. The pace was brisk. "Pizen Ivy" was going to meet the stage.

Only a minute they waited, then the elder man grunted.

"You stand there and don't move. When it's over I'll bring you your pretty sheriff." The light of the stage was on the road and the sound of the hoofs was heard. The robber stepped to the middle of the road, his hand on the revolver at his hip. Foolhardy as it was, it was typical of a man who had asked no odds.

Ives started to draw the pistol. He would grab a bridle now, duck behind a horse's head and give his orders. Something poked him in the side. This daughter of his—?

"Put 'em up, Pizen." The man poked the pistol in the robber's ribs.

The stage pulled up and a circle formed around the two. Then the bewildered and cowed Ives saw in the lantern light that his captor was Waller. He glared sullenly, then tried to smile.

"I was goin' to take you back to the girl," he said. "She's been moonin' 'bout you some. Say, she didn't tip you off, did she?"

How had it happened? Where was the girl?

The stage, carrying the robber, deputy and the others, went on to town leaving the sheriff standing in the road. It would be a long walk back but he'd have to get the girl. She touched him on the arm.

"Of course, I followed," she said. Waller saw the rifle on her arm.

"You could have plugged me and saved him."

"It wasn't to save him I brought it. He said he was going to get you."

It was then that the moon rose over the hill and the two walked into town, a grieving girl released at last from a terrible bondage and a silent sheriff who had discovered he was in love.

"BLACK GOLD"

A Mystery Detective Story of Alameda County

by GEO. C. HENDERSON

SYNOPSIS.

Napoleon Knott becomes involved in a treasure hunt for lost gold when Captain Soto Mayor and Felipe Ramon both are attacked and their feet burned to torture them into revealing the secret. Soto Mayor dies and old Felipe cruelly rejoices because the secret is now safe. "They'll never make me tell," he declares.

Knott, by a ruse, gets to see Felipe's feet, finds red marks on them, tells Old Felipe Soto Mayor has sent him and induces the recluse to go with him to the Nuevo Mundo. When Old Felipe finds Captain Soto Mayor dead he laughs wildly and declares that his "secret is safe."

Knott tells Inspector Scott, who arrives on the scene, something of what he has discovered. They decide the same thing did up Soto Mayor and attacked Felipe. Two police officers searching the ship unearth shovels, picks, retorts, other treasure hunting tools. They decide the Captain was hunting a gold mine. One of the crew tells that before death Captain Soto Mayor kept motioning toward a statuette until his daughter took it in her hands, and kept saying "oro negro," meaning "black gold." Inspector Scott threatens to arrest Racquel and the crew.

Night comes, revealing Knott, Scott and the officers still on the Nuevo Mundo, awaiting doctor's permission to see Racquel, who is greatly perturbed. Stone consoles with Boogerty to prevent Knott from falling in love with Racquel. The "armored cruiser" invincible, manned by youngsters from the Down, playing at naval warfare, is chased away by Inspector Scott as it hovers around the Nuevo Mundo.

A scream coming from Racquel's room startles the men.

Answering the scream, the Inspector, Napoleon Knott and the others enter the girl's stateroom to find Racquel, clothes torn, cowering back in terror, while Boogerty sits astride Old Felipe, holding his hands to the floor. Knott consoles Racquel, who tells how the old recluse had entered her room to attack her when the negro interfered. In order to distract Knott's attention from Racquel, Boogerty blows on the police whistle and goes into contortions, as per his agreement with Stone. He says he is "breakin de spell of Venus." Knott begs Racquel to let him be her big daddy. On the floor he finds the broken statuette, with a sheet of onion skin paper protruding from the severed neck. Evidently Old Felipe was after this. It might explain why the Captain was so anxious his daughter should take the statuette. Knott picks it up. Racquel demands its return. Knott argues that it is evidence. They are about to agree when Boogerty again interrupts with his whistle blowing and contortions. Racquel grabs the document. Knott chases the negro out and returning, finds she has locked the door against him.

Stone reveals that Knott is very susceptible to feminine lure; that he has lost other cases because of this susceptibility, and charges that already the fat detective is crazy about Racquel. Finding it impossible to quiz the girl, Inspector Scott leaves Knott and an officer on guard and goes ashore with Stone, Old Felipe and the negro. While Knott is on guard alone, a form sneaks aboard. It is Red Dan, powerful crook boss, Knott's most deadly enemy. He knocks on Racquel's door and presents her with letter of introduction, but Knott by clever strategy prevents him talking with Racquel and ushers him off the ship. Red Dan gives Knott until 10 o'clock to leave the city under pain of death.

The police officer says Red Dan is a bad bird to offend. Knott scoffs. Knott has breakfast with Racquel who puzzles him. Knott threatens to tell the police about the statuette paper. She promises to show it to him if he will not. Scott and Stone interrupt them. Scott, Stone and others discuss seriously Red Dan's ultimatum. Scott advises Knott to leave. Scott reveals that Tom Cannon, a taxicab man who hauled the man with the big box, has been slain near Livermore. Knott reveals a connection between the Soto Mayor, ore negro, foothurling crime and the Cannon crook, Knott says, "Find the man who kidnaped Tom Cannon and you'll have the Soto Mayor assassin."

Knott, going to his room via automobile, discovers by a trick that he is being trailed. Much to the disgust of Boogerty and Stone, who think he should either flee or try to attack Red Dan himself, Knott takes a shower, changes his linen and indulges in a hearty breakfast. He orders Stone to tell nun Stella, alias the Toad, take her to a lumber wharf house, divest her of her disguise and lock her up. Knott then prepares for a ride on the lake in his motorboat, taking with him a suitcase, with clothes, hat, overcoat, a bust of General Grant, pillows and a bottle of red ink. Ray Turner, the little blind boy, comes in to report that the gang are out to protect Knott and that Red Dan's men have surrounded his house. He begs Knott not to take a chance.

With the negro's assistance, Knott gets into his launch and goes across the lake, while Boogerty sits on a park bench waiting for him to return.

While Boogerty sits on the park bench, an officer comes up, saying he has been assigned to guard Knott against attack. A big car comes up, a rifle is poked out and shots are fired, hitting Knott as he sits in the launch, bowling him over. The launch, unguided, goes out into the middle of the lake, careens, throwing Knott's unconscious figure into the water where he sinks. Stone comes up in a flivver, decides that Knott has been shot with a rifle with a silencer on it. They find the abandoned launch, covered with blood, where it has beached. Leaving the officer on guard, Stone notifies Inspector's Bureau of the location of the launch, and then he and Boogerty plan revenge.

Stone goes to old Felipe's house, finds it has been ransacked, discovers the goat drink, lifts up the animal, finds the secret document hidden in its hair, finds himself staring into a gun held by a masked man, is kidnapped by a gang and carried off to an underground prison.

A person, disguised, enters the Gates of Hell Tavern, Ben Dan's joint, is greeted as Stella by Dan, who gives her a tray to take to a prisoner. The route leads through underground passages and trapdoors to the hangout, where Chicago Slim, Sinner Wilson Gorilla, Eddy the Torch and other crooks are in hiding. oGrilla takes Stella into a cell to feed Prof. Stone, held there. Here Stella reveals herself to Stone as Napoleon Knott, supposedly dead, but now in the den of crooks, disguised. Knott tells Stone that Federal officers are watching the place, ready to raid it as soon as they can open it up.

Ben Dan reveals to the gang the circumstances attached to the document secured from Stone and intrusts it to Gleeson, confidence man, to read to them for discussion. Dan insists that Knott come with him. Knott accompanies Dan to another floor and there finds Racquel, held as a guest by Red Dan. While Dan and Racquel are at breakfast, Knott ransacks the girl's thing for the onion skin paper in vain. He replaces everything by the time the pair return.

Dan reveals that he is in love with Racquel. The gang discusses the mystery paper and decide it is a fluke. Knott's appearance, disguised as the Toad, is occasion for hilarity and a proposal to initiate him. Rather than be unmasked Knott promises to reveal the identity of Carillo.

CHAPTER 17.

Knott's Disclosure.

(Copyright, 1923. All Rights Reserved).

Red Dan's gang had almost given up the treasure hunt. In a few days they would forget about the secret document of Soto Mayor completely.

Now Napoleon Knott realized that he was reviving their hopes and encouraging them to pursue the search for the black gold. Yet there was no alternative.

Within a few minutes after he started reading the document stolen from Felipe's room, Knott became aware of the identity of the mysterious Joaquin Carillo, whose name Soto Mayor had muttered with his dying breath and who had figured in the wild utterances of the demented recluse.

For the others, knowing nothing of the early history of the state locality, and caring less, the brief narrative of the career of the bandit Carillo naturally held no significance. The yarn sounded like a fiction story, the invention of a demented brain.

But Napoleon Knott, his mind stored with a mass of lore about the early days, rich in a background of learning, quickly came upon the key that revealed to him the identity of the subject of the sketch. However inconsequential the document might appear, it must be really of tremendous value, else Filipe would not have submitted to torture rather than reveal it and old Soto Mayor would not have been so anxious about it that the very last words on his lips had been "oro negro, Carillo, Carillo."

Tootles was not sure of Carillo's identity until he came upon the allusion in the tale to his hatred of Americans. Instantly he recalled what he had been reading in Duke's book and remembered his own comment upon such a queer quirk. As had happened many times before, a mania had formed the clue, revealing the secret. He had seen the advantage of keeping this knowledge to himself and of working upon it quietly.

Now he was forced to disclose it to prevent immediate discovery.

"Come through, Stella, let's hear you beef," ordered Slim.

"If you really know Carillo's name, let us have it," insisted Dan.

Knott hunched down and cackled shrilly.

"If I blow, you'll leave me be?" he queried.

"Sure they will," asserted Dan. "I'll see to that."

Well, Carillo is Joaquin Murieta," stated the detective, speaking slowly and lookin. round at the others to watch the effect of this disclosure on them. Carillo is the true name of Murieta, the famous California bandit."

The statement was followed by a brief silence.

"How do you know that?" asked Girard P. Gleeson, after a moment.

Buzz Hewitt raised his heavy form and thrust his dark, unshaven face at the group.

"Oh, that's the dope all right," he declared. "When I was doin' a five stretch at Quentin, I met a old horse thief who tol' me about this bird. He hated Americans. I remember that now. They hung his brother, just like the story there. Then he turned bad."

"I remember that, too," admitted Red Dan. "What else did you find in th manuscript, Stella?" he queried, more respectfully.

The squat, fat creature simpered and shook her head. Knott had revealed enough to save himself. But the real key to the document, the names of the cities, was his secret for the time at least.

"Ain't that en to know?" he responded. "That's more'n you birds could find out."

"Those funny names must belong to old time places that Murieta visited," said Gleeson. "I believe that this is some kind of a code and that you have to have an interpretation of it."

Red Dan nodded.

"You are right, Girard," he admitted. "But I think we may find the answer in history. Suppose you run out to the University library and look up those names. Get hold of a historian out there if possible and show him that list you have. It is a safe bet that we will identify those places."

The boss walked over to the towheaded man with the dark eyebrows.

"Gus, I think you'd better run down to the polict station and hang around, keeping your ears open as to what they are doing about this Knott affair."

Gus's stolidity dropped away from him as he slid to his feet, with a protesting gesture.

"I can't go down there," he said in a low voice. "I can't."

"That's the very place for you," declared Dan. "Stick around the press room and the inspector's bureau. Find out what clues they have."

The wrinkled, twisted mouth dropped, while the reumy agate eyes shifted from Dan's face and looked around the room appealingly.

Napoleon Knott, watching surreptitiously through his smoked glasses, caught that look half fearful, not understanding, pregnant with knowledge. It fixed more firmly than ever in his mind the belief that this was the assassin.

Gus walked away submissively. Red Dan motioned to Knott with his swagger stick.

Dan's next remark brought Tootles back sharply to a realization of his peril.

"Now Stella, I want you to dress up in your moll clothes," he requested, "after you've finished reading that document. I'm going upstairs now and try coaxing. If she does not yield to my blandishments then I'll turn her over to you and let you do the rough work. You see, I want to keep in her good graces. She's a sweet little thing, I've made a hit with her and I don't wait to poil it. Come on up as soon as you can and hang around the corridor in case I want you."

Knott's mind worked quickly. This might mean a showdown. Rather than have harm befall Racquel, he would bring the battle out into the open. Hot blood surged up into his face as anger swept over him at the thought of Racquel's danger. The idea of leaving her alone in the room with Dan even for a short space was repugnant. And yet he realized that he must play the game slowly. A display of anger or misguided action would precipitate a catastrophe that would result fatally not only to himself but to Stone and Racquel as well. Besides, Red Dan had said he was going to play the game in a gentlemanly fashion.

Knott bobbed his head up and down to indicate that he understood. "I'll be up after awhile," he grated. "Guess I'd better look at the prisoner. Gimme the key."

Dan complied and walked away. Knott entered the small stone crypt in which was the cell wheer Stone was confined.

He looked around carefully before he approached the manacled prisoner.

"There's going to be a showdown soon," he said, as he bent over pretending to examine the handcuffs. "He's going to third degree the girl to make her dig up that paper."

"What girl?" queried Stone. "I don't understand."

"Why, Racquel," replied Knott. "He has her here as his guest. Brought her here after Scott got through with his probe, I guess. The girl has fallen for him hard. His dude clothes did it.

"Now I'll stick him up rather than let her suffer, kidnap him out of here, turn him over to the Feds on a liquor charge and then come back, gain admittance disguised as the Toad, open up the gates for the raiders and pull a big pinch.

"You stick here tight and don't make a move unless you hear me blow my police whistle. I won't give the signal unless things get pretty bad."

"How did you escape?" asked Stone. "Boogerty saw you shot, saw you fall in the lake and sink. We found the Swan run aground covered with blood. They're dragging the lake for you now."

"It was easy," declared Tootles. "I rigged up a dummy in my motorboat, using the statue of General Grant for the head and body. The blood was red ink."

"Oh, so that explains Boogerty's remark about Grant's statue," remarked the professor.

"Dan had warned me to expect a croak at 10 o'clock so I arranged everything nice and pretty for the assassin," continued Napoleon Knott. "I ran the launch in close to the shore so that the killer couldn't miss and brought it almost to a standstill. Of course, I was lying flat in the bottom of the boat, reaching up just enough to steer her.

"The shot hit the dummy and I pushed it over the side. After that I guided the launch around, without showing myself, making it appear that I was running wild. I beached her when out of sight, jumped into a little roadster I had parked down there and rode out to the lumber wharf dump, where I put on the Toad's disguise that you left there."

Stone made a choking sound.

"And I thought you were crazy," he said apologetically. "I see now that you had everything planned. I wondered why you were bothering with the Toad."

"Oh, sure, I have been spoting Red Dan's gang with an idea of getting on the inside for a long time," returned Knott. "I figured Stell was just about my height and build. Her disguise was atrocious anyhow. All I had to do was dirty my face, paint my nose, put on the wig and those colored glasses and imitate her voice.

"But I can't keep up the deception long. Dan will try to get me to unmask. Then it's fight or run. Are you all ready for the break?"

"I'm crazy to go," returned the professor. "I locked those handcuffs. They wouldn't stay on. But the key was imbedded in the wall there so that I can insert it into the keyhole and unlock them quickly enough." After that, with this gat in my hands, I'd like to see them stop me. How do you get out of here?"

Knott explained briefly the means of entering and leaving the dive.

"But there is a subterranean outlet to the water," he added. "You can hear the waves washing against the rocks at high tide. I haven't located it. If possible, I'll admit the officers the front way. Your job is to cut off their retreat."

Tootles moved quickly to the door and peered out. Eddy the Torch was standing some distance away, looking toward the room curiously. Evidently he was wondering why Stella should spend so much time with the prisoner. Knott waddled back to Stone and addressed him in a hurried whisper.

"I'm going to make a quick getaway with the girl," he continued. Dan's men, all except the croak artists, will be out on bail in an hour and will be hot on our trail. I've got a scheme for breaking Red Dan. I'll ruin his prestige. I'll make him so ridiculous that he will leave the country. Take Inspector Scott into your confidence and let him work with you. If you lose track of me, get in touch with Ray Turner, down at the dump."

He handed Professor Stone a folded slip of paper.

"I've written instructions on this. Show it to Scott. He'll recognize my signature."

And with this command, he left the room and made his way to Racquel's bed chamber.

The STORY of JACKIE COOGAN

As Told By His Mother

To see accuse

Looking Backward

"Well," remarked Jackie, as he piled out of the car and galloped up the steps of the studio bungalow and into his dressing room, "today's the day. I'm to be crowned!"

Miss Ruth Renick and Miss Rosemary Theby, who happened to be standing in the studio garden, both bowed and made mock obeisance to the about-to-be-crowned "king." From the dressing-rooms in the bungalows opposite emerged the "Chancellor," the "Generalissimo" and a few other of Jackie's fellow actors, and all of them made elaborate bows to the small figure whose coronation was to be the scene of the day.

All but Hal Marcoux. Hal is a huge person who has been connected with the pictures Jackie has played in for a long time. Jackie is very fond of Hal.

"Hal never treats me like a kid," he explains.

Nevertheless, Jackie paused and gave Hal a severe look on this particular morning.

"I'm to be crowned today," he remarked again for Hal's benefit. "This is the day when everybody's got to bow down to me and treat me with respect. Don't you see Miss Renick and Rose Theby doing the proper thing? And all these other people?"

Hal straightened his 250 pounds of muscle and bone and remained in an extremely upright attitude.

"Well, here's one person who isn't going to bow down to you," said he, fixing Jackie with a defiant look.

"And why not?"

The big man regarded the small boy with unflinching gaze.

"Bow down to—you? Say, you can't pull that king stuff with me. Why, I knew you when you only had a skirt and a pair of pants to your name, and there wasn't much but rags to the shirt and pants at that!"

The prospective king set his arms akimbo and tried to outstare his defiant "suject." But presently a grin started somewhere behind his eyes and spread out and down until it suffused his face and broke into a complete guffaw. Melted was the "king's" dignity. Gone his arrogance. He held out a small hand, and Hal took it in his big one. The two stood grinning at each other, "man to man."

"Hal," said Jackie, "you've got me right. I'm no king. I'm just a ragamuffin really! Gee, Hal, but I liked those rag clothes I used to wear in 'The Kid' and 'Circus Days.' Remember that pair of pants you took out in the mud and sloshed around to put the atmosphere on 'em? And that sweater I wore in 'Circus Days'? Oh, BOY, that was a tough sweater! Remember how we made Butzie drag it around in the yard to get holes in it?

"Butzie chewed a hunk right out of the middle of the chest. Hal—remember? And Muddi-dear wanted to sew it up because it almost made her cry to see me looking so—what was it she called it, Hal? Pathetic! That's it.

"But she didn't. And I loved that bunch of raggy old duds I used to wear. These swell kingthings make me tired. I guess I ain't cut out for a king, Hal."

"Sure you're not," agreed Hal all too readily. "Don't you go getting a swell head with me, or I'll tell the world I knew you WHEN!"

"Them wuz the happy days, hey, Hal?"

And the two stood there in the middle of the yard, shaking hands.

A friend of mine—
Gave me a pass—
That would have cost about four bucks—
With extra war-tax added—
If I had had to pay for it—
He shocked my hand and smiling said—
"Old Kid that show will knock you dead—
For it's the cream of all the class—
No common folks from out the mass—
Will enter there—
Just high-brow folks with manners rare—
I'd go myself to see the sights—
But I must go down to the fights—
Don't thank me now—there—there—tut-tut—
Remember—CLASS—there's nothing but"
So I walked home on vibrant air—
Just tickled stiff I was for fair—
My long-tailed suit hung on a hook—
I got it down—then read a book—
On how to act when in a crowd—
Who never sneeze or laugh out loud—
Then all arrayed I made my way—
Down to the place with loud hooray—
'Twas eight o'clock—it made me stare—
For not a soul on earth was there—
I had not heard—oh sad is fate—
One shows his class by coming late—
"Oh lucky boy this seems a sin—"
I thought; I saw the doorman grin—
How long I waited I can't tell—
I heard the tolling curfew bell—
Then perfumed squads came down the aisle—
And each one dared the rest to smile—
At last the rustling curtain rose—
My heart kept saying—"Now she blows"
There first came out a solemn bloke—
High-collared so I thought he'd choke—
His bass voice said he longed to sleep—
Upon the r-o-o-o-o-l—l-l-n-g—deep—
It took an awful lot of sand—
To give that guy a lusty hand—
A screeching singer roused my ire—
Her voice was good to holler fire—
Perhaps the words she bowled were good—
But not word I understood—
And then a little guy came out—
Say folks that brother was a shout—
He sawed a bass-viol far too big—
Around the fiddle died a jig—
I had to laugh—"OH-HAR-HAR-HAR—"
This gave the class an awful jar—
Lorgnettes chilled me with freezing glance—
They never gave my goat a chance—
Abashed I made my way in gloom—
Past glaring eyes from out that room—
The doorman smiled—I said—"You win—
I know now why you gave that grin"
Out in the night I said—"alas—
Old Kid I guess you've got no class."

The Adventures of Raggedy Ann and Raggedy Andy

by Johnny Gruelle

Raggedy Ann and Raggedy Andy were glad they had found the ice cream cone bushes. For, after escaping from the two mean little Witches, the Raggedys and little Ned Gnome were very hungry.

Raggedy Andy was in hopes they would find a hot weenie bush and Raggedy Ann was in hopes they would discover a place where pancakes and maple syrup grew, but when the ice cream cone bushes were discovered by little Ned Gnome the three friends were very glad to find them, if they had found a hot weenie bush, or a pancake field first, they would probably have eaten so many hot weenie sandwiches, or pancakes, they would not have cared for ice cream cones.

And every one knows ice cream cones, especially if you find them growing wild in the deep, deep woods, are much better than hot weenie sandwiches.

The two little witches had put their nose in Mrs. Marandie Mousle's front parlor and Mrs. Marandie Mousle had nibbled both of their noses thinking their noses were two red sausages.

You see, the two little Witches believed the Raggedys and little Ned Gnome were still down in the Mousle's home. So, as soon as Mrs. Marandie Mousle nibbled their noses, the two little witches jumped upon their flying broom and sailed home to wrap their noses in vinegar and brown paper.

Then, when they had done this, they got upon their flying broom and cried, "Flying broom! Take us to where the Raggedys are hiding!" And the flying broom flew through the woods until it came to where the Raggedys and little Ned Gnome sat eating the ice cream cones off the ice cream cone bushes.

"Oh, dear! Here comes the two mean little old Witches!" Raggedy Ann said. "We had better run!" little Ned Gnome whispered to Raggedy Ann, "for they will capture us this time surely!"

"You bet we will capture you this time!" Wanda Witch cried as she hopped off the flying broom and ran toward Raggedy Ann.

"Now we have you!" Winda Witch cried as she hopped off the flying broom and ran towards Raggedy Andy. "We will get even with you for pinching our noses when we put them down in the Mousle's home!"

"Ha! Ha! Ha!" Raggedy Andy laughed, "If you put your noses in Mrs. Marandie Mousle's front parlor it served you right if she nibbled them!"

"Anyway!" Wanda Witch cried as she reached for Raggedy Ann's arm, "we have you now!"

"We will see about that!" little Ned Gnome cried as he picked two ice cream cones from the ice cream cone bushes and dropped them down the back of each Witch's neck.

"Wowy! Chill con carnie!" the two Witches howled as they wiggled and twisted when the cold ice cream ran down their backs. "It's burning like fire! Wow! We must run home as quick as we can!"

"HA HA HA! RAGGEDY — — LAUGHED—

So they let go of the Raggedy and hopped upon their flying broom again. "Just you wait, Raggedy Ann and Raggedy Andy, we will be back and capture you in about 5 minutes! Then we will put some of those things down your back!"

"Ha, ha, ha!" Raggedy Andy laughed. "They don't even know what ice cream cones are!" And he picked six more apiece, so that he and little Ned Gnome and Raggedy Ann could have them to eat, while they were finding a hiding place.

The Why of Superstitions

H Irving King

THE EMPTY ROCKING CHAIR

In many sections of the country it is believed by the superstitious that when an apparently empty rocker is seen to say back and forth without any visible cause in that chair is seated the spirit of some deceased member of the family come back to choose the one of his kin who shall next join him in the realm of shades. In the spiritism of primitive man the spirit was conceived of as retaining in the disembodied state the same habits, needs and desires which it possessed while animating the flesh. And thus it was, to a large extent, down through the classic ages and thus it is among many savage tribes today. Soldiers were slaughtered upon the tumulus of a warrior, slaves sacrificed upon the grave of their master and the East Indian widow burned herself upon her lord's funeral pyre in order that the spirit of the deceased might not be unattended and uncompanioned in its new state by familiar ghosts. This ancient idea that the spirits of the mortally dead seek companionship is the basis of many funeral and death superstitions today—of which the empty rocking-chair superstition is one. There is something very naive about this superstition. The disembodied spirit, longing for the companionship of one of its kin after the manner of the flesh comes not in watches of the night and in form of terror, but makes itself at home, seats itself in the old familiar rocking-chair and chooses with calmness and deliberation the one of the family who shall join him on the Stygian shore.

My Marriage Problems

Adele Garrison's New Phase Of

Revelations of a Wife

THE ANXIOUS QUESTION DICKY WHISPERED TO MADGE.

"Look here, Little Bright Eyes," Dicky drawled, his hand still on the lever of the phonograph. "Do you know that the society for the prevention of cruelty to phonograph records will have a warrane out for your arrest if you do a trick like that again?"

"Like what?" Claire Foster demanded sulkily, and whether or not she was really ignorant of his meaning, there was no mistaking the fact that she did not relish his criticism.

"Like showing up a phonograph record while it is being played," he returned. "That's the quickest way to ruin 'em I know."

She threw her head back, looked at him insolently from beneath half-lowered eyelids, then laughed with cool, stinging amusement.

"Of all the old-maid fuss cats," she said slowly, "you're the limit. Keep your old record, if you're so stingy. I wouldn't touch it with a pair of tongs."

"It isn't my record," he returned imperturbably, as he picked it up, examined it, and then, after putting it down, made a penciled memorandum in his addres book. I knew that he was making a note of the name that he might replace the record with a new one.

There was no hint of annoyance in his manner, however, and I wondered if his complacence were born of indifference to her taunt, or fatuous acceptance of anything she might say. When he had put the little book and pencil back in his pocket he stalked toward her, and with a deft movement grasped her arms just below the elbows, and pinioned them tightly to her sides.

"SUPPOSE I WON'T?"

"Now, say you're sorry for being such a naughty, saucy little girl," he said in a high falsetto voice, grinning provokingly down at her.

She made a sudden twist which almost freed her, but not quite.

"Suppose I won't?" she said defiantly.

"Then we'll send away the nice waiter who is even now upon the stairs, and lock you up in a closet while my wife and I go out to dinner."

The incident had been farce until this moment, but I saw a look of savage protest flash into the girl's face, and I understood it because of my own soul.

It is anathema to me to be physically restrained in any way, even when I know it is a jest—it is the reason, I suppose, why I so heartily detest practical jokes—and I do not know how far my anger might carry me were Dicky to stage with me the performance he was giving with Claire.

CLAIRE LOSES HER APPETITE.

It was time, I knew, for me to interfere. Man-like, Dicky would not see that the thing was no longer a jest until the girl's emotional control had given way. Then he would be highly remorseful. If the waiter were indeed upon his way with our dinner, quick action was needed. But it must also be farcical, so I slipped behind Dicky and put the tips of my fingers on his neck.

"Unhand that woman, knave, or I begin tickling," I said resonantly.

I think Dicky never was so surprised in his life. That he is exceedingly ticklish, I know from his own tales, but I never have verified the truth of his words, for of all silly, undignified performances, tickling either babies or grown-ups seems to me the last word. But he played up beautifully, and I think he secretly was much gratified that I had come to the rescue of the situation.

He dropped her arms, and dodged into the hall with growling anathema:

"Cur-r-s-e you, Jack Dalton! I'll wait years until I can say—Oh, here's the waiter!"

The transition to his ordinary tones as the doorbell sounded brought an hysterical giggle from Claire, and I knew that the danger of an unpleasant scene had passed.

The dinner which Claire had ordered so lavishly was wonderfully cooked and served. Despite my objections to the needless expense of it, which of course, would fall upon us, I was hungry enough to enjoy it immensely, and Dicky proved himself an able trencherman. But Claire ate comparatively little, and found some fault, tiny or large, with every single article on the menu, and when the waiter removed the dishes, announced her intention of going to bed, saying she was dead tired.

I picked up my bag to follow her into the bedroom, when Dicky, ignoring, as I had, the guerilla warfare between us, asked anxiously:

"What do you suppose is the matter with her? Is she sore at me?"

How to Torture Your Husband — By Webster

Uncle Wiggily Stories

By Howard R. Garis

APPLE BUG.

(Copyright, 1923, by McClure Newspaper Syndicate.)

Uncle Wiggily hopped down off the front steps of his hollow stump bungalow. The rabbit gentleman twinkled his pink nose once or twice and then said to Nurse Jane Fuzzy Wuzzy:

"I am going adventuring!"

"I thought that," answered the muskrat lady housekeeper. "Well, I hope you have a jolly one."

"Thank you," politely said the rabbit uncle. "And is there anything you would like to have me bring back for you when I return from adventuring, Nurse Jane?"

Miss Fuzzy Wuzzy thought for a moment and then she replied:

"Please bring me back an apple and I will make an apple pie."

"It shall be done!" exclaimed Mr. Longears, and away he hopped over the fields and through the woods.

He had gone perhaps a mile, or maybe a mile and a half or even two miles, for all I know, when, all of a sudden, the rabbit uncle came to a tree on which grew some red-cheeked apples.

"Ah! just what Nurse Jane wanted," thought Mr. Longears. "I'll pick the largest, roslest apple I can find and take it to Nurse Jane so she can make the opple pie. I'm very fond of apple pie."

The bunny rabbit gentleman stood up on his tiptoes and, reaching high above his head, picked off an apple. He looked at it, rubbed and polished it on his soft fur until it shone like a new automobile, and then Uncle Wiggily hopped along again.

"I hope I soon find an adventure," he said to himself, and he did. For he had not taken more than three hops and part of another one before, all of a sudden, out from behind a sassafras tree jumped the Fuzzy Fox.

"Good day to you," said the Fox, pretending to be polite, though he was far from that. "Good day!"

"I guess it's bad day for me," thought Uncle Wiggily, as he looked at the hungry teeth of the Fox.

The Fox was scratching his nose.

"Where are you going?" asked the Fox in his brillery growlery voice. "Where are you going, Uncle Wiggily?"

"I was going adventuring," the rabbit gentleman answered.

"Then you need go no farther," said the Fox, "for you have met with an adventure right now. I am your adventure and I am going to nibble your ears."

"Yes, I suppose so!" sighed Uncle Wiggily, sort of rubbing Nurse Jane's apple up against his leg to polish it brighter.

"But I'm not going to nibble them right away," laughed the Fox. "I am going to walk along beside you until we meet my friend the Woozie Wolf. He also wants to nibble your ears. So come along!"

Then the Fox walked beside Uncle Wiggily, who carried in one paw the apple he had picked for Nurse Jane.

Now, though neither the Fox nor Uncle Wiggily knew it, there was, inside the apple, a funny little Apple Bug. This bug had eaten a small hole in the apple and he had crawled inside to stay because he liked apple juice very much. When Uncle Wiggily picked the apple the Apple Bug inside was fast asleep. But now he awakened and he stuck his funny little head outside the hole in the apple and the Apple Bug said to himself:

"Hum! Something queer is going on here. Uncle Wiggily is walking with the Fox, but for no good, I'm sure. I like Uncle Wiggily, but I don't like the Fox. I'm going to play a trick on him!"

So, very slyly, the Apple Bug crawled out of his hole in the apple. He crawled up Uncle Wiggily's leg, the Apple Bug did, and then, all of a sudden, the Apple Bug crawled over and tickled the Fox on his nose.

Here! Stop tickling me, Uncle Wiggily!" howled thh Fox.

"I'm not tickling you!" answered the rabbit.

"Yes you are," howled the Fox, as the Apple Bug again crawled on his rose. "Ouch! Wouch! How you tickle! Oh, ho! I've got to scratch.

The Fox looked around for a rough barked tree on which to scratch his nose. The Apple Bug quickly crawled down Uncle Wiggily's leg and back into the apple and then the Apple Bug whispered:

"Run away, Uncle Wiggily! Run away! Now is your chance!" So the bunny rabbit ran away while the Fox was scratching his nose on a tree, and didn't have his ears nibbled. Then the bunny thanked the Apple Bug, who crawled out when Nurse Jane washed the apple to make into a pie.

And the pie was very good and the Apple Bug found another apple to live in, so he was happy, too.

And if the breakfast orange doesn't roll off the table and run out to tag the milk bottle on the front stoop, I'll tell you next about Uncle Wiggily and Bunty's playhouse.

This is what "Bob" has asked me.

"What do you think of a girl who indulges in 'picked up' acquaintances?"

All right, I'll tell you, and it won't be from the moralist's point of view—A GIRL WHO INDULGES IN PICKED UP ACQUAINTANCES HAS SUCH A LOW GRADE OF MENTALITY THAT SHE IS NOT RESPONSIBLE FOR HER ACTS!

Such boys and girls have developed physically but NOT mentally and their bodies go seeking mates that their minds would never choose—if they had any. Their physical selves are more intensely developed because of the lack of mental balance, and they go the pick-up trail because their minds are not strong enough to act as emergency brakes. It is a rather pitiful condition.

Watch a Pick-up

If you think I am wrong, watch a pick-up some evening, say at the corner of Fourteenth and Broadway. I saw one there the other evening. You will see on the face of each an animal look of cunning, a barter and trade glance, a look of inquiry, but you won't see intelligence.

They are not thinking that they might be good pals, that they both might like the same books, that they know where there are beautiful hikes in the fresh air. Not much. An auto ride, maybe dinner, then a rolled eye and smirk and the couple go off down the street together, and the relationship just begun has a good chance of ending either in the police court, the gutter or the Salvation Army home where girls are cared for and no questions asked.

It's not beautiful, but it's true.

I realize that mere youngsters often start "picking up" in a spirit of devilry, overabundance of animal spirits, or a dare, BUT IF THEY HAVE BRAINS, THEY STOP WHEN THEY REALIZE THAT THE CONTACTS THUS FORMED ARE VILE.

Dear Jerry:

What do you think of a girl who indulges in "picked up" acquaintances?

Lots of the fellows say that they have some pretty good times and meet some nice girls that way, but is a girl nice who does that sort of thing?

Thanks for bothering with this, if you do.

As ever, BOB.

Sisters of Street

And after Bob comes Cam. She asks a similar question, but goes further. "How are we to regard our sisters on the 'street' and the men who make their trade possible?"

And with that question we have again our old friend Double Standard.

As far as I am concerned, the Woman on the Street is a perfect lady compared to the men who make her "trade" possible. The Woman on the Street, according to statistics compiled by physicians and phychologists, usually has the mind development of a 10 or 11-year-old girl. With no earning capacity in the world of brains her condition becomes an economic one and men, WITH BRAINS, take their advantage of women with the minds of small children.

Their condition will be remedied when we begin the study of economics instead of preaching morality.

Geraldine:

Are our sisters of the street worse than the men who make their trade possible? How are we to regard the men whom we suspect or, rather, how are we going to regard the idea, rather than the men, and what stand are we to take?

My heart aches for the outcast and for the fools', ignorant lads, and yet it rebels at the sanctioning of the barrier drawn between the two. The one class is utterly lost; the other, indiscreet and not responsible.

And now to drift into a lighter vein.

I know a married couple who both work. He is the soul of courtesy. He insists on carrying her purse and book when they sally forth together, and reproves her when she attempts to chop kindling or drive a nail. On Saturday afternoon she does a large washing, scrubs and sweeps. Does that dear man dash to the washtub, to reprove her gently for wearing holes in her knuckles? He does not! He feels that the world has been cut out from the beginning, for masculine and feminine activities, and for either to trangress on the other's rights is sacrilige.

I present these problems because they represent a very large portion of conditions.

CAM.

Now there is a lad I'd like to talk to. So mannish, isn't he, sisters? Why doesn't some one whisper to him that man's place is in the big bustling world while the little woman should stay in the home. That goes with his psychology of masculine courtesy. Doesn't his big protective nature rebel at the thought of his wife working in an office every day. Maybe it's a secret grief he's nursing, my sisters, and the pain of seeing her worak "may hurt him more than it does her."

Young Ambitious

PITTI-SING. Hello, Young Ambition, you're having a wonderful time, being crossed in your search for Fame, even if you don't know it. Aren't you taking part in a modern drama, stern parents, ambitious daughter and elusive success? Sure you are, and in spite of not being "understood," you must be enjoying the "play" if you have the spark that makes for a real actress.

There never was a girl—at least I never met one—who wasn't cut out to be a second Sarah Bernhardt. I know that I was going to go her one better, but somehow I didn't "pan out" along that line. But, seriously, girl, if you have the will and the desire to succeed, you'll get there. Don't give up your dream—as long as it is a real aspiration to succeed. Domestic happiness is not built on a foundation of disappointed ambitions. If you eventually find your happiness, as your mother wishes, with a home and husband, it will be because the other dream has faded.

Here is Jerry's big love and hopes for your happiness—at either your goal, or mother's.

Listen, World!

MABEL has been telling me about The Masses.

Eleanor is a friendly little soul and she's truly sorry for The Masses. By "Masses" she does not mean merely the slum dwellers but "all those queer, common people you see on the streets, and on the farms—such dreadful drab people, all alike. Without a bit of spirit or ambition—just drudging along like so many dumb animals. Oh, it must be terrible to be born that way!" shudders Mabel.

"How do you mean born that way?"

"Well, born the way they are instead of the way you and I are. Why, if I had to live as they do, with my capacity for feeling intensely, I'd—I'd kill myself!"

And Mabel is quite sure that she would kill herself. Nor has it ever occurred to Mabel or her mama or her grandma or any of the other rich, kindly ladies who had preceded her, that they do not differ one iota from these Masses they pity—save in the all-important part that they have money and the Masses have not.

It reminds me of landscape painting. Landscape painting is an enlightening process. You start out prepared to paint brown fields, green trees, blue skies. And before you put brush to canvas you discover an amazing thing. The fields aren't brown! They are gold and pink and red and lemon and smoke. The trees aren't green. They are bronze and purple and silver and purest jade. The skies aren't blue—they are opals veiling flame! Everywhere that humdrum scene is flecked and spangled and laced and enameled with color and shade and light. And you had thought it such an ordinary place!

Well, that's your Common People. Mabel thinks "God has made them different." She honestly believes that they possess a more limited emotional register—that they are filled with plain browns and grays, as it were, while she is filled with rainbows.

How amazed little Mabel would be if life stripped her suddenly of papa's money, and left her one of the Masses!

SOCIALISM IN THE JUNGLE.

An ibex on a high box gave a soapbox oration,
Saying: "Lions are the capitalists robbing the animal nation!
They chase the roebucks to the high sticks," said the ibex, "and beat 'em,
Then with zwelbachs (with their beer and schnapps) they cook the roebucks and eat 'em."
Then a sly fox got on a low box and asked the ibex on his high box: "If you're elected
Will the roebucks and the boob ox and the stray flocks with their sway backs be protected?"
"Sure," the ibex told the gray fox, "I'll get the lions' goats!"
"You bet your blue socks," said the boob ox, "that the roebucks and the dik-diks
And the blue ducks and the sway backs in the high sticks will give the ibex a million votes."

Christopher Cass had a shop in Charing Cross
Where he sold goose grease by the case or gross;
Chris Cass sold several cases of grease,
To a Swiss, S. Kraus, for two sous apiece.
Kraus gave a bad check. 'Twas a total loss,

Now to double cross Chris Cass made Chris cuss;
(And the Swiss Kruas sure did criss-cross Cass)
Chris Cass sent a right cross to the face,
And the one swat settled the Swiss Kraus case.

A Mystery a Day

A series of perplexing cases that have withstood all efforts at solution

THE CRIPPLED KING.

Historians have pictured Richard III of England as a person abhorrent to look upon. They have described him as ill-shaped, undersized and ugly both as to face and figure, and yet it would appear that this monarch has been greatly maligned, so far as his personal appearance is concerned, and that instead he was a soldier of fine physique, at least some pretensions to good looks and possessed of great personal strength and courage.

Shakespeare paints him as a hunchback, and, according to Sir Thomas More, Richard III was "little of stature, ill-falted of limbs, crook-backed, his left shoulder much higher than his right, and hard featured of visage." Both Hall and Speed draw a similar picture and Holinshead describes him as "small of stature, his body greatly deformed, his countenance cruel and savoring of malice, fraud and deceit." According to Camden, "of body he was crook-backed, hook-shouldered, splay-footed and goggle-eyed. His body was little and round. His complexion was swarthy. His left arm from his birth was dry and withered."

Such was the deformities of mind and body which were frequently attributed to Richard of Gloucester. But on the other hand, much more attractive picture of the "crippled king" is painted by contemporary writers, more than one of whom was not only familiar with the person of Richard but held frequent converse with him. Here it is to be noted that neither the "Chronicle" of Croyland, nor William of Worcester, nor Abbott Wethamstede, nor the other of the Fleetwood "Chronicles" makes the slightest allusion to any deformity in Richard's appearance.

Philip de Commines, who must have often seen Richard in company with his brother Edward, twice speaks of the latter as the most beautiful prince he had ever seen, and if there had been any remarkable contrast in the physical attribute of the two kings it would almost certainly have been pointed out by the gossiping and extremely free-spoken historian.

Again Stowe, who was inquisitive in regard to the habits and personal appearance of Richard III, could arrive at no other conclusion than that he was "of body especially comely, though of low stature." Lastly, the old Countess of Desmond, who had danced with Richard, declared to more than one of her admirers that he was the handsomest man in the room except his brother, Edward, and "very well made."

Therefore, to say the least, there is a very wide divergence of opinion among "authorities" as to the appearance of Richard of Gloucester, who died on Aug. 22, 1485, leaving behind him no portrait which would settle the controversy as to whether he was handsome or repellent, deformed or possessed of an excellent physique.

My Favorite Stories by Irvin S. Cobb

For Purposes of Concealment.

Not so very long ago the military attache of one of those fly-wheel republics in Central America, where they are always having revolutions, came up to New York from the legation at Washington on important official business. Calling upon a military tailor on Fifth Avenue he explained his mission. There had been a change of administrations in his country—the first one, it would seem, in nearly nine months—and the new government had decided to alter the uniforms of all the branches of the national defense.

It was the visitor's purpose to give the contracts. He had brought with him special designs, hand-colored in the chosen effects. There ensued a busy time in the tailor shop. It would seem that the fancy of the Central Americans ran to startling contrasts in color and to much use of braid, buttons, rosettes, festoons and plumage.

Undress and full-dress had been selected for the navy, for the officers and men of the infantry, and for the artillery. Next, the attache produced a drawing for a costume more gorgeous than any he already had shown. There was a cocked hat, rather resembling the kind worn by the Knights Templar in this country excepting that it was bright red in color with an adornment of vivid green parrot feathers floating out behind. There was a double-breasted blue coat heavily embossed with gold lace on the cuffs, sleeves, breast, collar and skirts. There were baggy crimson riding breeches also, be-laced down the seams. There was a pair of shiny black, patent leather riding boots with an adornment of silver spurs and, for final touches, massive bullion epaulets and white cross-belts finished off with huge bright buckles.

"Ah," said the dazzled tailor, "how very striking! I presume this uniform is to be worn by your cavalry?"

"Oh, no," said the attache. "This is for our secret service."

LADY GAY NOSES OUT RASCAL IN OPENING YACHT RACE

ELMER JACOBS OF SEATTLE CLUB IS LEADING P. C. L. HURLERS IN WINNING BALL GAMES

Stone's Yacht Is Nosed Out In Great Race

First Triumph of Lady Gay Over Rascal in Class R Event.

Sweeping over the finish line with every stitch of canvas drawing, Arthur Rousseau's Lady Gay finished 34 seconds ahead of Lester Stone's Rascal yesterday at the opening of the Pacific Coast championship yacht regatta, on San Francisco bay. From start to finish it was an even contest between the two Corinthian club boats, with the Lady Gay nosing out her rival over a greater portion of the course. This was the first triumph of the Lady Gay over the redoubtable Rascal in the R class over the interclub course.

M. Weil's Francesca finished third, the California, challenger for the perpetual challenge cup, placed a poor fourth, and the Machree, a southern entrant, finished last.

Considering the light wind, the time of the Lady Gay, 2 hours, 22 minutes and 11 seconds, was regarded as remarkably fast.

There will be two more opportunities for the Rascal to regain her laurels at the head of the class in races tomorrow and Friday.

In the six-meter contest the Peggy, Harry Fisher's little California Yacht club entrant, came in ten minutes ahead of the Lady Betty, owned by J. Barneson.

The Ruby II won the "Q" race, the Ruby capturing the "S" contest, and Tigress the second handicap, all three boats belonging to the Aeolian Yacht club.

The Osprey of the San Francisco club finished ten minutes ahead of the Curlew, Aeolian. The Chance defeated the Vixen in handicap class No. 1.

Yesterday's Doings on the DIAMONDS

Zahnizer passed seven men and made it easy for Detroit to win its third game in a row from Washington. Dauss of the Tigers was hit freely but tightened up in the pinches.

Eppa Rixey's great pitching and some heavy clouting by Roush, who poled a homer with two men on base, Daubert with two doubles and Burns and Pinelli made it easy for Cincinnati to beat Boston.

Ted Blankenship, by holding Boston to three hits, whitewashed Frank Chance's crew in the final game of the series. Chicago won the game in the first inning when E. Collins, Sheely and Barrett busted out successive doubles.

"Cy" Williams, of the Philadelphia Nationals pulled away from Babe Ruth of the New York Americans when he smashed out his 33rd homer of the season off Bill Sherdell of St. Louis. The two sluggers were tied with 32 each.

Johnny Dundee Is Outpointed in Bout

PHILADELPHIA, Aug. 28.—Eddie ("Kid") Wagner, junior lightweight of Philadelphia, decisively outpointed Johnny Dundee, featherweight champion of the world, in an eight-round, no-decision bout here last night.

Ad Stone, Philadelphia heavyweight, won from Frankie Britton, Philadelphia. Britton was forced to quit in the third round by a broken hand.

Joe Ryder, New York featherweight, bested Battling Mack, Camden, N. J., in an eight-round go.

A Pair of Champions

Here we have a pair of champions. The big fellow in the baseball uniform is WALTER (DUSTER) MAILS, champion Seal tamer, who tamed the Seals three times last week. Walter says that Oliver Hyde, Oakland's juveniie actor (shown on his shoulders) is a champion mascot and he would like to see the young fellow out to the park every time he pitches.

Iowa State College Lining Up Gridders

AMES, Iowa, Aug. 28.—Letters have been sent to 71 men inviting them to return to Iowa State College for early football practice September 15. Head football coach Sam S. Willaman announced on his return from his summer vacation today.

Ames probably will have more trouble with the linesmen than with the backfieldsmen. More than half of the letter men available this year won their honors in the backfield.

Coach Willaman expresses the opinion that the changes which have been made in the football rules will not affect the clarity of the game from the spectator's point of view.

Elmer Jacobs Tops Hurlers In P. C. League

Yarrison of Portland Beavers Is Showing Up Well in the Records.

Elmer Jacobs, Seattle pitcher who tops the moundsmen in the Coast League for winning games, has nineteen wins to his credit and is charged with only six defeats. Until last week, Ray Kremer of the Oaks had won the most games, but he lost many more than Jacobs. Kremer lost to the Seals last week. Walter (Dusty) Mails of the Oaks stepped some distance up the ladder by beating the Seals three times, and he now has sixteen wins against thirteen defeats. Harry Courtney of the Seals is second in the pitching and closely followed by "Rub" Yarrison, the Portland pitcher who is slated to take a trip to the big leagues next spring. Yarrison has been pitching good enough ball to entitle him to a trial in faster company.

The pitching records follow:

Elmer Jacobs of Seattle is still the leading twirler in the Pacific Coast League. He has won nineteen games and lost six. Harry Courtney of San Francisco is a close second.

Firpo Trains To Help His Hitting Power

"Wild Bull" Refuses to Change His Own Natural Style of Fighting.

ATLANTIC CITY, N. J., Aug. 27.—Firpo is making more and more friends every day he works out. Reporters here who pay 50 cents admission to see him train believe that he will batter Dempsey into insensibility with his rabbit punch on the Polo grounds the night of September 14th.

Firpo isn't impressive as a boxer but his every movement in the ring spells power. He can hit harder than any challenger Dempsey has ever faced. In a cave man contest where brute strength will be such a factor it is believed that he will be more than a match for the champion.

If the odds are as good as 2 to 1, Atlantic city sporting men are going to back him to a man. Some old sporting men say that Firpo should be an even money choice while others believe that the legitimate odds should be about 10 to 8 on Dempsey.

ODDS NOW 10 TO 8.

Firpo's magnificent physical condition is impressing all observers. The "Wild bull" has been training for several months. He hasn't really broken training since last spring. He is young and full of confidence and always keeps himself in condition. He now has to take off only three pounds and he will be ready to mix with Dempsey.

Of all the tommyrot written about the Firpo-Dempsey fight the worst is that he can change his fighting style in two or three weeks. Firpo has decided to fight Dempsey his own, natural style. He will not change his methods at the last hour. As heretofore, he will attempt to floor him with his pile driving right while he worries him with his left. Firpo plans to finish Dempsey in about the fifth or sixth round with a straight-from-the-shoulder right to the point of the jaw after weakening him and rendering him helpless with hard blows on the back of the neck.

These jars on the spine and the nervous and motor system will be more than Dempsey can stand. Firpo's advisers believe that Dempsey will collapse early from the punishment that he receives.

IMPROVES HIS TECHNIQUE.

At that Firpo's boxing technique is improving. He is learning how to use his power more effectively but he is doing it his own way. His handlers figure that he will be a fifty per cent improved fighter when he faces Dempsey but not in boxing form. One reason that De Forest was dropped as trainer was that he insisted on changing Firpo's style of fighting. Lavelle, his new trainer, will have none of that.

All three of the punch catchers, Joe McCann, the Newark heavyweight; Jeff Clarke, the "black ghost" of Joplin, and Natalio Pena, the Argentine Adonis, were badly shaken.

Gotham Clubs Step on Gas, Showing Form

Giants Win From Cubs, While Cincinnati Breaks Even in Two Games.

CHICAGO, Aug. 28. — The league leaders seemed to be back in their form yesterday. The New York Nationals in a sixth inning seven-run rally, defeated the Chicago Cubs, 8 to 4, at the Polo Grounds, while in Cleveland the New York Americans won from the Indians, 10 to 3. This gave the New York Yankee team an even break on their western trip.

The Cincinnati Reds and the Boston Nationals broke even in a double header in Boston, the Cincinnati team taking the first game 8 to 2, and the Boston squad the second, 7 to 0.

The Philadelphia Nationals won over the Cardinals, 12 to 11, in a 11-inning mixup.

The Philadelphia Americans beat the Browns in St. Louis, 4 to 1. The St. Louis players only made four scattered hits.

The Detroit Americans made it three straight over Washington, winning easily 9 to 6.

The Chicago White Sox shut out the Boston Americans, 2 to 0, in Chicago.

Jewels Lost While Sailing at Avalon

AVALON, SANTA CATALINA ISLAND, Cal., Aug. 28. — Jewels owned by Mrs. Florence Dowling, a widow of New York and Boston, and valued by her at $30,000, were lost in the sea while she was yachting here recently, it was reported yesterday.

Mrs. Dowling was a member of a party aboard a yacht owned by J. Black. The jewels were in a hang bag which she laid on a chair for a moment. In that moment the chair was overturned and the bag fell into the water.

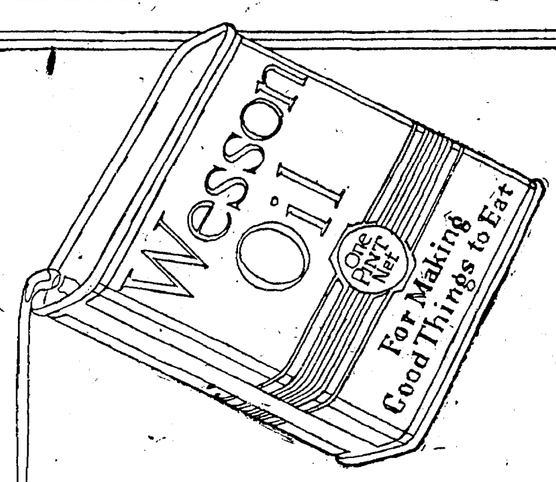
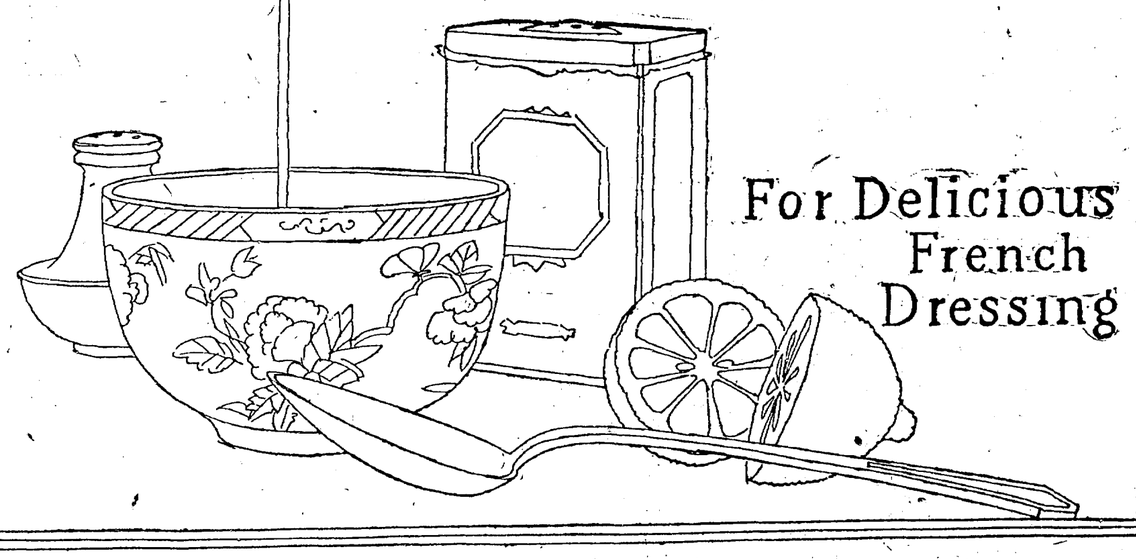
Folger's GOLDEN GATE unusually good Coffee
At Your Grocer's

On crisp green lettuce, cool fresh fruit or cold vegetables—French Dressing—the simplest and yet quite the most sophisticated of all salad dressings.

6 tablespoonfuls of Wesson Oil
2 tablespoonfuls of lemon juice or vinegar
⅓ teaspoonful of salt
A few grains each of paprika and pepper
Stir Well!

Add a little chopped onion or cheese or the crumbled yolk of a hard boiled egg or chives or mustard or Worcestershire Sauce or any seasoning, to give this dressing a new relish whenever you want a change.





Wesson Oil is so pure, clear and light in color that it would be mighty pretty in a glass bottle. Have you ever wondered why, then, we put it in a tin can? The fact is that sunlight—or daylight for that matter—gradually spoils the delicate flavor of an oil. Would you rather have a plain tin can full of the finest oil you ever tasted—and the most delicate in flavor—or a handsome bottle of oil that wasn't as good as we know how to make it? You vote for the tin can, of course. So do we.

WALES TOASTED BY BACHELORS

LONDON, Aug. 28 (By the Associated Press). — Thirty-four bachelor members of the House of Commons reveled in their unfettered estate just before Parliament shut down for the summer. There was plenty of wine and song, but no women were present when the celebate legislators sat down to the banquet table to let loose a flood of stories, jokes and witty remarks upon the joys of the single man and the woes of the wedded.

The first thing the diners did was to toast the Prince of Wales—"the best and most popular bachelor." Then Sir Robert Horne broke loose with some stories, building up to this climax:

"In these days of the rights of women, we are told that the women no longer run after the men. The mouse trap never runs after the mouse."

Lord Hugh Cecil, brother of Lord Robert Cecil of League of Nations fame, picked up a verviette from the table, and holding it high with upraised hand, said he thought the bachelors could have no better emblem "than this piece of pure white linen."

Austin Hopkinson ended his speech by saying that "one of the greatest pleasures of the blessed is in contemplating the tortures of the damned."

Urges Love-Making Be Taught in Church

KALAMAZOO, Mich., Sept. 1.—(United Press).—Love-making is a science and should be taught as other sciences—in church, if not in regular schools.

This was the declaration of Dr. Henry Tralle, New York Sunday school authority, speaking before the Michigan Baptist assembly and training school here.

"Every church should be equipped with a secluded nook in which the young people could do their courting," Dr. Tralle said.

"Girls in the adolescent age should be given sex instruction in church; and should have a wholesome association with the opposite sex. If the church would take more interest in the love affairs of the young people there would be more happy homes."

CZAR MEMORIAL SERVICE IS HELD

SOFIA, Aug. 28 (By the Associated Press.)—The anniversary of the death by Bolshevik violence of Czar Nicholas II and the Russian imperial family was marked recently by an impressive memorial service in the church attached to the Russian embassy in this city.

Russian pilgrims of all classes of society, from nobles to laborers, filled the beautiful structure, which is a gift from Nicholas II.

Each member of the late imperial family was mentioned by name, the priest referring to "thy servant Nikolai," "thy servant Alexandra Feodorovna," "thy servant Alexei," and so with the princesses, Olga, Tatiana, Maria and Anastasia.

It was a devout audience, to which the act of half a dozen years was an event of today.

Pains were taken by the police to exclude all Bolsheviks, for fear they might disturb the services.

Monte Carlo Busy Despite Weather

By GUS OEHM.
United Press Staff Correspondent.

MONTE CARLO (By mail to United Press).—Gambling at the famous casino here is beginning to be an all-year-round proposition.

Summer time is usually respite time around the green tables where the games of chance are played. But this summer, contrary to expectations, promises to break all records for attendance and gambling enthusiasm.

Every table every afternoon and evening is filled with gamblers—and they are not all tourists from the states, as one might think.

"The French themselves are sticking this summer," one of the attendants declared to the United States. "Many of the big hotels in Nice and Monte Carlo, which always closed during the summer season before, are staying open this year because business is so gaad. We are getting a lot of Americans, but a look around the place will show you that the French are here in droves."

A look around proved that very thing. Admitted to the gambling halls without question when an American passport is presented, tourists find the place alive with the seekers after wealth—and the most of them are French.

RARE TREE WRECKED.
(By International News Service.)

GUYSVILLE, Ohio, Sept. 1.—Recent storms have party wrecked the very large pecan tree, planted on the aMrtin Mansfield farm, near here, about 75 years ago. It is the only tree of the kind in this section of Ohio.

Moonshine Trail Now Sunshine

GREAT FALLS, Sept. 1.—The name of the highway from Leth bridge, Alberta, to Great Falls, once notorious as an artery for bootlge liquor, has been changed from the "Moonshine Trail" to the "Sunshine Trail."

There seems to be something significant in the new name, which has now been officially applied to the Alberta-Montana highway, of which A. J. Breitenstein, Great Falls hotel man, has been elected president.

Since there is more "enlightenment" in "sunshine" than in "moonshine," the road is rapidly becoming an important commercial thoroughafre.

The road is a commercial highway, resultant from a Great Falls Commercial Club auto junket taken to Lethbridge in the summer of 1922, and while originally designed from Lethbridge to Great Falls now extends from Butte to Edmonton and in the future may extend from the Mexican border to Alaska.

It runs through the heart of the new Northern Montana oil fields and is the only north and south marked highway from the United States to Canada within a distance of 842 miles along the Canadian border. Alex Ross, commissioner of public works for Calgary, and George Lanstrum, chairman of the Montana State Highway Commission, are honorary presidents.

GRAND CANYON RUN BY CHARTERS

FLAGSTAFF, Ariz., Aug. 28.—The party of government surveyors and explorers which left Lee's Ferry, near the Utah state line, in specially constructed boats August 1, arrived at the foot of Bright Angel trail in the Grand Canyon Saturday after a thrilling journey through the rapids of the Grand and Marble Canyons of the Colorado river. The party is charting a section of the river never before accurately surveyed.

Battling Bug Is Sought For Jersey

By CLARENCE DUBOSE.
United Press Staff Correspondent.

TOKYO, (By mail to the United Press).—American bug-hunters are on the war-path in Japan.

They are looking for a ferocious insect, the more ferocious the better, and when they find the creature, they are going to send him, and as many of his lady and gentleman friends as possible, straight back to America and turn 'em loose on a beetle that's been eating up crops in parts of the United States.

A pair of vertical two-reel Spanish stamps of the issue of 1851 were recently sold for 130,000 francs.

GROWING DEMAND FOR IRRIGATION BONDS IS NOTED

With Development of Water in West Securities Will Increase in Favor.

By HARRIS C. TAYLOR, Of G. E. Miller & Co.

When we consider the comparatively few years that have passed since the practice of irrigation has become such a benefactor in western agricultural life and the increasing number of sound securities now offered investors, representing these political subdivisions of the government, one can only marvel at the progress that has been made by the formation of these districts.

The West has always been more or less productive—with the crops of California farms growing in demand annually. For a number of years there were very few bonds available for investors which possessed the high factor of safety demanded by the more conservative bond buyers.

With the installation of irrigation systems, water is now brought to our farms at just the right time, with the result of a complete revolution in western business. We have always had plenty of sunshine and now water has done the rest.

NATURE IS HELPING.

The very fact that our winters are so short and our water supply abundant, in sures a long growing season. Our farmers do not have to depend upon the rains periodically, but are now able to secure the water as needed. Hence, more crops, more money, more business, has been the outcome.

It must be remembered that the relative productivity of the soil and consequently the securities representing them were not in the position twenty-five years ago they are today. Irrigation then was practically unknown.

Now, with the carrying of abundant water to our agricultural communitieis, the potentialities of irrigation are not hard to realize and already have been realized in an amazing degree.

CONSERVATIVE SECURITY.

Such importance has been attached to irrigation districts and irrigation district bonds which have come to mean conservatism and stability in the investment world, that the state superintendent of banks of the State of California, in his thirteenth annual report, among other things, mentioned the following:

"During the past few years irrigation farming has proved itself and is now recognized as one of the most powerful resources of California. It has had much to do with the development of the arid lands of our state. Land values have increased byq ten times their value over a period of years. While taxation has somewhat increased, yet it is not burdensome because of the enormous yield resulting from the application of water at the proper time.

"It has resulted in a yearly production of diversified crops and increased agricultural and farm output.

"This manner of farming has reached a peak where it has come to stay. It has been tried and proven to be the success which was prophesied for it in the beginning. My close relation to this work is brought about because of my membership in the California and Certification Commission, whose duty it is to see that this great work of irrigation continues to operate in a safe manner and to afford to the vast areas of undeveloped lands in our state the same opportunity to achieve the earning capacity of those under irrigation systems. My principal concern with these organization is their physical condition, management, control and manner of financing."

The irrigation of fertile lansd has come to mean success. Itensive cultivation is now not only possible but extremely profitable and it should not be long before the demand for irrigation district securities greatly exceeds the supply in our eastern as well as our western markets.

COAL.

PHILADELPHIA, Pa., Aug. 28.—The coal needs of the public schools here have been 75 per cent filled by coal already delivered or awaiting delivery. The Board of Education had contracted for 55,264 tons of coal for the winter, but because of limited bin capacity all will not be delivered until after the schools open.

DULUTH, Minn., Aug. 28.—Coal loadings of the last week have put 102,390 tons in transit for the Northwest. These figured compared with 145,399 the same week last year. Shipments for the season up to August 20 were 17,002,045 tons.

Say you saw it in The TRIBUNE.

Sept. Payments Will Aggregate 258 Millions

DIVIDEND and interest payments next month will reach a total of $258,416,000. This compares with $242,165,500 in September a year ago. Stockholders will receive in the aggregate the sum of $57,216,000, against $55,265,500. The returns indicate that some corporations have either increased or resumed dividends as compared with last year.

Interest payments will amount to $201,200,000 in 1922. The government will disburse approximately $84,000,000. These figures show a large increase. Semi-annual interest on the Third Liberty [illegible] per cent bonds is payable September 15, which goes to make up a large part of this total. [illegible] pay out more [illegible] a year ago owing [illegible] bond issues.

BUSINESS and FINANCE

By H. S. SCOTT.

Speculators for the advance brought another sharp rise in prices in today's New York stock market.

Buying embraced a wide list but sugars, oils and chemicals gave the best demonstrations of group strength. Sales approximated 650,000 shares.

The market became stronger and more active as trading progressed in the morning with the buying most effective in the equipments, oils, sugars, coppers, independent steels, chemicals and motor accessories. Baldwin, DuPont and Beechnut each extended their gains to two points and Bransdall A. Royal Dutch, General Asphalt, Davison Chemical, Stromberg Carburetor, and American Locomotive were among the many issues up a point or more. Foreign exchanges opened irregular.

Trading continued to be a largely professional affair during the morning with the line of least resistance upward. Sugars and chemicals again led the advance but some excellent gains also were recorded in several other groups. Railroad shares were active and stronger despite the spotty character of the July earnings reports. The quality of the buying power in several special issues reported to have induced extensive short covering there being little indication of any active outside participation. Fisher Body climbed 8 points to 185. Woolworth was the only outstanding heavy spot, losing half of its 7½ point gain of yesterday. Call money opened at 5¼ per cent, the stiffer rates being due to government withdrawals and preparation for month-end settlements.

The tone of the stock market became stronger as the session progressed, a considerable number of shares ruling two points or more above the previous close. Industrials and specialties were foremost in the rise, with the demand including many issues which are not ordinarily dealt in to a large extent. Loose Wiles jumped ¾, Baldwin 2¾ and Stromberg Carburetor, Hide and Leather preferred, national lead Marland oil, Pure Oil, International Paper, Western Union and Virginia Coal and Chemical Preferred 2 to 2½.

The closing was strong. Fresh buying was supplied to balance-taking sales in the late dealings and prices generally closed the high levels of the day.

Irregularly higher prices characterized today's early and quiet trading in bonds. Mexican 4's advanced two points on further formation of reports that full diplomatic relations would soon be restored between the United States and Mexico. Framerican 7½'s dropped one point, other changes in the foreign group being fractional. U. S. Government bonds fluctuated within narrow margins. Chicago & Alton 3's up two, featured the railroad list.

SIGNS OF FALL TRADE ACTIVITY ARE APPEARING.

While many adverse factors have retarded the appearance of the usual signs of autumn improvement in trade, they are now beginning to appear. The decline in pig iron apparent has been halted and coke and zinc prices have rallied. Heavy deliveries of steel during the summer were absorbed more readily than many had expected.

Meanwhile railroad buying has been a strong supporting influence. Railroad earning statements for July are beginning to appear and for the most part gross revenues exceed those of a year ago and the previous month. Larger expenditures for maintenance, however, has resulted in some decline in net operating income. With the grain movement getting under way and autumn just around the corner, the carriers fortified by record earnings for seven months of the year, are facing the future with confidence.

In the commodity markets, northeast cotton spinners apparently have become convinced that the long continued drought in the Southwest is going to cut down appreciably this year's crop and the speculative buying of print cloths in the Fall River market last week was the heaviest in nearly a year. Wheat, under the stimulus of a shorter crop in prospect in Canada, enjoyed a brisk rise.

RAILWAY MORTGAGES ARE FINDING ACTIVE MARKET.

Aside from speculative fluctuations in foreign bonds, trading in bonds during the past week disclosed a firm undertone with net changes relatively small. New offerings for the week totaled $30,376,000 as compared with $42,041,000 the preceding week. Of last week's total $24,275,000 were railroad mortgages which the offering bankers stated were readily sold.

Mexican bonds improved on announcement that a formal statement may be expected soon extending American government recognition to that republic. South American bonds moved within narrow limits with net changes relatively unimportant.

Despite several cabled dispatches from Buenos Aires to the effect that the Argentine government had decided to accept the offer of an American syndicate for a sixty million dollar loan to refund its short term debt in tthis country. New York bankers indicated that formal agreement on details had not yet been concluded. The offer, however, is expected during the week.

Erie Railroad bonds were heavily traded in, advances in the various issues ranging from a point to more than 3 points. Railroad mortgages generally were about evenly divided between gains and losses with net changes comparatively small.

Chief offerings of the week were $14,000,000 5 per cent 80-year mortgage bonds of the Louisville & Nashville Railroad Company at prices to yield 5.25 per cent, and $6,000,000 5 per cent one to fifteen-year equipment trust certificates of the same road at prices to yield 5.25 per cent; and $4,275,000 5 per cent one to fifteen-year New York, Chicago & St. Louis Railroad Company equipment trust certificates at prices to yield 5.25 to 5.40 per cent.

RAY COPPER EARNS 36 CENTS FOR JUNE QUARTER.

The Ray Consolidated Copper Company reports for the quarter ended June 30 a surplus of $571,145, after all taxes, but before provision for depreciation. This is equivalent to 36 cents a share earned on the 1,577,179 shares of the $10 par value capital stock outstanding. A surplus of $488,424, 31 cents a share, was earned in the preceding quarter and in the corresponding quarter of 1922 a deficit of $247,867 was reported.

The company produced 16,327,699 pounds of refined copper in the second quarter of the current year, which compares with 14,009,441 pounds in the preceding three months. During the second quarter 686,000 tons of ore were treated, an average of 7538 tons a day, compared with an average of 6473 tons during the preceding quarter.

MOTHER LODE REPORTS MILLION PROFITS IN 6 MOS.

The net profits of the Mother Lode Coalition Mines Company in the six months ended June 30 last amounted to $1,086,178. The company produced 14,936,959 pounds of copper at an average cost, delivered to the consumer after charging depreciation and taxes and crediting silver, of 7.27 cents per pound. The net profits were derived from the sale of 11,906,257 pounds of copper, the average price received having been 15.939 cents per pound.

AGRICULTURAL SHIPMENTS STEADILY INCREASING.

The volume of shipments of agricultural products is steadily increasing now, and will probably reach its peak within six weeks. Latest reports of all rail shipments of such freight shows a total that is substantially less than for 1922. Flour shipments at Chicago were 117,000 barrels last week, as against 228,000 the year before. This figure covers the all rail movement only. Shipments by lake boats were ahead of last year's, totaling 48,000 barrels, as against 2921. Grain shipments were 2,089,000 bushels by rail, which compares with 3,132,000 a year ago. Lake shipments totaled 2,476,000, as against 5,310,000 in 1922. Shipments of provisions show a gain from 2921 last year to 3777 this year.

WAY BEING CLEARED FOR NEW RAIL GROUPING.

A clearing of the ground for the eventual consolidation of all the railroads in this country on the grounds of broad national public interest is seen by several railroad men as the motive of the Interstate Commerce Commission in permitting the Illinois Central to build a 165-mile cut-off from points in southern Illinois to Kentucky, decreasing the mileage from New Orleans to Chicago by about twenty-five miles. This decision establishes as a precedent that national interests overrule those of any particular locality, the state of Illinois and various civic bodies having protested that the building of the cut-off would hurt many cities and towns situated along the present line. The commission expressly makes this point in its decision.

P. G. & E. ADDS 55,587 NEW CUSTOMERS IN LAST YEAR.

In the twelve months ended July 31, 1923, the Pacific Gas and Electric company made a net addition of 55,587 customers, bringing the total number of consumers served on that date up to 672,324. Of the new service connections, 30,358 were for electricity, 24,553 for gas, and 676 for water and steam-heating. In the first seven months of the current year, the net addition of new customers was 27,060, as compared with 17,768 in the first seven months of 1922.

As the installation of new service connections is not only an accurate barometer of the trend of the company's business, but also an excellent indication of building activity and increase of population, the fact is of interest that the addition of 55,587 customers in the twelve months to July 31, 1923, compares with an increase of 34,367 in the twelve months to July 31, 1922, and of 32,953 in the twelve months to July 31, 1921. The current increase is by far the largest in the company's history for any like period. It necessarily follows that building and industrial activity have likewise been proceeding at an unprecedented rate.

SOUTHWESTERN UTILITIES SHOWS GROWING INCOME.

Freeman, Smith & Camp Co. announces the receipt of semi-annual consolidated earnings statement of the Southwestern Utilities Corporation, which, in addition to its operations in Kansas, controls supply and distribution, under exclusive franchise, of natural gas in Edmonton, Alberta, for the six months ending June 30. The earnings are at the rate of 2¾ times interest requirements. Progress of the company is indicated in a comparison of these figures for six months, with the twelve months figures of preceding years. Net earnings of the Southwestern Utilities Corporation available for interest, sinking fund, taxes and reserves for 1921 were $168,738, and for 1922 were $262,734. July net earnings, detail figures for which are not yet available, were the greatest in the history of the corporation. Deliveries of gas by the company for 1921 totaled 4,267,791,000 cubic feet, 1922 were 4,494,463,000 cubic feet, for the first half of 1923 were 3,154,000,000 cubic feet.

CAR LOADING OF MILLION A WEEK NEW RAIL RECORD

Shortage in Equipment Is Over, Despite Large Freight Movement.

How Southern Pacific and the other railroads in the first six months of 1923 have handled the largest tonnage in any six months of their history and in this period have transformed a car shortage into a car surplus is shown by J. H. Dyer, general manager of the Southern Pacific Company, in a statement today on the transportation situation.

"The railroads loaded more than 4,000,000 freight cars in both May and June this year," said Dyer. "Although this was the heaviest traffic ever carried by American railroads in a similar period, the car shortage which had continued since the fall of 1922, was wiped out and was replaced by a car surplus.

SURPLUS INCREASES.

"Despite this record-breaking movement, the number of freight cars in good repair and immediately available for use continued to increase so that on July 31 a surplus of 76,453 serviceable freight cars was recorded. The surplus was attained in spite of the fact that for the week ending July 28 there were loaded 1,041,044 freight cars, the largest number for any week in the history of the country.

"Efficiency of railroad operation, probably never before equalled, did this. Team work played a big part—team work among the railroads and the shippers, and between the management and men within the various individual railroad organizations.

"In meeting the heaviest transportation demands in American history with increased service the railroads appealed to the sporting instinct of all concerned. They fixed certain definite high standards of operating efficiency and then set out to beat them, just as a golfer attempts to beat "par" or a baseball player tries to beat a batting average of .400.

"In getting their motive power into the best of condition the railroads as a whole increased the number of serviceable locomotives from 75.9 per cent on January 1 to 83.8 per cent on July 1, almost to the 85 per cent goal.

"By July 1, Southern Pacific had 86.3 per cent of its locomotives in first-class condition and available for immediate service.

"The railroads as a whole increased the number of freight cars in serviceable condition from 90.5 per cent on January 1 to 91.6 per cent on July 1.

"Southern Pacific made another outstanding record in this work, increasing the number of serviceable cars from 94.3 per cent to 96.6 per cent, thus beating the national goal. This reduction in bad order freight cars by the Southern Pacific means the adding of 301 serviceable cars to the supply available to shippers. Compared with conditions two years ago this single element of increased efficiency means 1961 more cars available at the end of June, 1923, than at the same time in 1921.

"Progress made by the riloads in repair of rolling stock is indicated by the fact that 38,000 repired locomotives and cars were turned out of the railroad shops each month during the first six months of 1923 as compared with 21,000 per month during the same period last year.

HEAVY LOADING.

"The heavy loading of cars for all railroads increased from 27.8 tons in April to twenty-eight tons in May, the latest month for which complete data are vailable. This is the highest mark for any May since 1917. The goal set is thirty tons.

"Besides making successful efforts to increse their operating efficiency, the railroads from January 1, 1922, to March 15, 1923, either actually expended or authorized expenditure of pproximately $1,540,000,000 for equipment and other facilities. In the first six months of 1923 the railroads placed 79,240 new freight cars in service and 1998 locomotives. On July 1 a total of 96,855 freight cars and 1902 locomotives which had been ordered were yet to be delivered.

"Southern Pacific is taking delivery this year for the Pacific System of fifty locomotives of the latest and most powerful type, in addition to a similar number, costing $4,000,000, delivered last year. Other rolling stock ordered for the Pacific System this year, including 4225 new freight cars but excluding new refrigerator cars, will cost more than $12,000,000.

"For the movement of perishables the Pacific Fruit Express Company, owned jointly by Southern Pacific and Union Pacific, has ordered 5030 new standard refrigerator cars which will cost $18,000,000, in addition to the 3300 which were ordered for last year, but which were not delivered until after the peak of last season, owing to disturbed industrial conditions. Although it is estimated the car supply for perishables will be increased by the peak of this season, 50 per cent over 1922.

Pure Oil People Buy Control of Humphreys Co.

Deal Involves Over 22 Millions; Large Contracts Are Involved.

NEW YORK, Aug. 28.—Negotiations for the sale of the Humphreys Oil company to the Pure Oil company at $50 a share has been closed, and the formal delivery of controlling stock will be made this week, says a dispatch from Denver.

As the Pure Oil company already owns close to 25 per cent of the 600,000 shares of Humphreys Oil, the transaction involves about $22,500,000. The payment for the Humphreys Oil stock will be made at intervals over a year, with a large initial payment.

Pure Oil will acquire from Humphreys Oil not only the outstanding stock of the company, but also 60 000 shares of Pure Oil common now in the Humphreys Oil treasury, and its interest in Humphreys Pure Oil company, which is erecting a refinery at Smith's Point on the Houston Ship Canal and has in storage about 6,000,000 barrels of crude oil.

Pure Oil will take over the contract with the Prairie Oil and Gas company and Sinclair Consolidated Oil corporation, for delivery to them of 66,000,000 barrels of crude from the Mexia and Currie pools.

The contract price for the oil, of which about 18 000,000 barrels has already been delivered is $1.50 a barrel, irrespective of the posted price.

COLUMBUS, O., Aug. 28.—B. G. Dawes, president of the Pure Oil company, said today that his company now owns twenty-five per cent of the stock of the Humphreys Oil company, and that it is making efforts to purchase the outstanding seventy-five per cent now held by the general public.

24 MILLION LOAN IS ARRANGED BY ASSOCIATED OIL

Another Ten Million to Be Raised By Stock Sales For Development Work.

The Associated Oil Company is preparing to embark in a huge development and storage campaign, and to provide funds has sold to Kuhn, Loeb and Company of New York $24,000,000 of twelve-year 6 per cent gold notes. An additional $10,000,000 will be provided by the issuance of $10,000,000 of new common stock at par, to be sold direct to stockholders.

SHOUP TELLS OF DEAL.

President Shoup of the Associated Oil Company issued the following statement of the transactions today:

"The Associated Oil Company has sold to Kuhn-Loeb & Co. of New York $24,000,000 of 6 per cent sinking fund gold notes. In addition, the board of directors has authorized the sale of $10,000,000 of the common stock at par. It will be offered to the stockholders accordingly in proportion to their holdings. The Pacific Oil Company has underwritten the sale at par without expense to the Associated Oil Company, which means that any stock not taken by the present owners of Associated Oil Company by November 15 will be purchased by the Pacific Oil Company at par.

"The proceeds will be used to buy oil for storage and create necessary facilities incident thereto, to pay short-term loans already incurred in connection with similar investments and in addition to redeem $5,084,000 of first re funding mortgage bonds being the total bond issue outstanding, and for such other corporate purposes as may be found desirable."

It is assumed that Kuhn, Loeb & Co. will distribute the gold note issue throughout the East, although some proportion may be offered here. The stockholders, who are permitted to subscribe for the $10,000,000, are located both in California and throughout the country.

DEVELOPMENT PROGRAM.

Large purchases of the oil for storage are being made in the San Joaquin valley, but the corporation is also at present buying heavily from many large producers in the southern producing regions of California. The storage will be in Southern California and at the Avon refineries to the east of Martinez. Oil will be brought by boats to the refineries.

On September 1, 1923, and semi-annually thereafter on March 1 and September 1 of each year, until all of the notes shall have been retired, the company will provide a sinking fund of $1,230,000, or such greater amount as the company shall determine, to be used by it to retire the notes, by purchases in the market if obtainable at not exceeding 102½ per cent and accrued interest, or to the extent not so obtainable by redemption at that price upon the next interest date, all in he manner to be provided in the trust indenture.

It is understood that the notes will be offered for subscription at 100 per cent and accrued interest.

WIRE SUMMARY

By E. F. HUTTON WIRE.

The heavy passenger travel of the last year will result in the Pullman Company's forthcoming annual report making the best showing in several years. It is understood that net earnings will be equivalent to around $12 a share on the stock, or considerably above the annual dividend rate of $8. In the preceding year the company incurred a deficit after paying dividends.

John V. McMahon has resigned as president of the Sinclair Oil and Gas Company. He will be succeeded by R. A. Griffith, vice-president of that Company.

The American Rolling Mill Company for the six months ended June 30, 1923, reports net earnings of $1,210,813, before interest charges and Federal taxes.

The mechanical rubber goods business of the Republic Rubber Company in 1923 to date was 100 per cent larger than for the corresponding period of 1922, and the volume of the 1922 period was 38 per cent larger than for the like period of the preceding year, says an official of the company.

Reports that George P. Ide & Co., Inc., will shortly enter the merger of Lion Collars and Shirts, Inc., and the William Barker Company, denied.

The annual report of the American Public Utilities Company and its subsidiaries for the year ended June 30, 1923, shows net earnings of $3,838,821 and balance available for dividends on the parent company's stock of $2,418. Gross earnings amounted to $10,518,809, compared with $,523,239 in 1922.

The McCrory Stores Corporation reports sales for July of $1,618,929, compared with $1,289,264 in the same month last year.

The sales of the Simmons Company for the seven months ended July 31 were $20,512,886, an increase of $7,086,045 over the corresponding period last year.

The report of the United Paper Board Company for the year ended May 26 shows a net income of $346,275 after charges, taxes and depreciation. This is equal, after provision for the preferred dividends, to $2.65 a share on the $10,055,000 outstanding common stock. For the year previous the company reported a net loss of $481,355.

Farmers Are Now Solving Own Troubles

CHICAGO, Aug. 28.—Farmers are solving their problems through the regular channel of business, W. W. Powell, of Washington, D. C., secretary of the American Association of Joint Stock Banks, declared at the fiftieth annual meeting here.

Sixty-nine joint stock land banks, doing business in 36 states and making loans in the last fiscal year of more than $233,000,000, are represented at the convention.

"More than 50 per cent of the farms in the country are free from debt," Mr. Powell declared. Iowa, he said, leads in the amount of loans on farm mortgages by all systems of lending, this total being about $500,000,000.

The two federal farm loan systems, the land banks and co-operative banks, have loaned Iowa farmers more than $75,000,000; Illinois is second with between six and seven per cent of this total.

HARVESTING OF SAN LEANDRO'S TOMATOES BEGUN

Crop Is Large and Unless Rain Interferes Returns Promise Well.

First picking of tomatoes has started in the fields around San Leandro. It is estimated that there are approximately 1000 acres of farm land in the immediate vicinity of San Leandro planted to tomatoes this year.

Present indications are that the crop this year will be extremely good and that market conditions will be at least normally promising. Canners throughout the state have already contracted to buy tomatoes for 15 a ton.

Tomatoes this year were a bit slow in coming on to the market because of the cool weather experienced this summer, but the heat of the past few days has brought the crop to a rapid final development. Farmers are feeling some fear that a continuance of yesterday's rain may be experienced, in which case the crop will be seriously curtailed. The rain, which was very slight, has, it is generally conceded, been of more benefit than harm to the crop generally.

COMMODITY NEWS

WHEAT.

DENVER, Colo., Aug. 28.—The condition of both spring and winter wheat has suffered a decline during the past month, according to the Colorado co-operative crop reporting service. The preliminary winter wheat estimate now is 15,327,000 bushels, compared with a July forecast of 16,743,000 bushels. The spring wheat estimate shows a decline of 162,000 bushels.

KANSAS CITY, Mo., Aug. 28.—Business interests here and in Wichita, Hutchinson, Dodge City and other Kansas towns are raising a fund of $300,000 to purchase seed wheat for farmers in the sixteen southwestern counties of Kansas where crops failed this year. Contributors are to be given one-fifth of the crop. Already $125,000 has been raised.

STEEL.

CLEVELAND, Ohio, Aug. 28.—The change to the eight-hour shift in the steel mills of Cleveland and the Mahoning valley has occasioned a good demand for labor. The few misunderstandings about wages were quickly explained and the blow-out of a few blast furnaces set free quite a quota of men, who were promptly absorbed into other departments.

FISH.

PORTLAND, Ore., Aug. 28.—The annual catch of Columbia river salmon, just completed, indicates a pack of 515,000 full cases, the wholesale value of which is conservatively estimated at over $6,000,000. The pack, though only about 50 per cent of normal, was larger than in 1921 or 1922.

POULTRY.

SAN ANTONIO, Texas, Aug. 28.—The Texas turkey crop today is the best in years. Dry weather all summer gave the young birds a chance to range and grow strong and it is expected the losses between now and the holidays will be extremely small.

COTTON MARKET

NEW YORK, Aug. 28.—Realizing sales in October and January options with scattered foreign selling accounted for the slightly lower [prices] in the cotton market at the opening today. The shorts were also active. December was three points higher at the start, but the other months were from 1 to 9 points lower, January sustaining the [illegible]

The market closed barely steady, 3[illegible] points lower.

WIRE SUMMARY

New York Central reports net operating income for July of $7,68,000, an increase of $746,000 over July, 1922; for seven months, $47,448,000, an increase of $17,846,000.

Thirty-four railways reporting for July show aggregate net operating income of $4,436,000 against $33,946,000 for July last year.

Russian government and Harry Sinclair have signed the agreement to prospect for oil on Sakalin Island.

Polish cabinet approves the plan for loan of $100,000,000 from Morgan, Harjes and Company of Paris.

Sale of the Humphreys Oil Company to the Pure Oil Company at $50 a share has been closed. Transaction involved $32,000,000.

EASTERN MARKETS

CHICAGO, Aug. 28.—Weakness in the market at Liverpool was reflected on this side of the Atlantic, and the wheat market here today had a downward swing during the early dealings. Bears were further encouraged by a report from Buenos Aires which predicted a more favorable outlook for a substantial crop in the Argentine, because of the recent heavy rains in needed sections. These, it was pointed out, will benefit the growing crop of wheat. A decrease in sterling exchange also was a weakening feature. Trading was light at the outset. Opening prices, which ranged from ¼ to ⅝c lower, with December $1.07 to $1.07¼ and May $1.12¼ to $1.12¾, were followed by a further decline all around.

Corn and oats followed the easier tone in the wheat market. After starting ⅛c higher to ⅛@⅜c lower, with December 67¼ to 67⅝c, the corn market underwent a slight additional setback on all deliveries.

Oats started unchanged too ⅛c off with December 39½ to 39⅝c and later continued to sag.

CANADA'S WHEAT POOL PLAN GOES OVER FOR YEAR

Organization to Handle 100 Million Bushels Expected For Next Crop.

BY CONSOLIDATED PRESS. SPECIAL TO TRIBUNE.

NEW YORK, Aug. 28.—Plans for the co-operative marketing of the banner wheat crop of Canada must go over for another year. Announcement of another postponement makes it certain that they cannot be made effective this season. It was hoped that the plans, sponsored by President Wood of the United Farmers of Alberta, to form a central selling agency could be put into effect at once, but while the movement attained considerable momentum in Alberta, not enough producers of the other provinces joined it to assure success.

The plan provided for a separate pool for each province, with a central board of control. Aaron Sapiro of California, an expert in co-operative marketing, went to Alberta and outlined the scheme, and while the governor of the province is reported to have received it with favor, no official endorsement was given. Farmers, millers and warehousemen were enlisted to serve on committees to bring the plan to completion, but it is reported in American grain circles that a number of these key men have recently resigned.

STILL POPULAR.

The popularity of the plan, however has not been destroyed. Reports from Duluth indicated that a concerted effort is under way in Saskatchewan and other western provinces so that the organization may be in active operation by next spring and prepared to function in time for the annual harvest in 1924.

One of the chief difficulties which arose was the percentage of initial payment to farmers, many of whom objected to waiting any extended period for their money. It was proposed to pay the grower 75 per cent of the prevailing price for wheat on delivery at elevators and the balance at the end of the shipping season, when complete accounting would be made for the year. Many farmers inclined to agree to wait for several months for this final 25 per cent. In addition, misunderstandings have arisen as to details of operation, all of which, it is expected, will be ironed out during the coming winter.

GOVERNMENT SIDESTEPS.

Originally it was proposed that the Canadian government finance the proposed provincial pools, but this plan met with little favor from Dominion officials. It was then proposed that the provinces finance their own pools. This met approval in Alberta and Saskatchewan, but Manitoba failed to indorse the proposal. As the Alberta and Saskatchewan banks agreed to advance the 75 per cent of the selling price to the farmers on delivery of their wheat, it is expected that the system will become effective in those districts next year

If such is the case, the central selling agencies are expected to handle at least 100,000,000 bushels of wheat for export in 1924, or about one-third of the amount of Canadian wheat which will be exported this year.

The company declared dividends of $7257 during the year, leaving an accumulated surplus at the end of the year of $23,388.

Labor Conditions "Close to Ideal"

CLEVELAND, O., Aug. 28.—Labor conditions throughout the Cleveland district are characterized by various agencies as "close to ideal." There is little involuntary unemployment, the slack in some lines having been thoroughly absorbed in others. Textile manufacturers are running steadily and re-orders are furnishing considerable business which had not been counted on. The demand for fall goods is fully up to expectations.

Consumption of iron ore in July was not so large as in June, according to figures just made available by the Lake Superior Iron Ore association, the amount totalling 5,747,356 tons against 5,815,129 in June. Ore on hand at all furnaces and at the Lake Erie ore docks August 1 was 27,503,483 tons against [illegible] 303 tons on August 1, 1922.

GROWING DEMAND FOR IRRIGATION BONDS IS NOTED

With Development of Water in West Securities Will Increase in Favor.

By HARRIS C. TAYLOR, Of G. E. Miller & Co.

When we consider the comparatively few years that have passed since the practice of irrigation has become such a benefactor in western agricultural life and the increasing number of sound securities now offered investors, representing these political subdivisions of the government, one can only marvel at the progress that has been made by the formation of these districts.

The West has always been more or less productive—with the crops of California farms growing in demand annually. For a number of years there were very few bonds available for investors which possessed the high factor of safety demanded by the more conservative bond buyers.

With the installation of irrigation systems, water is now brought to our farms at just the right time, with the result of a complete revolution in western business. We have always had plenty of sunshine and now water has done the rest.

NATURE IS HELPING.

The very fact that our winters are so short and our water supply abundant, in sures a long growing season. Our farmers do not have to depend upon the rains periodically, but are now able to secure the water as needed. Hence, more crops, more money, more business, has been the outcome.

It must be remembered that the relative productivity of the soil and consequently the securities representing them were not in the position twenty-five years ago they are today. Irrigation then was practically unknown.

Now, with the carrying of abundant water to our agricultural communities, the potentialities of irrigation are not hard to realize and already have been realized in an amazing degree.

CONSERVATIVE SECURITY.

Such importance has been attached to irrigation districts and irrigation district bonds which have come to mean conservatism and stability in the investment world, that of the state superintendent of banks of the State of California, in his thirteenth annual report, among other things, mentioned the following:

"During the past few years irrigation farming has proved itself and is now recognized as one of the most powerful resources of California. It has had much to do with the development of the arid lands of our state. Land values have increased byq ten times their value over a period of years. While taxation has somewhat increased, yet it is not burdensome because of the enormous yield resulting from the application of water at the proper time.

"It has resulted in a yearly production of diversified crops and increased agricultural and farm output.

"This manner of farming has reached a peak where it has come to stay. It has been tried and proven to be the success which was prophesied for it in the beginning. My close relation to this work is brought about because of my membership in the California and Certification Commission, whose duty it is to see that this great work of irrigation continues to operate in a safe manner and to afford to the vast areas of undeveloped lands in our state the same opportunity to achieve the earning capacity of those under irrigation systems. My principal concern with these organization is their physical condition, management, control and manner of finacing."

The irrigation of fertile lansd has come to mean success. Itensive cultivation is now not only possible but extremely profitable and it should not be long before the demand for irrigation district securities greatly exceeds the supply in our eastern as well as our western markets.

COAL.

PHILADELPHIA, Pa., Aug. 28.—The coal needs of the public schools here have been 75 per cent filled by coal already delivered or awaiting delivery. The Board of Education had contracted for 55,264 tons of coal for the winter, but because of limited bin capacity all will not be delivered until after the schools open.

DULUTH, Minn., Aug. 28.—Coal loadings of the last week have put 102,390 tons in transit for the Northwest. These figured compared with 145,999 the same week last year. Shipments for the season up to August 20 were 17,002,045 tons.

Sept. Payments Will Aggregate 258 Millions

DIVIDEND and interest payments next month will reach a total of $258,416,000. This compares with $242,165,500 in September a year ago. Stockholders will receive in the aggregate the sum of $57,216,000, against $55,265,500. The returns indicate that some corporations have either increased or resumed dividends as compared with last year.

Interest payments will amount to $[illegible]1,200,000 in 1922. The government will disburse approximately $84,000,000. These figures show a large increase. Semi-annual interest on the Third Liberty 4¼ per cent bonds is payable September 15, which goes to make up a large part of this total. Corporations pay out more [illegible] than a year ago owing to [illegible] new and bond issues.

BUSINESS and FINANCE

By H. S. SCOTT.

Speculators for the advance brought another sharp rise in prices in today's New York stock market.

Buying embraced a wide list but sugars, oils and chemicals gave the best demonstrations of group strength. Sales approximated 650,000 shares.

The market became stronger and more active as trading progressed in the morning with the buying most effective in the equipments, oils, sugars, coppers, independent steels, chemicals and motor accessories. Baldwin, DuPont and Beechnut each extended their gains to two points and Bransdall A, Royal Dutch, General Asphalt, Davison Chemical, Stromberg Carburetor, and American Locomotive were among the many issues up a point or more. Foreign exchanges opened irregular.

Trading continued to be a largely professional affair during the morning with the line of least resistance upward. Sugars and chemicals again led the advance but some excellent gains also were recorded in several other groups. Railroad shares were active and stronger despite the spotty character of the July earnings reports. The quality of the buying power in several special issues reported to have induced extensive short covering there being little indication of any active outside participation. Fisher Body climbed 8 points to 185. Woolworth was the only outstanding heavy spot, losing half of its 7½ point gain of yesterday. Call money opened at 5¼ per cent, the stiffer rates being due to government withdrawals and preparation for month-end settlements.

The tone of the stock market became stronger as the session progressed, a considerable number of shares ruling two points or more above the previous close. Industrials and specialties were foremost in the rise, with the demand including many issues which are not ordinarily dealt in to a large extent. Loose Wiles jumped ¾, Baldwin 2¾ and Stromberg Carburetor, Hide and Leather preferred, national lead Marland oil, Pure Oil, International Paper, Western Union and Virginia Coal and Chemical Preferred 2 to 2½.

The closing was strong. Fresh buying was supplied to balance-taking sales in the late dealings and prices generally closed the high levels of the day.

Irregularly higher prices characterized today's early and quiet trading in bonds. Mexican 4's advanced two points on further formation of reports that full diplomatic relations would soon be restored between the United States and Mexico. Framerican 7½'s dropped one point, other changes in the foreign group being fractional. U. S. Government bonds fluctuated within narrow margins. Chicago & Alton 3's up two, featured the railroad list.

SIGNS OF FALL TRADE ACTIVITY ARE APPEARING.

While many adverse factors have retarded the appearance of the usual signs of autumn improvement in trade, they are now beginning to appear. The decline in pig iron apparentl has been halted and coke and zinc prices have rallied. Heavy deliveries of steel during the summer were absorbed more readily than many had expected.

Meanwhile railroad buying has been a strong supporting influence. Railroad earning statements for July are beginning to appear and for the most part gross revenues exceed those of a year ago and the previous month. Larger expenditures for maintenance, however, has resulted in some decline in net operating income. With the grain movement getting under way and autumn just around the corner, the carriers fortified by record earnings for seven months of the year, are facing the future with confidence.

In the commodity markets, northeast cotton spinners apparently have become convinced that the long continued drought in the Southwest is going to cut down appreciably this year's crop and the speculative buying of print cloths in the Fall River market last week was the heaviest in nearly a year. Wheat, under the stimulus of a shorter crop in prospect in Canada, enjoyed a brisk rise.

RAILWAY MORTGAGES ARE FINDING ACTIVE MARKET.

Aside from speculative fluctuations in foreign bonds, trading in bonds during the past week disclosed a firm undertone with net changes relatively small. New offerings for the week totaled $30,376,000 as compared with $42,041,000 the preceding week. Of last week's total $24,275,000 were railroad mortgages which the offering bankers stated were readily sold.

Mexican bonds improved on announcement that a formal statement may be expected soon extending American government recognition to that republic. South American bonds moved within narrow limits with net changes relatively unimportant.

Despite several cabled dispatches from Buenos Aires to the effect that the Argentine government had decided to accept the offer of an American syndicate for a sixty million dollar loan to refund its short term debt in this country, New York bankers indicated that formal agreement on details had not yet been concluded. The offer, however, is expected during the week.

Erie Railroad bonds were heavily traded in, advances in the various issues ranging from a point to more than 3 points. Railroad mortgages generally were about evenly divided between gains and losses with net changes comparatively small.

Chief offerings of the week were $14,000,000 5 per cent 80-year mortgage bonds of the Louisville & Nashville Railroad Company at prices to yield 5.25 per cent, and $6,000,000 5 per cent one to fifteen-year equipment trust certificates of the same road at prices to yield 5.25 per cent; and $4,275,000 5 per cent one to fifteen-year New York, Chicago & St. Louis Railroad Company equipment trust certificates at prices to yield 5.25 to 5.40 per cent.

RAY COPPER EARNS 36 CENTS FOR JUNE QUARTER.

The Ray Consolidated Copper Company reports for the quarter ended June 30 a surplus of $571,145, after all taxes, but before provision for depreciation. This is equivalent to 36 cents a share earned on the 1,577,179 shares of the $10 par value capital stock outstanding. A surplus of $488,424, 31 cents a share, was earned in the preceding quarter and in the corresponding quarter of 1922 a deficit of $247,867 was reported.

The company produced 16,327,699 pounds of refined copper in the second quarter of the current year, which compared with 14,009,441 pounds in the preceding three months. During the second quarter 686,000 tons of ore were treated, an average of 7538 tons a day, compared with an average of 6473 tons during the preceding quarter.

MOTHER LODE REPORTS MILLION PROFITS IN 6 MOS.

The net profits of the Mother Lode Coalition Mines Company in the six months ended June 30 last amounted to $1,085,178. The company produced 14,936,959 pounds of copper at an average cost, delivered to the consumer after charging depreciation and taxes and crediting silver, of 7.27 cents per pound. The net profits were derived from the sale of 11,906,257 pounds of copper, the average price received having been 15.939 cents per pound.

AGRICULTURAL SHIPMENTS STEADILY INCREASING.

The volume of shipments of agricultural products is steadily increasing now, and will probably reach its peak within six weeks. Latest reports of all rail shipments of such freight shows a total that is substantially less than for 1922. Flour shipments at Chicago were 117,000 barrels last week, as against 228,000 the year before. This figure covers the all rail movement only. Shipments by lake boats were ahead of last year's, totaling 48,000 barrels, as against 2921. Grain shipments were 2,089,000 bushels by rail, which compares with 3,132,000 a year ago. Lake shipments totaled 2,475,000, as against 5,310,000 in 1922. Shipments of provisions show a gain from 2921 last year to 3777 this year.

WAY BEING CLEARED FOR NEW RAIL GROUPING.

A clearing of the ground for the eventual consolidation of all the railroads in this country on the grounds of broad national public interest is seen by several railroad men as the motive of the Interstate Commerce Commission in permitting the Illinois Central to build a 165-mile cut-off from points in southern Illinois to Kentucky, decreasing the mileage from New Orleans to Chicago by about twenty-five miles. This decision establishes as a precedent that national interests overrule those of any particular locality, the state of Illinois and various civic bodies having protested that the building of the cut-off would hurt many cities and towns situated along the present line. The commission expressly makes this point in its decision.

P. G. & E. ADDS 55,587 NEW CUSTOMERS IN LAST YEAR.

In the twelve months ended July 31, 1923, the Pacific Gas and Electric company made a net addition of 55,587 customers, bringing the total number of consumers served on that date up to 672,324. Of the new service connections, 30,358 were for electricity, 24,553 for gas, and 676 for water and steam-heating. In the first seven months of the current year, the net addition of new customers was 27,060, as compared with 17,768 in the first seven months of 1922.

As the installation of new service connections is not only an accurate barometer of the trend of the company's business, but also an excellent indication of building activity and increase of population, the fact is of interest that the addition of 55,587 customers in the twelve months to July 31, 1923, compares with an increase of 34,367 in the twelve months to July 31, 1922, and of 32,953 in the twelve months to July 31, 1921. The current increase is by far the largest in the company's history for any like period. It necessarily follows that building and industrial activity have likewise been proceeding at an unprecedented rate.

CALIFORNIA EDISON EARNS 6½ MILLIONS IN 7 MONTHS.

The statement of current earnings of the Southern California Edison company for the seven months ended July 31 as compared with the same period in 1922, as reported by E. H. Rollins and Company and the Harris Trust and Savings Bank shows these comparisons:

Total operating revenue, $10,817,912 and $8,701,163.

Total operating expense, $4,585,876 and $3,540,372.

Net operating revenue, $6,205,924 and $5,110,279.

Total deductions, $1,699,035 and $2,167,083.

Balance for depreciation and surplus, $4,783,919 and $3,590,952.

Earnings for July and the same month last year give these comparisons.

Total operating revenue, $1,874,056 and $1,432,351.

Total operating expense, $722,845 and $522,133.

Net operating revenue, $1,149,557, and $872,934.

Net non-operating revenue, $38,542 and $45,997.

Total net income, $1,188,100, and $918,931.

Total deductions, $260,881 and $307,403.

Balance for depreciation and surplus, $927,215 and $611,528.

SOUTHWESTERN UTILITIES SHOWS GROWING INCOME.

Freeman, Smith & Camp Co. announces the receipt of semi-annual consolidated earnings statement of the Southwestern Utilities Corporation, which, in addition to its operations in Kansas, controls supply and distribution, under exclusive franchise, of natural gas in Edmonton, Alberta, for the six months ending June 30. The earnings are at the rate of 2¾ times interest requirements. Progress of the company is indicated in a comparison of these figures for six months, with the twelve months figures of preceding years. Net earnings of the Southwestern Utilities Corporation available for interest, sinking fund, taxes and reserves for 1921 were $168,738, and for 1922 were $262,734. July net earnings, detail figures for which are not yet available, were the greatest in the history of the corporation. Deliveries of gas by the company for 1921 totaled 4,257,791,000 cubic feet, 1922 were 4,434,463,000 cubic feet, for the first half of 1923 were 3,154,000,000 cubic feet.

CAR LOADING OF MILLION A WEEK NEW RAIL RECORD

Shortage in Equipment Is Over, Despite Large Freight Movement.

How Southern Pacific and the other railroads in the first six months of 1923 have handled the largest tonnage in any six months of their history and in this period have transformed a car shortage into a car surplus is shown by J. H. Dyer, general manager of the Southern Pacific Company, in a statement today on the transportation situation.

"The railroads loaded more than 4,000,000 freight cars in both May and June this year," said Dyer. "Although this was the heaviest traffic ever carried by American railroads in a similar period, the car shortage which had continued since the fall of 1922, was wiped out and was replaced by a car surplus.

SURPLUS INCREASES.

"Despite this record-breaking movement, the number of freight cars in good repair and immediately available for use continued to increase so that on July 31 a surplus of 76,453 serviceable freight cars was recorded. The surplus was attained in spite of the fact that for the week ending July 28 there were loaded 1,041,044 freight cars, the largest number for any week in the history of the country.

"Efficiency of railroad operation, probably never before equalled, did this. Team work played a big part—team work among the railroads and the shippers, and between the management and men within the various individual railroad organizations.

"In meeting the heaviest transportation demands in American history with increased service the railroads appealed to the sporting instinct of all concerned. They fixed certain definite high standards of operating efficiency and then set out to beat them, just as a golfer attempts to beat 'par' or a baseball player tries to beat a batting average of .400.

"In getting their motive power into the best of condition the railroads as a whole increased the number of serviceable locomotives from 75.9 per cent on January 1 to 83.8 per cent on July 1, almost to the 85 per cent goal.

"By July 1, Southern Pacific had 86.3 per cent of its locomotives in first-class condition and available for immediate service.

"The railroads as a whole increased the number of freight cars in serviceable condition from 90.5 per cent on January 1 to 91.6 per cent on July 1.

"Southern Pacific made another outstanding record in this work, increasing the number of serviceable cars from 94.3 per cent to 96.6 per cent, thus beating the national goal. This reduction in bad order freight cars by the Southern Pacific means the adding of 301 serviceable cars to the supply available to shippers. Compared with conditions two years ago this single element of increased efficiency means 1961 more cars available at the end of June, 1923, than at the same time in 1921.

"Progress made by the rilroads in repair of rolling stock is indicated by the fact that 38,000 repired locomotives and cars were turned out of the railroad shops each month during the first six months of 1923 as compared with 21,000 per month during the same period last year.

HEAVY LOADING.

"The heavy loading of cars for all railroads increased from 27.8 tons in April to twenty-eight tons in May, the latest month for which complete data are valable. This is the highest mark for any May since 1917. The goal set is thirty tons.

"Besides making successful eforts to increse their operating efficiency, the railroads from January 1, 1922, to March 15, 1923, either actually expended or authorized expenditure of pproximately $1,540,000,000 for equipment and other facilities. In the first six months of 1923 the railroads placed 79,240 new freight cars in service and 1998 locomotives. On July 1 a total of 96,855 freight cars and 1902 locomotives which had been ordered were yet to be delivered.

"Southern Pacific is taking delivery this year for the Pacific System of fifty locomotives of the latest and most powerful type, in addition to a similar number, costing $4,000,000, delivered last year. Other rolling stock ordered for the Pacific System this year, including 4225 new freight cars but excluding new refrigerator cars, will cost more than $12,000,000.

"For the movement of perishables the Pacific Fruit Express Company, owned jointly by Southern Pacific and Union Pacific, has ordered 5030 new standard refrigerator cars which will cost $18,000,000, in addition to the 3300 which were ordered for last year, but which were not delivered until after the peak of last season, owing to disturbed industrial conditions. Although it is estimated the car supply for perishables will be increased by the peak of this season, 50 per cent over 1922.

Pure Oil People Buy Control of Humphreys Co.

Deal Involves Over 22 Millions; Large Contracts Are Involved.

NEW YORK Aug. 28.—Negotiations for the sale of the Humphreys Oil company to the Pure Oil company at $50 a share has been closed, and the formal delivery of controlling stock will be made this week, says a dispatch from Denver.

As the Pure Oil company already owns close to 25 per cent of the 600,000 shares of Humphreys Oil, the transaction involves about $22,500,000. The payment for the Humphreys Oil stock will be made at intervals over a year, with a large initial payment.

Pure Oil will acquire from Humphreys Oil not only the outstanding stock of the company, but also 60 000 shares of Pure Oil common now in the Humphreys Oil treasury, and its interest in Humphreys Pure Oil company, which is erecting a refinery at Smith's Point on the Houston Ship Canal and has in storage about 6,000,000 barrels of crude oil.

Pure Oil will take over the contract with the Prairie Oil and Gas company and Sinclair Consolidated Oil corporation, for delivery to them of 66,000,000 barrels of crude from the Mexia and Currie pools.

The contract price for the oil, of which about 18 000,000 barrels has already been delivered is $1.50 a barrel, irrespective of the posted price.

COLUMBUS, O., Aug. 28.—B. G. Dawes, president of the Pure Oil company, said today that his company now owns twenty-five per cent of the stock of the Humphreys Oil company, and that it is making efforts to purchase the outstanding seventy-five per cent now held by the general public.

24 MILLION LOAN IS ARRANGED BY ASSOCIATED OIL

Another Ten Million to Be Raised By Stock Sales For Development Work.

The Associated Oil Company is preparing to embark in a huge development and storage campaign, and to provide funds has sold to Kuhn, Loeb and Company of New York $24,000,000 of twelve-year 6 per cent gold notes. An additional $10,000,000 will be provided by the issuance of $10,000,000 of new common stock at par, to be sold direct to stockholders.

SHOUP TELLS OF DEAL.

President Shoup of the Associated Oil Company issued the following statement of the transactions today:

"The Associated Oil Company has sold to Kuhn-Loeb & Co. of New York $24,000,000 of 6 per cent sinking fund gold notes. In addition, the board of directors has authorized the sale of $10,000,000 of the common stock at par. It will be offered to the stockholders accordingly in proportion to their holdings. The Pacific Oil Company has underwritten the sale at par without expense to the Associated Oil Company, which means that any stock not taken by the present owners of Associated Oil Company by November 15 will be purchased by the Pacific Oil Company at par.

"The proceeds will be used to buy oil for storage and create necessary facilities incident thereto, to pay short-term loans already incurred in connection with similar investments and in addition to redeem $5,084,000 of first re funding mortgage bonds being the total bond issue outstanding, and for such other corporate purposes as may be found desirable."

It is assumed that Kuhn, Loeb & Co. will distribute the gold note issue throughout the East, although some proportion may be offered here. The stockholders, who are permitted to subscribe for the $10,000,000, are located both in California and throughout the country.

DEVELOPMENT PROGRAM.

Large purchases of the oil for storage are being made in the San Joaquin valley, but the corporation is also at present buying heavily from many large producers in the southern producing regions of California. The storage will be in Southern California and at the Avon refineries to the east of Martinez. Oil will be brought by boats to the refineries.

On September 1, 1923, and semi-annually thereafter on March 1 and September 1 of each year, until all of the notes shall have been retired, the company will provide a sinking fund of $1,230,000; or such greater amount as the company shall determine, to be used by it to retire the notes, by purchases in the market if obtainable at not exceeding 102½ per cent and accrued interest, or to the extent not so obtainable by redemption at that price upon the next interest dae, all in he manner to be provided in the trust indenture.

It is understood that the notes will be offered for subscription at 100 per cent and accrued interest.

By E. F. HUTTON WIRE.

The heavy passenger travel of the last year will result in the Pullman Company's forthcoming annual report making the best showing in several years. It is understood that net earnings will be equivalent to around $12 a share on the stock, or considerably above the annual dividend rate of $8. In the preceding year the company incurred a deficit after paying dividends.

John V. McMahon has resigned as president of the Sinclair Oil and Gas Company. He will be succeeded by R. A. Griffith, vice-president of that Company.

The American Rolling Mill Company for the six months ended June 30, 1923, reports net earnings of $1,210,813, before interest charges and Federal taxes.

The mechanical rubber goods business of the Republic Rubber Company in 1923 to date was 100 per cent larger than for the corresponding period of 1922, and the volume of the 1922 period was 38 per cent larger than for the like period of the preceding year, says an official of the company.

Reports that George P. Ide & Co., Inc., will shortly enter the merger of Lion Collars and Shirts, Inc., and the William Barker Company, denied.

The annual report of the American Public Utilities Company and its subsidiaries for the year ended June 30, 1923, shows net earnings of $3,838,821 and balance available for dividends on the parent company's stock of $2,418. Gross earnings amounted to $10,518,809, compared with $5,523,239 in 1922.

The report of the United Paper Board Company for the year ended May 26 shows a net income of $346,275 after charges, taxes and depreciation. This is equal, after provision for the preferred dividends, to $2.65 a share on the $10,055,000 outstanding common stock. For the year previous the company reported a net loss of $481,355.

Farmers Are Now Solving Own Troubles

CHICAGO, Aug. 28.—Farmers are solving their problems through the regular channel of business, W. W. Powell, of Washington, D. C., secretary of the American Association of Joint Stock Banks, declared at the fiftieth annual meeting here.

Sixty-nine joint stock land banks, doing business in 36 states and making loans in the last fiscal year of more than $233,000,000, are represented at the convention.

"More than 50 per cent of the farms in the country are free from debt," Mr. Powell declared. Iowa, he said, leads in the amount of loans on farm mortgages by all systems of lending, this total being about $500,000,000.

The two federal farm loan systems, the land banks and co-operative banks, have loaned Iowa farmers more than $95,000,000; Illinois is second with between six and seven per cent of this total.

HARVESTING OF SAN LEANDRO'S TOMATOES BEGUN

Crop Is Large and Unless Rain Interferes Returns Promise Well.

First picking of tomatoes has started in the fields around San Leandro. It is estimated that there are approximately 1000 acres of farm land in the immediate vicinity of San Leandro planted to tomatoes this year.

Present indications are that the crop this year will be extremely good and that market conditions will be at least normally promising. Canners throughout the state have already contracted to buy tomatoes for 15 a ton.

Tomatoes this year were a bit slow in coming on to the market because of the cool weather experienced this summer, but the heat of the past few days has brought the crop to a rapid final development. Farmers are feeling some fear that a continuance of yesterday's rain may be experienced, in which case the crop will be seriously curtailed. The rain, which was very slight, has, it is generally conceded, been of more benefit than harm to the crop generally.

WHEAT.

DENVER, Colo., Aug. 28.—The condition of both spring and winter wheat has suffered a decline during the past month, according to the Colorado co-operative crop reporting service. The preliminary winter wheat estimate now is 15,327,000 bushels, compared with a July forecast of 16,743,000 bushels. The spring wheat estimate shows a decline of 162,000 bushels.

KANSAS CITY, Mo., Aug. 28.—Business interests here and in Wichita, Hutchinson, Dodge City and other Kansas towns are raising a fund of $300,000 to purchase seed wheat for farmers in the sixteen southwestern counties of Kansas where crops failed this year. Contributors are to be given one-fifth of the crop. Already $125,000 has been raised.

STEEL.

CLEVELAND, Ohio, Aug. 28.—The change to the eight-hour shift in the steel mills of Cleveland and the Mahoning valley has occasioned a good demand for labor. The few misunderstandings about wages were quickly explained and the blow-out of a few blast furnaces set free quite a quota of men, who were promptly absorbed into other departments.

FISH.

PORTLAND, Ore., Aug. 28.—The annual catch of Columbia river salmon, just completed, indicates a pack of 515,000 full cases, the wholesale value of which is conservatively estimated at over $6,000,000. The pack, though only about 50 per cent of normal, was larger than in 1921 or 1922.

POULTRY.

SAN ANTONIO, Texas, Aug. 28.—The Texas turkey crop today is the best in years. Dry weather all summer gave the young birds a chance to range and grow strong and it is expected the losses between now and the holidays will be extremely small.

COTTON MARKET

NEW YORK, Aug. 28.—Realizing sales in October and January options with scattered foreign selling accounted for the slightly lower [illegible] in the cotton market at the opening today. The shorts were also active. December was three points higher at the start, but the other months were from 1 to 9 points lower, January sustaining the [illegible]

The market closed barely steady, 3[illegible] points lower.

WIRE SUMMARY

New York Central reports net operating income for July of $7,68,000, an increase of $746,000 over July, 1922; for seven months, $47,448,000, an increase of $17,846,000.

Thirty-four railways reporting for July show aggregate net operating income of $4,436,000 against $33,946,000 for July last year.

EASTERN MARKETS

CHICAGO, Aug. 28.—Weakness in the market at Liverpool was reflected on this side of the Atlantic, and the wheat market here today had a downward swing during the early dealings. Bears were further encouraged by a report from Buenos Aires which predicted a more favorable outlook for a substantial crop in the Argentine, because of the recent heavy rains in needed sections. These, it was pointed out, will benefit the growing crop of wheat. A decrease in sterling exchange also was a weakening feature. Trading was light at the outset. Opening prices, which ranged from ¼ to ¾c lower, with December $1.07 to $1.07¼ and May $1.12¼ to $1.12⅜, were followed by a further decline all around.

Corn and oats followed the easier tone in the wheat market. After starting ¼c higher to ⅛@⅝c lower, with December 67¼ to 67½c, the corn market underwent a slight additional setback on all deliveries.

Oats started unchanged too ¼c off with December 39½ to 39⅝c and later continued to sag.

Provisions were firm in line with higher hog values.

CANADA'S WHEAT POOL PLAN GOES OVER FOR YEAR

Organization to Handle 100 Million Bushels Expected For Next Crop.

BY CONSOLIDATED PRESS.
SPECIAL TO TRIBUNE.

NEW YORK, Aug. 28.—Plans for the co-operative marketing of the banner wheat crop of Canada must go over for another year. Announcement of another postponement makes it certain that they cannot be made effective this season. It was hoped that the plans, sponsored by President Wood of the United Farmers of Alberta, to form a central selling agency could be put into effect at once, but while the movement attained considerable momentum in Alberta, not enough producers of the other provinces joined it to assure success.

The plan provided for a separate pool for each province, with a central board of control. Aaron Sapiro of California, an expert in co-operative marketing, went to Alberta and outlined the scheme, and while the governor of the province is reported to have received it with favor, no official endorsement was given. Farmers, millers and warehousemen were enlisted to serve on committees to bring the plan to completion, but it is reported in American grain circles that a number of these key men have recently resigned.

STILL POPULAR.

The popularity of the plan, however has not been destroyed. Reports from Duluth indicated that a concerted effort is under way in Saskatchewan and other western provinces so that the organization may be in active operation by next spring and prepared to function in time for the annual harvest in 1924.

One of the chief difficulties which arose was the percentage of initial payment to farmers, many of whom objected to waiting any extended period for their money. It was proposed to pay the grower 75 per cent of the prevailing price for wheat on delivery at elevators and the balance at the end of the shipping season, when complete accounting would be made for the year. Many farmers inclined to agree to wait for several months for this final 25 per cent. In addition, misunderstandings have arisen as to details of operation, all of which, it is expected, will be ironed out during the coming winter.

GOVERNMENT SIDESTEPS.

Originally it was proposed that the Canadian government finance the proposed provincial pools, but this plan met with little favor from Dominion officials. It was then proposed that the provinces finance their own pools. This met approval in Alberta and Saskatchewan, but Manitoba failed to indorse the proposal. As the Alberta and Saskatchewan banks agreed to advance the 75 per cent of the selling price to the farmers on delivery of their wheat, it is expected that the system will become effective in those districts next year

If such is the case, the central selling agencies are expected to handle at least 100,000,000 bushels of wheat for export in 1924, or about one-third of the amount of Canadian wheat which will be exported this year.

FINANCIAL NOTES

Nevada-California and Oregon Telegraph and Telephone Company, operating in Susanville, Alturas, Greenville, and Fort Bidwell, reports to the Railroad Commission for the year 1922 that its operating revenue was $52,386; operating expenses $40,256, giving a net operating revenue of $12,130. Interest, rent, taxes and other deductions totaled $9478. The net corporate income for the year was $2652. The surplus at the beginning of the year amounted to $36,200. Miscellaneous additions to surplus for 1922 amounted to $104 and miscellaneous deductions were $2089. The company declared dividends of $2480 during the year, leaving an accumulated surplus at the end of the year of $35,587.

Delta Telephone and Telegraph Company, operating in Courtland and Isleton, reports its operating revenue was $46,053; operating expenses, $32,676, giving a net operating revenue of $13,376. Miscellaneous non-operating revenue amounted to $605. Interest, rent, taxes and other deductions totaled $3582. The net corporate income for the year was $10,399. The surplus at the beginning of the year amounted to $20,069. Miscellaneous additions to surplus for 1922 amounted to $175. The company declared dividends of $7257 during the year, leaving an accumulated surplus at the end of the year of $23,388.

Labor Conditions "Close to Ideal"

CLEVELAND, O., Aug. 28.—Labor conditions throughout the Cleveland district are characterized by various agencies as "close to ideal." There is little involuntary unemployment, the slack in some lines having been thoroughly absorbed in others. Textile manufacturers are running steadily and re-orders are furnishing considerable business which had not been counted on. The demand for fall goods is fully up to expectations.

Consumption of iron ore in July was not so large as in June, according to figures just made available by the Lake Superior Iron Ore association, the amount totaling [illegible] 356 tons against 5,815,129 in June. Ore on hand at all furnaces and on the Lake Erie ore docks August 1 was 27,503,483 tons against [illegible] 303 tons on August 1, 1922.

N. Y. Has No Mill Capable of Cutting Timber

SECURELY lashed on the afterdeck of the Andrea F. Luckenbach, which arrived here today, is a timber 4 feet by 4 feet by 72 feet, which is being returned from New York to its point of origin, the St. Paul and Tacoma Lumber Company mill at Tacoma. Captain Arthur Sears, who commands the Luckenbach, explained that it was his impression that New York and adjacent territory boasted of no sawmill equipment capable of handling the monster stick, and returned it to the mill to be cut into smaller lengths.

Captain W. McDonald, former master of the Andrea F. Luckenbach, has been transferred to the command of the steamship Paul Luckenbach, which is being equipped with passenger accommodations for the intercoastal service.

Submarine Volcano Northwestward, Tongatabu, Tonga Islands, South Pacific Ocean—Andrew Thomson, the director of the Apia Observatory, Apia, Samoa, reports that on July 1, 1923, a submarine volcano was sighted by Captain Daver of the Union Steamship passengers liner Tofua about 18 miles northwestward of Tongatabu, the main island of the Tonga group.

When first sighted the vapor from the volcano was taken to be the smoke of a passing steamer but on nearer approach the density and great volume of steam made its true nature evident. The steam column was about 100 feet in diameter on the surface and rose to a height of 80 or 90 feet trailing over the ocean for a mile before becoming dissipated. There was marked perturbation and discoloration of the water at the point where the vapor was emitted.

FISHING FLEET IS SAILING BACK TO ESTUARY HOME

Short Cargoes of Salmon and Cod Are Result of Season's Work.

The flight of the white-winged fishing fleet has started homeward and yesterday saw two of the big wind jammers move in, under full drawing and towering canvas, through the Golden Gate. The Star of Iceland was the first of the big fleet of fishermen to return to berth in the Oakland estuary. The bark Katherine is reported outside.

The Star of Iceland was followed into port by the Star of Finland, late yesterday afternoon. The Iceland had 57,000 cases of salmon stowed away in her holds, while the Finland had only 19,000 cases.

These are both short loads and advance reports show that the northern fishing season has been much below the total hoped for. The Golden State brought in 525 barrels of codfish for the Union Fish company while the steamer Costa Rica, operated by the Bristol Bay Packing company, brought in 26,145 salmon.

The codfish catch as predicted by advance reports and cargoes, looks better than does the salmon catch. The Galilee arrived shortly after the Star of Iceland with 190,000 fish for the Union Fish company. Previously the City of Papeete arrived with 190,000 fish for the Alaska Codfish company; the Golden State with 300,000 for the Union Fish company.

According to the earlier reports the Bristol Bay district seems to be the only section of the North to come anywhere near the estimates made for this year's catch.

The fleet was composed of the steamships Cordova, 32,000 cases; Northwestern, 20,000 cases; Jefferson, 10,000 cases; Redondo, 15,000 cases; Curacao, 36,000 cases; Admiral Rogers, 20,000 cases, and Admiral Watson, 40,000 cases.

NEW RATES MADE FOR ORIENTAL PACIFIC LINES

Conference of Atlantic Pacific-Oriental Lines in Chicago Success.

Atlantic coast representatives of steamship lines engaged in the Far Eastern trade announced that a special committee had been authorized to work out a territorial agreement with respect to shipments originating on the Eastern seaboard, according to the New York Journal of Commerce.

This committee, which has not as yet been selected, is expected to get together this week. Its work, it was stated, will be confined to erritorial matters, and the conference as a whole will give its formal approval to the findings. The chairman of the committee will probably be George Dew, of Montreal, and among those mentioned as among the Pacific coast representatives is L. L. Bates, of the Admiral Oriental Line.

At the meeting at Chicago more than fifty delegates were in attendance, going over existing rates and fixing a rate schedule for the first six month of 1924. The latter rates, it was stated, while not as yet compiled for publication, present but little change from the schedule for the last half of this year.

From the Pacific were the prospects bright. Stocks of machinery, etc., which have been accumulated in the Orient and drawn upon during the past few months, are dwindling and reports have reached the lines that an era of buying, to be followed by increased shipments, can shortly be expected.

Some changes were also announced in existing rates which are now effective here and will become ecective October 1 from seaboard Atlantic and September 11 from interior Pacific.

First Alaskan Packer in Port

The Star of Iceland, first of the Alaska Packer fleet to return from the far northern fishing banks, made port yesterday with 57,000 cases of salmon aboard.

The big sailing craft brought in a short load and reports that the season's catch is smaller than expected.

The schooner Galilee brought in a shipment of 190,000 codfish for the Union Codfish company yesterday. She was thirty days running down from Northwest Harbor.

HOW INDUSTRIES ARE AFFECTED BY BUSINESS CYCLES

Industrial Strong and Weak Spots Are Revealed by Economic Survey.

NEW YORK, Aug. 28.—Light on the comparative ability of various industries to withstand the stresses of business cycles is thrown by the National Bureau of Economic Research in a report on "Employment Hours and Earnings in Prosperity and Depression." Both strong and weak spots in the industrial fabric are revealed. Detailed figures covering payments for wages and salaries in each industry are given for each quarter, thus permitting an examination of the progress of a complete business cycle.

These figures show that total payments for wages and salaries to all employees by all enterprises of whatever size, dropped from $10,472,000,000 in the third quarter of 1920 (peak of boom) to $7,713,000,000 in the first quarter of 1922 (trough of depression) or a maximum cyclical decline of 23.16 per cent.

HOW INDUSTRIES AFFECTED.

It has been tacitly assumed by many writers on the subject that in good times all industries boom and in bad times all are greatly depressed. That such is not the case is shown by these figures. Large scale, medium and small operation were affected in different degrees. The figures regarding employment, hours and earnings indicate that the depression caused the smallest sized enterprises to reduce their wage bills from the peak figure by only 5 per cent, while concerns hiring over 100 workers each, cut their payments by over one-third.

The industries showing the most striking declines in amounts paid to employees were: First, factories making metals, metal products, vehicles and miscellaneous goods; second, railways, and third, concerns engaged in the extraction of minerals.

Apparently factories turning out staple necessities nearly ready for the consumer, suffered less. Producers of food, drink and tobacco reduced their operating force by only one-seventh, and paper and printing establishments got along with a ten per cent cut.

EMPLOYMENT STABLE.

"When we leave the manufacturing field and consider concerns dealing still more directly with the consumer, we find employment much more stable. Retail dealers managed to keep 97 per cent of their force busy. Public, professional, domestic and personal service continued during the depression to employ more than 95 per cent of their peak forces. Hand trades, such as tailoring, millinery and other custom work establishments, recorded no reduction whatever in their volume of employment," says the report.

Although there are numerous exceptions, the average employee, when working for a large concern, puts in fewer hours at higher pay per hour, but in return for this extra compensation he sacrifices much of the security of employment which he would have if he worked for a small enterprise.

The average earnings in 1920 of persons who, in that year, worked in plants employing over 100 workers, was $1544. In 1921, because of unemployment, their earnings had fallen to $1112, a loss of $432. Those persons employed in enterprises having fewer than 21 employees received only $1121 each in 1920, but in 1921 their earnings had declined to only $1077, a diminution of $44. Workers employed in concerns of intermediate size earned on the average $1354 in 1920 and $1222 in 1921.

Female employees in general earn about three-fourths as much as males.

RATES OF PAY AFFECTED.

The business depression of 1921 caused a material decline in rates of pay per hour actually worked only in the fields of agriculture, manufacturing, mining and steam railways.

The average rates of pay in various industries cover a wide range—the highest figure in 1921 being 76 cents per hour in finance, and the lowest rate being 25 cents per hour in agriculture. The average for all industries at the close of 1921 was 51 cents per hour.

Financing for Power Merger Is Worked Out

Plans for the merger of the Denver Gas and Electric Company, the Western Light and Power Company of Boulder and the new power plant at Valmont, Colo., in a new corporation, to be known as the Public Service Company of Colorado, have been underwritten by a syndicate of New York bankers. They are said to call for the issue of $20,000,000 of bonds.

The new company will have an authorized stock capitalization of $3,500,000 in 7 per cent preferred stock and $15,000,000 in common stock. The financing will provide funds for the completion of a steam turbine electric generating plant at Valmont, just outside of Boulder, Colo. This plant has been designed to furnish an ultimate capacity of 200,00 k. w., and the tying together of both the Denver and the Boulder properties with high tension transmission lines.

The Denver Gas and Electric Light Company now has $10,000,000 of common stock, $1,138,400 of preferred stock and $16,379,550 of common stock outstanding. The Western Light and Power Company has $2,250,000 of bonds, $2,000,000 of common and $1,000,000 of preferred stock outstanding.

Oil Promotions Under Mail Probe

HOUSTON, Texas, Aug. 28.—Federal Judge J. C. Hutcheson Jr., today reconvened the grand jury and instructed its members to begin an investigation into the use of the mails in oil promotion. This action is hailed by local federal officials as the first step in a sweeping federal oil probe in the southern district of Texas.

AKRON, Ohio, Aug. 28.—Production in the rubber plants here is at a low ebb and the amount of finished products on hand is such that it will be some little time before increased activity is expected.

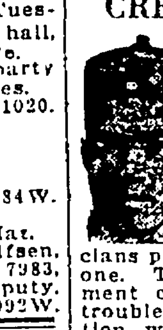
GIVES FONG WAN HERBS CREDIT FOR HIS LIFE



Willits, Cal.
To Whom It May Concern:
It affords me much pleasure to express my approval of the FONG WAN HERB CO. I suffered from liver and stomach troubles for twenty years. After X-ray and other examinations, medical physicians pronounced my case a surgical one. They declared that no treatment could reach the seat of my trouble. They said that the operation would consist of removing a duodenal ulcer, my appendix and my gall bladder; also that there would have to be a pyloric operation.
Dreading the operating table, I took up treatment with the FONG WAN HERB CO. of 548 Eighth st., Oakland. At that time I weighed but 126 pounds, my normal weight being 170 pounds. My condition in general was very weak.
After three months' use of the herbs, I went to work handling lumber, ten hours each day. Have now held the job fourteen months and have not lost a day on account of my old trouble. It is the first time I have been able to go longer than three months in twenty years without being sick in bed. I feel that I can give the FONG WAN HERB TREATMENT credit for my life. My present weight is 160 pounds.
I beg of those who have serious or minor organic troubles that are causing them disability or weakness, to consult the FONG WAN HERBALIST, whom I believe to be honest and perfectly capable of doing what he says he can do.
For further information address me at 101 Oak ave., Willits, Calif.

TO WHOM IT MAY CONCERN:
I take this method of expressing my sentiments of appreciation to Dr. Wong Him for the wonderful cures he has effected in cases where several members of my family, including myself, were afflicted with various maladies.
I also desire to be the means of guiding anyone who is in need of medical advice, as he will find Dr. Wong Him to be a thoroughly reliable health specialist and absolutely conscientious. Through an occurrence experienced by a member of my family I can, with the greatest regard for sincerity, state that after a consultation, unless Dr. Wong Him is convinced that his herbs will effect a complete cure, he will under no circumstances accept the case.
Very truly yours,

Want Ad Section INDEX

Want Ad Classifications appear in numerical order, and all related classes are grouped together. For example: All advertising of Rooms To Let is numbered 20 to 29. The numbers appear on the headings, so if you seek room and board look through the "20s"; "Board" is No. 25, and always follows "Housekeeping Rooms (24). Note—Every "For Sale" or "To Let" heading has a "Wanted" classification with the same number, but followed by the letter "A."

"56-ER" TELLS OF FIRST PONY EXPRESS RACE

O. N. Cronkhite Describes Gala Celebration at Time of Arrival in Sacramento.

By HARRY C. PETERSON.

SACRAMENTO, Aug. 28.—We finally found one, a real live, peppy one; and now we can boastfully point to him with pride as Exhibit No. 1. This man actually saw the first pony express rider dash down J street to the western terminal of the famous transcontinental Pony Express race!

But there is as yet no Exhibit No. 2, so we are going to show the world Exhibit 1 at the State Fair grounds on Sept. 9.

O. N. Cronkite is the party; born March 25, 1846, in New York. His dad came to Sacramento in 1852. O. N. followed in '56. He lived at the corner of Fourteenth and J street when J street at that point was elevated five feet up around the surrounding ground.

In 1860 young Cronkite was fourteen. He wanted to be a fireman on engine Six or Young America Co. No. 6, of which hs father was foreman.

POLISHED ENGINE.

On the afternoon of Friday, April 13, 1860, he was at the engine house on Tenth near J street.

"I was always polishing up the engine," said Cronkite, "and that afternoon I was doing it extra well, for dad told me that they were to welcome the pony express rider with all the apparatus out in the street.

"I was terribly excited. Everybody was talking about the pony riders and whether they could win the race, for we knew that they were behind time at Sportman's Hall and Placerville. Our particular pride was Warren Upson, the young boy who had the Sierra mountain relay. We learned from Placerville that the mules that were to have broken the trail through the snow had been unable to make it, and that Warren had lost nearly four hours in forcing a passage.

"All along J street were decorations. Wagons had gone down to the river and brought up load after load of willow trees and these were tied to the awning posts of the stores along the street; for in those days all the stores had wooden awnings out over the sidewalk.

BUNTING DECORATIONS.

"If they didn't have red, white and blue bunting they draped bright colored calico on the buildings. Everybody that had a pistol or gun got it out and ready to celebrate.

"When that pony came tearing down the road and emerged from a dense cloud of dust just where the street dropped nearly five feet to the level of J street at Twelfth, the cheer that went up all along the line was only stifled when the cannon at the Plaza boomed forth. They had it loaded to the limit, let me tell you, and they kept it going. At the next corner they had a lot of anvils and they started shooting as soon as the pony passed. At Sixth came another big salute from more anvils. And all along the line literally thousands of shots were fired from pistols and guns. The sky was peppered worse than from an anti-aircraft gun.

ONE GLORIOUS RUSH.

"I intended to run down and see him dismount in front of the Alta office. I found that everyone else also intended to. It was one glorious rush, men, women and boys. But we couldn't get within half a block of it. By the time we reached Second street the mail had been assorted and the mail pouches had been sent on the steamer to San Francisco.

"The little pony looked as though someone had dragged him through a puddle of fine, soft mud. The dust at that time was fully a foot deep in many places along J street, and that, combined with the sweating body of the pony, made him look like an animated clay statue.

"But the local reception committee that had gone to Sutter's Fort looked still worse. They had sat out there in the sun and dust for several hours, and many of them were much better miners than riders.

"As soon as they got in and off their horses they began to clean up, first washing all the dust down inside thoroughly and sometime later attacking the outside coat of dirt.

"But those were the days! How we did enthuse, and many of them kept enthusing the rest of that night. Never paid any attention to the rest of the riders after that first day. It was accepted as a matter of fact from that time on."

Cronkite was for many years connected with the theatrical profession in Sacramento at a time when Booth and Barret and the Bates family played here.

PONY EXPRESS PAGEANT OPENS CELEBRATION.

ST. JOSEPH., Mo., Aug. 28.—With perfect weather prevailing following discouraging showers earlier in the day, thousands of interested spectators from surrounding states witnessed the opening of the Pony Express celebration here last night.

A pageant, divided into six episodes, showed bands of Indians and the arrival of Joseph Robidoux at St. Joseph, then a prosperous trading point, with the last episode showing the arrival of the first railroad train at St. Joseph.

Governor Hyde was among the notables in attendance. Earl Snell of Reno, Nev., originator of the revival of the Pony Express race, reached St. Joseph yesterday. It was said it is probable the army could not go through with its program of entering a relay team.

Historic Figure

He's not a forty-niner; he's a fifty-sixer. His name is O. N. CRONKITE, and he saw the first Pony Express rider enter Sacramento.

EASTBAY COUPLE ELOPE AND WED AT SANTA ROSA

Louissa E. Martin of Oakland and E. R. Hatherly of San Leandro United.

SANTA ROSA, Aug. 28.—Miss Larissa Eugenia Martin, 25, of Oakland, and Edward Reuben Hatherly, 27, of San Leandro, did everything they could think of here Monday evening to keep news of their marriage out of the papers. They tried to bribe the county clerk not to let any reporters know of the marriage license and they tried to cajole the Rev. Grover C. Emmons, who married them, to keep it a dark secret.

The one thing they overlooked was to wear conventional bridal attire, for it was the fact that Miss Martin was married in hiker's knickers that made it too good a story to overlook.

The couple drove here from Oakland in a fine big automobile, completely equipped for an extended camping trip. Both attired in khaki breeches, puttees and sport shirts, they called at the court house, got their official sanction to the proceeding, then had the Rev. Mr. Emmons perform the ceremony.

This over with, they adjured everyone who had been taken into the secret to keep it so, and left for parts north. However, as is often the case with such things, someone just had to let the cat out of the bag, so the happy couple will probably awaken tomorrow morning in some Humboldt county resort to read all about their secret wedding.

DIPLOMAT IN TAXI FRAUD.

LONDON.—Dario da Silva, Brazilian diplomat, was found guilty of defrauding taxi chauffeurs.

Why Girl Babies In Oakland? Boys In Los Angeles?

Is it the difference in climate, Creation's natural response to the demand, or what, that causes a preponderance of girl babies in Oakland but an excess of boy babies in Los Angeles?

Statistics in the city health department show that twenty more girls tha boys have been born in Oakland since January 1. The figures art 1243 boys and 1263 girls. Last week, however, the pendulum swung the other way and registered the birth of 34 boys to 23 girls.

In Los Angeles, the situation is different. Statistics there for the past fiscal year show the birth of nearly 500 more boys than girls.

Now it is a known fact that Los Angeles is overcrowded with girls, drawn there by the lure of the movies, while a shortage of stenographers, chorus girls and salesladies is said to exist here. Does this prove that nature is trying to preserve the balance in both cities?

History also has established the fact that, following great conflicts in which thousands of men lose their lives, a preponderance of male infants is born in those countries.

But the age-old question of what determines sex still remains in the realm of conjecture. This is admitted by authorities on medicine and psychology. What determines sex is now known, but how to control it yet remains to be mastered.

Lloyd Pockman Is Lions' Club Orator

RICHMOND, Aug. 28.—Lloyd Pockman was speaker at the meeting of the Lion's club today.

Chief of Police W. H. Wood was in charge of the stunts. Various branches of public service are staging stunts, and today the peace officers are the entertainers. Their crew includes attorneys and deputy sheriffs.

SUZZALLO TO GREET CLUBMEN.

VICTORIA, B. C., Aug. 28.—Dr. Henry Suzzallo, president of the University of Washington, is to be a principal speaker at a convention of Canadian clubs here September 17 to 19. In addition to delegates from every part of Canada, representatives of many Canadian clubs in the United States are expected to attend.

LOOT UNCOVERED IN MAN'S HOME

Enough merchandise to equip a small stationery tsore was found by the Oakland police last night when they searched the home of George Smith, 70, 542 Eighth street, elevator man for the H. S. Crocker company of San Francisco. A valuation of $5000 was placed on the merchandise, which weighed more than a ton.

The police went to the home of Smith in the company of Oscar Moench, manager of the Crocker company's San Francisco store. He said Smith had been employed by the firm for about four years. The aged man was not arrested, but was placed under the surveillance of Harry Lublock, head of a detective agency.

Matron Hurt When Auto Is Overturned

SAN JOSE, Aug. 28.—Mrs. I. O. Rhoades, wife of the president of the California Prune and Apricot Growers association, is today at her Mountain View home suffering from a severely wrenched shoulder sustained when her husband's heavy sedan turned over on its side during the slight storm yesterday.

Rhoades, while driving his wife into San Jose in his new automobile, applied the brakes suddenly in order to avoid hitting another car. His machine turned completely around twice and then fell over on its side. The machine practically was undamaged, not even the glass being broken, but Mrs. Rhoades was severely shaken up. Rhoades was unhurt.

ASSISTANT TUBE ENGINEER CHOSEN

The appointment of A. W. Earl, for six years employed by the Navy Department at Mare Island, as assistant designing engineer for the construction of the estuary tube, was announced today by the Alameda County Board of Supervisors. Earl, who is looked upon as a recognized authority on tube construction, will be assistant to County Surveyor George Posey, who has charge of all tube construction work.

A salary of $425 a month is provided for the new post.
